The Chamber Comes to Life?

Shortly after the second hurricane last month, a Newton resident wrote to The Graphic, criticizing what he termed the "deplorable" job the city had done in clearing the streets of the debris left by Carol and Edna. The writer, J. Leo Appel, Jr., of Waban, also expressed some criticism of The Graphic itself for allegedly being a bit too charitable toward the municipal administration.

Mr. Appel's letter was printed in full with the observation that his comments were not without some merit. The editor who attached the notation was referring to Mr. Appel's statements concerning The Graphic which welcomes constructive criticism from its readers.

Last week we published a column-length reply to Mr. Appel from the president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, chastising Mr. Appel and this newspaper, defending the city administration and declaring that it did an excellent job on the "monumental task" of cleaning up after the two hurricanes.

This newspaper is not undertaking to appraise the merit of the job performed by Mayor Whitmore's administration after the hurricanes which, of course, presented a staggering problem. The residents themselves are quite qualified to judge the type of work that was done, and it may well have been more satisfactory in some districts than in others because of circumstances.

However, it does seem a bit unusual that the Chamber of Commerce should spring to the front in a burst of righteous indignation because a citizen writes a letter that is critical of the city administration and The Graphic publishes his letter.

Mayor Whitmore is a very articulate gentleman who is well able to defend himself, if defense he needs, and it is doubtful that he needs the Chamber of Commerce to step into the breach for him.

But since the Chamber of Commerce has seen fit to rush into the controversy with all banners flying, we now suggest that it is too bad the Chamber does not address itself with equal vigor and enthusiasm to the purpose for which it is in existence, namely to promote the economic well-being of the City of Newton.

Very frankly, we do not believe that the Chamber is doing a sufficiently good job in its own field to warrant it devoting itself to someone else's business or to act as the defender for the administration.

The Graphic is disposed to agree with Mr. Appel's contention that at times it might well have been more critical of the city administration. We would add that it also is about time that our Chamber of Commerce started working for the good of the people of Newton and stopped acting as an apologist and buffer for the Mayor.

We don't know of any reason the Chamber should break into a song and dance because a citizen says the city administration should do a better job.

As far as The Graphic is concerned, it will speak out for the people of Newton and offer a forum to them, no matter who may be offended by that policy.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Coming Election Could Cause Ike's Retirement in '56 . . . That May Be Most Serious GOP Loss of Nov. 2 Voting . . .

Perhaps the most serious setback the Republican party would suffer, if it should lose control of the next Congress, as many political experts are predicting it will, is that such a turn of events probably would prove the deciding factor in influencing President Eisenhower not to stand for reelection to another term.

All the available political signs and evidence indicate the Democrats will recapture both branches of Congress in November. It actually doesn't take any great proponent of evidence to reach that conclusion because it now requires a Republican sweep of substantial proportions to give the G.O.P. even a slight advantage on Capitol Hill.

Even though President Eisenhower won an overwhelming victory in 1952, his party gained only a slim edge in the two chambers of Congress. Some of the Congressmen he pulled in on his coattails two years ago, particularly in the South, would be almost certain to fall by the wayside this year, if there were no change whatever in the nation's political temper, simply because Ike's name is not on the ballot.

The political soothsayers, who are prophesying a shift in control of Congress, are basing their prognostications on two things: 1. The fact that the Maine elections revealed an unmistakable trend to the Democratic party. 2. The historical political fact that the party in power usually loses ground in a midterm election.

Plan Democratic Rally At High School Oct. 20

The Newton Democratic City Committee through its Chairman, William E. O'Halloran, announces a great public rally to be held on Wednesday evening, October 20, at 8:00 p.m., at the Newton High School Auditorium.

Addresses by the entire state ticket will be highlighted by the personal appearances of the Hon. Robert F. Murphy and the Hon. Foster Furocole, nominees for Governor and United States Senate.

Addresses by the entire state ticket will be highlighted by the personal appearances of the Hon. Robert F. Murphy and the Hon. Foster Furocole, nominees for Governor and United States Senate.

Plans are underway for the Annual Candidates Meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Newton which will be held on Tuesday, October 19 at 8:00 at the Clarification School. At a meeting of the committee at the home of Mrs. Richard G. Mintz, Chairman of Voters Service, this week, the program for the meeting was arranged.

Candidates for the local offices to be filled at the November 1 election have accepted invitations to be present at the meeting, to speak briefly and to answer questions from the audience. It was decided to serve refreshments following the formal part of the program at which time the audience would have a chance to meet and speak informally with the candidates.

Mrs. Albert R. Beisel Jr., and

Mrs. J. Earnest Smith, Co-Chairmen of the Meeting, have asked Mrs. John C. McClintock to act as Moderator. Mrs. John W. Locke will be timekeeper and Mrs. Richard G. Mintz and Mrs. George S. Albers will be Sparked by the successful conferences of the past five years, the Emmanuel Baptist Church, 187 Church Street, Newton is holding the sixth annual World Vision Conference, this week (October 3 to 10).

Starting from a missionary budget that was less than $2,000, the Newton church in the year just ending has given close to $19,000 for missions.

Twenty speakers will appear during the 8 day conference with sessions at 2 p.m. in the afternoon and 7:30 p.m. in the evening.

Early Copy Will Be Appreciated For Next Week

Next Tuesday, Columbus Day is a legal holiday and consequently the printing plant of The Graphic will not be in operation that day.

It will facilitate matters if advertisers and correspondents will make every effort to send their copy early; preferably Friday and Saturday of this week, if possible.

The Graphic will be delivered to all subscribers on the first mail next Thursday, as usual.

World Politics Series to Open Tonight

Dr. Jack Jackler of Brookline will be one of the leaders of the "World Politics" discussion series, which is starting in Library Hall, Newtonville Branch Library tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. Dr. Jackler conducted history seminars for the post-war educational program of the Army while he was in service.

Taxpayers' Official Says That Plan Creates A Precedent

Pay raises for 1095 Newton municipal workers — not including School Department employees — were approved Monday night by the Board of Aldermen despite a last-minute blast by the executive secretary of the Newton Taxpayers' Association against the measure.

Following a nearly two-hour executive session when the aldermen were closeted with Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., behind closed doors, increases of $3 — week were authorized for salaried employees, while those paid on an hourly basis had their basic wage boosted two cents.

Mayor Whitmore's recommendation of the raises, made last Friday after a meeting with the department heads, was blasted by Muther in a statement Monday morning. He did not accuse the mayor of acting politically in announcing the raises, but noted "It will not escape the notice of so-called 'practical politicians' that this proposal has come in just before an election."

The proposal "jumps the gun" on the citizens' panel now studying the wage situation, breaks down "an existing acceptance by the employees" that the first of the year is the time for salary adjustments, and creates a precedent "that any old time is as good as another to push for a raise," Muther objected.

He stated that city wages

Continuing GOP Door-to-Door Campaign

Operation Flying Squadron, a GOP state-wide, door-to-door campaign to raise funds, continues in Newton this week and next week with groups of volunteers meeting with team captains and then proceeding directly to homes of residents. Mrs. Charles Fox Hovey, chairman of the Newton Committee of the Republican State Finance Committee, announced Newton's quota is $15,000.

On Thursday, Oct. 7, four meetings in different sections of Newton will be held, from which volunteers will fan out to make calls. The solicitors will meet at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason, Jr., Newton Centre; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McFarland, Newton Highlands; Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKay, Newton Highlands; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fox Hovey, Chestnut Hill.

Monday, Oct. 11, a group of young Republican women will meet at the home of Mrs. Roger Curry, Newton Centre with Mrs. Curry and co-captain Mrs. E. Sherman Hall, Jr. This is the group which originally started "Operation Flying Squadron" rolling in Newton.

On Oct. 14, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foote, Newton Highlands, will captain a team of young married volunteers; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lowenburg, Waban, will captain a team of Young Republicans. Mr. Lowenburg is president of the Newton

Dr. Robt. Wood Coe to Preach At 2nd Church, Oct. 10, 17, 24

The Rev. Robert Wood Coe, D.D., will preach at the Second Church in Newton, October 10, 17, and 24. He is executive secretary of the Massachusetts Bible Society, with headquarters in Boston. Dr. Coe came to the Bible Society in 1949, after a pastorate of eighteen years at the Leyden Congregational Church, Brookline.

Following his graduation from college and theological seminary, he became Associate Minister of the First Congregational Church, Washington, D. C. After three years, he was called to the pastorate of minister of churches, Dr. Coe has served in many Congregationalist offices. He has been a director of the Board of Home Missions, and for two years was chairman; a director and former president of the Boston City Missionary Society; chairman of the executive committee of the Board of Ministerial Aid; chairman of the Commission on Evangelism and Devotional Life of the General Council; a Past President of the Boston Congregational, Winthrop, Monday and Pilgrim Clubs.

He is also president of the Board of Trustees of Bradford Junior College, and a trustee of International College, Beirut, Syria. He is a member of the Board of Trustees for the Home for Aged Couples, Roxbury; a director of the Protestant Guild for the Blind; serves on the Radio Committee of the Massachusetts Council of Churches and is president of the Board of Trustees of Farrington Memorial, Inc.

Dr. Coe's son, Commander Robert Wood Coe, Jr., is a chaplain in the U. S. Navy. One brother, the Rev. Dr. Albert Buckner Coe, is president of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and Moderator of the General Council of Congregational Christian Churches. A second, the Rev. M. Walker Coe, is minister of the Central Square Congregational Church, Bridgewater.

Pay Raises-

have "kept pace with the industries, percentagewise" and all city employees have had an increase in fringe benefits. The two-cent raise for hourly workers will put many of them in a higher income tax bracket, practically nullifying the raises.

"This situation," he concluded, "seems to be an indication of haste, and certainly requires further consideration."

The raises became effective retroactive to Friday. A sum of $33,256.86 was transferred from the budget reserve so that the increases would not affect the tax rate. The aldermen transferred $1493.25 from water receipts to cover the Water Department employees.

Another pay adjustment requested by Mayor Whitmore was also approved, giving bonuses to salaried employees who put in many hours of overtime during the twin hurricane cleanups. At their meeting two weeks ago, the aldermen had expressed concern over how these employees could be rewarded for their extra efforts, noting that hourly workers could receive overtime but that there seemed to be no provision for those who were on a straight salary.

A bonus "cake" of $5104.99 will be divided among these workers on the basis of the number of extra hours put in. Funds for the bonuses will come from the emergency expenditures account and also will not affect next year's tax levy.

After the executive meeting, Alderman Earle D. Wood, chairman of the finance committee, recorded his committee as favoring the raises 6-1. His vote was the lone opposing, he stated. Wood explained that he did not object to the entire measure, but only that part applying to the Fire Department.

In the final vote by the full board, Wood voted in favor but made an exception for the fire appropriation.

Civil Defense Hit

Alan D. Duff, Newton's director of Civil Defense, was characterized as being "a little bit loose" with his spending of CD appropriations by Wood, although $2235 was approved for further Civil Defense spending.

Reporting on fund transfers requested by Duff, the finance committee chairman said, "We feel Mr. Duff needs a little education in municipal finance." He pointed out, however, that the results of the Civil Defense spending — as shown in the two hurricanes — were good and well worth encouraging.

The appropriations, approved unanimously, were for another clerk in CD Headquarters, more office equipment, uniforms, helmets, tools and fire-fighting equipment.

Chairman Wood also expressed concern over a request by Fire Chief John E. Corcoran for $2500 for maintenance of fire apparatus. The aldermen pointed out that money in excess of the budget has been sought by the Fire Department for maintenance in several years, and he urged the chief to try to keep to his expense estimates.

The request was "approved with some reluctance" by the finance group, Wood stated, but the fire equipment must be kept in service. A number of major overhauls were needed this year, according to Chief Corcoran, reducing the available funds for gas, oil, tires, etc., to only $600.

Library Assistants

Although similar requests were turned down when the budget was voted, the aldermen unanimously voted $2400 for part-time library assistants and $600 for a junior assistant librarian.

The part-time help was needed because of a "substantial increase" in library patronage this year, plus a weeding out of older volumes from the circulating collection. More than 20,000 books have been taken off the shelves to date, and the assistants are needed to continue the project.

The junior assistant, according to Librarian Harold O. Wooster, will increase the efficiency of the staff and reduce the number of part-time workers needed.

Conference-

Representatives from every strategic point on the globe will bring a first hand report of the conditions of their various mission fields and the threat of Communistic influences that threaten to wipe out the freedom of free loving peoples.

Each session will be sparked with outstanding musical talent with Rev. Emil Aandrud, former popular orchestra player, playing the trumpet, trombone and french horn, using his own special arrangements of well known gospel hymns. Also, Mr. Paul Pretz, formerly of Boston and now station director of radio station HOHO in Panama City, playing the piano for which he is well known especially in the New England area.

Then Mrs. Lois Jane Bailey will be playing her musical bells and marimba each night lending a splendid musical backdrop to what appears to be an outstanding conference.

Rev. Douglas B. MacCorkle is the pastor of the host church with graduate degrees from Gordon College in Boston and Dallas Theological Seminary, Dallas, Texas.

speeds the soldier back to his loved ones in case of grave illness or death. Home Service helps the military to understand the individual and industrial background history of the soldier when serious personal problems arise.

The Chapter is appealing for three types of volunteers. First and foremost, trained social workers to be used by appointment are needed. Secondly, someone confined to a wheel chair, or a shut-in, who would be willing to stand by the telephone, day or night, could do a vitally important job. He or she could take all identifying information, verify it, and set in motion the vast network of trained Red Cross workers at military installations who would handle the emergency. Third, women with warmth and an understanding of people, could carry out certain assignments which do not require professional training.

A training class will be conducted in the near future. If you can help, please call Miss Turner at LA 7-7024 or the Chapter House, LA 7-8000.

The Registrar points out that there are now more vehicles registered in Massachusetts than ever before and that inspection stations and personnel will be overworked during the latter part of the inspection period. It is suggested that early inspections be made and that full and complete cooperation of the driving public will prevent disappointment at the end of the month.

Following the April, 1954, inspection, almost 2,000 delinquents had to pay fines or were required to appear at hearings on suspension of their certificates of registration because there was no sticker on the windshield on May first.

Registrar King calls attention to the fact that under the law, assessment of three points will be made for each offense, in addition to the possibility of fines and suspensions.

Motorists should patronize neighborhood inspection stations as soon as possible after October 1, 1954.

Commander Robert Vaughan To Speak At Committeemen's Dinner

Commander Robert A. Vaughan, shipyard Chaplain, Boston Naval Shipyard and active layman in the Charlestown Armed Service YMCA will be the main speaker at the fifth Annual Committeemen's Dinner of the Newton YMCA, to be held at 6:30 P.M., Thursday, October 14, in the auditorium of the Newton YMCA building.

Chairmen of all regular committees of the Newton YMCA will turn in their plans for the year's work to President Frederick S. Bacon, who will preside at the meeting. A smorgasbord dinner will be served by members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Newton YMCA.

Members of the Board of Directors of the YMCA will meet after the "sociability" period to follow the dinner. Invitations to the dinner have been mailed to the regular committee of the Newton YMCA.

Special guests at the meeting will include Benjamin Shattuck, general chairman of the Newton Community Chest's 1955 Campaign; H. J. Pettingill, executive director of the Newton Community Chest; Orville H. Emmons, acting executive secretary of the Two State Executive Committee of the YMCA; and Ronald F. Adams, executive secretary of the Charlestown Armed Services YMCA. Each will be accompanied by his wife.

Candidates to Be Discussed By League of Women Voters

The first subject to be studied by the Discussion Units of the League of Women Voters of Newton this season will be the approaching election. Candidates and issues will be discussed on a non-partisan factual basis. The heart of the League program these Discussion Units help to develop a sense of responsibility for government and to inform the citizen through the study of current issues. Not only are opinions shared but all League action emanates from decisions made at the unit meetings. Some of the subjects to be discussed at future unit meetings are juvenile offenders, international relations and individual liberties.

Mrs. Irving Rabinowitz, Discussion Units Chairman for the Newton League, urges both League members and non-members to take an active part in this year's Discussion program.

All units will meet the first and third weeks of the month; morning meetings from 9:45 to 11:30, afternoon meetings from 1:30 to 3:15, evening meetings from 7:45 to 9:30, at the following places: Tuesday even-

Police To Give Pistol Shooting Exhibition

Officers Joe Smith and Joe Greeley of the Newton Police Department will give an exhibition of Pistol Shooting this Saturday, at 4:00 p.m., at Hale Camping Reservation (formerly Scoutland), Carley street, Westwood.

The officers will stress safety with firearms, and then demonstrate trick shooting such as breaking two balloons at once by splitting the bullet on a bayonet blade, using mirrors to sight in target, putting out a candle flame without touching the wick, etc.

In the evening at 8:00 p.m. a huge Council Fire will be held for all campers.

It's Dependable

All of us have been approached at some time or other by some unfortunate, asking for a "hand-out." Chances are that we gave it to him, even though we realized that 90 percent of all such "pan-handlers" are fakers. We'd rather not take a chance that he really needs help.

But a "hand-out" does little to solve the problems of the unfortunate members of our society. A quarter, or a dollar, doesn't last very long at best. "The hand-out" is temporary, degrading and often demoralizing.

These facts have long been recognized by the Salvation Army, which is now conducting its annual drive for $555,000 for support of its many charitable agencies in the Greater Boston area. Working along the lines laid down by their founder, William Booth, officers and workers of the organization have sought not only to relieve the immediate pressures, but to find and solve the basic problems that created these pressures.

The record of its success lies among the figures of millions of people lifted out of the gutter; of men and women released from prisons who have gone on to lead decent and useful lives; of broken families reunited; of neglected children given the loving care to which they are entitled, of sick and dying persons provided with a little extra spiritual strength through friendship and prayer.

So then—let us all get behind the work of the Salvation Army. Here is one relief agency you can depend on. Right now, they are depending on you during the Friendly Annual Appeal.

Every Day

Every day one of every 60 Americans needs a nurse.

Every day one of us or a member of our families or a fellow worker uses some kind of nursing service—in the home, at a hospital, in a clinic, at school, in the factory.

When someone near us needs a nurse, we are quick to realize the part that nurses play in the health and well being of Newton.

But do we realize that our nursing services are largely what we make them?

If our public health nurses reach every corner of the city, if our hospitals are well-equipped and adequately staffed, if our schools of nursing maintain high educational standards, our interest and support helped to make them so.

And, when nursing services and education are not as good as we would like them to be, a part of the blame lies with us.

As citizens it is our community responsibility to see that health services, including nursing services, are the kind we need to keep Newton a healthy, happy growing city.

We can do this by being well informed about using and supporting our health services, our health department, our visiting nurse association, our hospitals, our school of nursing, by learning to recognize what is good nursing and by finding out how we as citizens can obtain the kind of nursing service we want and need.

Yet, if neither of those things are true, the G.O.P. would still have cause for worry because the name of Dwight D. Eisenhower will not appear on the ballot Nov. 2.

An unusual aspect to the current political situation is that the experts are using the yardstick of a trend in forecasting that the House will go Democratic, but they deal with local personalities and conditions in discussing the fight for the Senate.

For example, they believe the Republicans will lose a Senate seat in Kentucky because they consider old Alben W. Barkley at the age of 77 has greater appeal as a vote-getter than does G.O.P. Senator John S. Cooper.

The Republican party in New Jersey is so badly split that it would be close to a political miracle if ex-Congressman Clifford Case, the G.O.P. nominee, wins there. The Old Guard element in the Senate even went so far as to call upon President Eisenhower to get Case out of the fight, and Case widened the breach in his own party by directing a public attack at Senator Joseph F. McCarthy.

Ex-Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, who was barely nosed out in Wyoming two years ago, is making what appears to be a successful comeback in that State, and he is probably better known than his Republican adversary.

Those are the three Republican seats the Democrats are considered most likely to wrest away, although other States, including Massachusetts, are listed as doubtful" or as fighting ground.

However, there are States such as Ohio and Illinois, where Republican challengers are conceded at least a chance of upsetting Democratic Senators. And one rarely hears a positive trend being discussed as a factor.

If the returns on the night of Nov. 2 bear out the predictions of the political prophets, President Eisenhower will be confronted with a difficult and confusing situation, especially since he is not an experienced politician.

The Republican leaders with whom he has been working closely, such as Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., would become only minority spokesmen in Congress. The committee chairmen who steered through the President's bills would be replaced by Democrats.

That was an upheaval that both Harry S. Truman and Herbert Hoover experienced.

President Eisenhower would be able to get through only that legislation of which the opposing party approved.

But when you get right down to hard cases, the cold fact is that the main blow Ike would suffer would be to his own personal prestige, because most of the legislation he had enacted during the past two years was placed on the statute books with Democratic help.

His position admittedly would not be as strong, but from a strictly practical standpoint it wouldn't deteriorate greatly. Ike's views are probably closer to those of the conservative Democrats on most matters than they are to the right wing in his own party.

When former President Truman was faced with the problem of a Republican Congress after the 1946 election, he fought it out with the G.O.P. for two years and then won his spectacular upset victory in 1948.

The national polls indicate that there has been some drop in Mr. Eisenhower's popularity. There is some difference of opinion as to how great it has been, but certainly no one maintains or suggests that Ike's standing has fallen as low as did Mr. Truman's in 1946.

An unusual aspect to the 1946 swing to the Republicans, incidentally, is that if the G.O.P. had not captured Congress in that mid-term election it undoubtedly would have elected Thomas E. Dewey as President two years later.

It was only partially a case of the political tide turning too soon for the Republicans. Of even greater consequence was the fact that Harry Truman made the G.O.P.-controlled 80th Congress the issue of his campaign. He blamed that Congress for everything that happened and didn't happen in 1947 and 1948, and it finally paid off at the polls.

The difference between Eisenhower and Truman is that Ike probably would step out, after two years of battling a Democratic Congress. If that happens, the G.O.P. really will be in trouble in 1956. For whatever the polls may show regarding President Eisenhower's standing, there isn't much doubt that he's still the most popular figure in his party.

At this point there isn't any other Republican in sight who could step into his place, and from a long-range standpoint the loss of Ike in 1956 could well be the most disastrous offshoot of the coming election for the G.O.P.

One thing this onlooker will never be able to understand is why political candidates believe they can get votes by plastering their campaign stickers on automobiles.

It would be interesting to know how many votes are lost for office-seekers by discourteous drivers displaying their campaign insignia.

It isn't unusual to see an automobile carrying the sign of some candidate pull out of line, race by several cars and then swerve back into line again, forcing the driver behind to jam on his brakes.

The disgruntled driver who has been all but pushed off the road glares at the car ahead and observes a sign on the rear window for Joe Gazookus, candidate for the House of Representatives. He immediately vows that one person he positively is not going to vote for is Joe Gazookus.

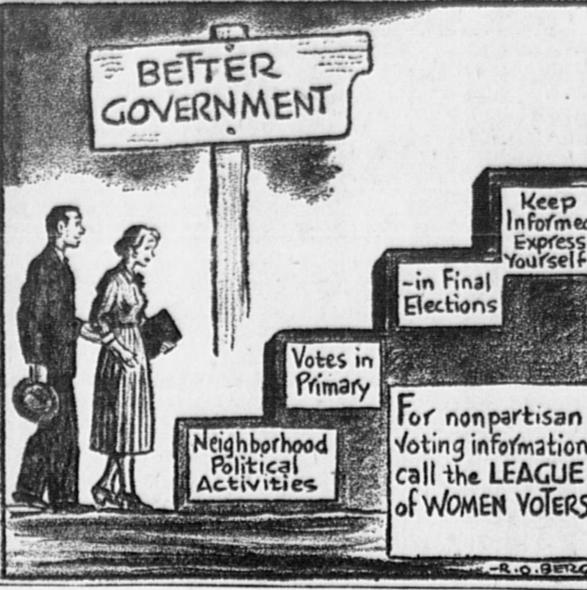

That is probably an extreme case, but human nature being what it is, particularly behind the wheel of an automobile, the average driver invariably concludes that the other fellow is at fault under almost any set of circumstances.

So we would respectfully suggest that one way NOT to get elected is to have signs containing your name posted on the rear window of a large number of automobiles.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

It will be interesting to see how many booh-boos or verbal miffs Speaker Joe Martin makes on his campaign tours. In presenting Clifford Case, New Jersey's Republican nominee for the U. S. Senate, to a large audience, Martin first introduced him as a candidate for the presidency of the United States. He referred to New Jersey Congressman Frank C. Osmers, Jr., who works closely with him, as "my old friend Francis Osborne."

The Rev. Howard Trevis, a Methodist minister in Basford, England, is encouraging young people to flirt in his church and has given official permission for them to sit in rear pews and hold hands.

Letters to the Editor

ARE CITY TRUCKS JET PROPELLED?

October 1, 1954
Editor, Newton Graphic:

In reference to the letter from J. Leo Appel, Jr. which was published in your September 16 issue, may I say that I and many of my neighbors agreed completely in his expressed views.

I am surprised today to read an answer to Mr. Appel's letter by John B. Rubenstein, President of the Newton Chamber of Commerce. He paints a beautiful picture and if all the remarkable accomplishments he mentions occurred, it was not apparent in many sections of Newton. The work of cleaning up after the hurricanes was appealing negligent and I concur with everything Mr. Appel stated. Mr. Rubenstein mentions that truckloads of debris were taken to dumps arriving every ten seconds, twelve hours a day for over two weeks. This is incredible and it is pleasing to learn that our trucks are jet-propelled.

I note that Mr. Rubenstein neglects to make any remark about snow removal which Mr. Appel claims is done very badly by Newton. Mr. Appel doesn't use strong enough language in this respect. The conducting of snow removal in Newton is deplorable. Trucks are not in evidence for days after a storm and I can safely predict that the first storm of the season will catch us unprepared as it does every year.

I would like to suggest that when the first storm strikes, Mr. Rubenstein charter a bus and take all concerned with snow removal on a little tour of Brookline. Perhaps by watching the competent manner in which Brookline handles this problem may give our boys some ideas or some stimulus.

Instead of patting the Mayor and each other on the back, why not admit the job was lax and sloppy, and that maybe many of our citizens are justifiably angered.

ONLY 5 DESIGNATE PARTY

Editor, Newton Graphic:

It has recently been disclosed that an amazing and disturbing development has entered our local political life. As is known, most effective efforts have been exerted to have every eligible resident of Newton registered so that he or she might exercise his privilege and duty as a voter. Because of many years of voter registration drives, the unregistered people of Newton are largely new residents and through efforts of both the Republican and Democratic City Committees, The League of Women Voters, ADA, individual candidates and others, large numbers turned out to register.

Now it appears that out of 1100 or more new registrants, only FIVE requested that they be enrolled as members of either of our great political parties.

Over 99% of the new registrants are on the rolls as independents—it seems incredible to this writer that fewer than 1% should wish to be enrolled Democrats or Republicans. It must be that concerted effort is being made to preserve the fiction of a majority. This is borne out by the fact that various of my acquaintances have complained that they were told when they registered that in order to be enrolled in a Party they had to first vote in a primary. This is not true—I am certain that the registrar knows this.

I feel that the only way to correct these and other abuses is to strengthen our two party system and I am going to do this by voting for the splendid men offered by the Democratic Party as candidates for State Representatives from Newton.

LACKADAISICAL VOTERS*

Editor, Graphic:

The League of Women Voters of Newton, appearing in a recent edition of your paper, released a statement to the effect that over one-quarter of Newton's population who are 20 years of age or over, are not eligible to vote.

These figures are very startling, and reveal the lackadaisical attitude of many citizens in using the franchise and right to vote, to elect their representatives in the affairs of our government.

This apathetic approach was clearly shown by the small percentage of the total registered vote as cast in the recent primary election. The primary election is of paramount importance, if we are to nominate the candidates who are the most competent available and who would best serve the public interest. One party had practically no contests, so that the end result was as expected.

I sincerely voice the hope that, before the general election in November, we in Newton, the Garden City of the Commonwealth, will have achieved a much higher percentage and less unregistered voters.

As Americans and as citizens of this great nation, it is our duty, our right, our obligation and our privilege which we should guard most zealously, lest we should be in danger of losing it and the freedom we cherish most dearly, by neglecting to use this franchise and our right to vote for our chosen representatives.

Now it appears that out of 1100 or more new registrants,

Edward F. Durkin

Health for All

NOSTALGIA

With the first leaves falling from the trees come the first mild attacks of seasonal nostalgia. The attacks seem to increase in frequency and intensity through October and normally come to an end with the first snow.

In children, nostalgia is usually simple homesickness that can come at any season if they are away from home. It is easily cured by returning home. In adults, it is more serious since it takes the form of yearning not only for the real past but also for what "might have been". The symptoms closely resemble those of spring fever. The victim has difficulty giving attention to routine duties. He withdraws, when possible, into solitary brooding. Some cases exhibit severe melancholia.

Attacks often seem to be brought on by close association with dead leaves, as in raking or shuffling the feet through them. Contact with the smoke of burning leaves may seriously aggravate a mild attack of nostalgia.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association which is supported solely by the annual sale of Christmas Seals.

who can do so, will add an amount to their last year's gift, our goal can be reached."

Repeating the city wide Residential Workers' Meeting, which was so successful last year, there will be a repeat performance at the West Newton Theatre on Wednesday, October 13. This meeting will be for workers only and in addition to a feature film, there will be a presentation of Red Feather agency needs with slide films by Chairman Shattuck, and a special presentation of information and instructions concerning the local campaign. Notices have been sent to workers regarding this meeting and tickets may be obtained by them from their team captains.

Meetings of captains from all villages have been held this week in Oak Hill, Waban, Chestnut Hill, Newtonville, and at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

These meetings have been conducted by Edward A. Green, Residential Chairman, Henry J. Wilson, Assistant Campaign Chairman, Mortimer Grossman and Philip Segal, Assistant Residential Chairmen. At each meeting Chairman Shattuck was the featured speaker.

The annual Kick-Off Dinner for the Residential Division will be held Thursday evening, October 21, at the Newton High School Gymnasium. Announcement of the speaker and program will be made next week.

On Monday, October 11, the Planet Venus—the "Evening Star" which can be viewed low in the southwest sky after sunset like a lantern in the sky—will reach its greatest brilliancy. At that time, its pure white light will be about 15 times as bright as Sirius, the brightest star in the entire sky. Mr. Patterson declares, it is outshone at nighttime only by the moon.

Right now, Venus is situated east of the sun and very nearly on the daily path across the sky followed by the sun.

Mr. Patterson suggests that the daytime stargazer in search of the planet first make certain his eyes are shielded from the direct light of the sun. "Choose a location where a building or other large structure obscures the sun but leaves the sky to the east unobstructed," he says.

"The second most important point is to keep the eye focused at infinity. The eye may be encouraged to retain this focus by occasionally glancing at a distant object in the landscape, then back to its search in the sky. Once located, Venus is remarkably distinct; once lost it is difficult to find again."

All this month the planet will

Miss Sonya Coleron Is Bride of Mr. Henry Arthur Lavoie

On September 18 the Newton Highland's Women's Club, 72 Columbus Street, was the setting for the marriage and reception of Miss Sonya Rosalie Coleron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Coleron of 643 Watertown Street, Newtonville, to Mr. Henry Arthur Lavoie, son of Mrs. Annie Lavoie of 4 Patton Court, Nashua, New Hampshire.

Reverend Randolph S. Merrill of the Central Congregational Church of Newtonville performed the double ring ceremony in front of the fireplace which was beautifully decorated with palms, and bouquets of chrysanthemums, gladioli and asters.

Miss Lena Marsh, aunt of the bride played the wedding march.

The bride wore a gown of white nylon lace & tulle over taffeta. Her finger tip veil of illusion fell from a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses & baby's breath.

A green velvet leaf shaped headress matched the pastel green net waltz length gown of Miss Beverly Schade, friend of the bride, who was maid of honor. She carried a rosette bouquet of mums in fall colors.

Mr. Richard Lavoie of Manchester, New Hampshire was best man for his brother, Mr. Robert A. Coleron, brother of the bride was usher.

After a wedding trip to the White Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Lavoie will reside at 12 Barnes Road, Newton.

Miss H. Menides, Mr. Angus Wed

Chrysanthemums and fall foliage decorated St. George's Church, Lynn, when Miss Harriet Lynn Menides, daughter of Mrs. John Menides of Lynn, was married Sunday, September 26, to Mr. Paul Gordon Angus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roderick G. Angus of Newton. The 5 o'clock wedding was followed by a reception at Spray Cliff Inn, Marblehead.

The bride, daughter of the late Mr. Menides, was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Byron Alexander Menides. She wore a gown of ivory satin, fashioned with a portrait neckline, long sleeves, an Empire bodice and a princess bouffant skirt, ending in a cathedral train. She also wore a cathedral length heirloom Belgian lace veil and carried a cascade of Eucharis lilies. Mrs. Nicholas Curuby of Lynn was matron of honor for her sister and the bridesmaids were Miss Elaine Heidi Zerwas of Lynn and Miss Joanne Delany of Chestnut Hill. Sandra Jean Moshere of Newton, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

Mr. Christopher Menades of Salem, uncle of the bride, was the best man. The ushers were Mr. Richard Littlefield of Boston and Mr. Ralph Moore of Newton.

The bride was graduated in 1951 from Boston University, College of Liberal Arts and studied at Columbia University. The bridegroom prepared at Rivers Country Day School, and was graduated in 1951 from the University of Maine. He served with the Navy during World War II.

Miss Ellen Segal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Segal of 12 Morton road, Newton Centre, is chairman of the dance committee for the Junior Show at Bryn Mawr College, which will be presented October 16.

Miss Jacqueline I. Bean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bean of 1735 Beacon street, Waban, has entered Rhode Island School of Design.

MRS. BRUCE A. MANSFIELD

Mansfield-Plumer Nuptials Held At Union Church, Waban

White flowers and ferns decorated the altar of the Union Church, Waban, Saturday afternoon, when Miss Jane Plumer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Beckley Plumer of Waban, was married to Mr. Bruce Alexander Mansfield, son of Mrs. Leslie L. Landers of Wellesley Hills, and the late Mr. Bertram A. Mansfield. The 4 o'clock ceremony was performed by the Rev. Joseph Cony MacDonald and a reception followed at the Brae Burn Country Club.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore her mother's wedding dress of antique satin, which was styled with a princess waist and an Empire bodice; long sleeves of imported French Alencon lace and a bouffant skirt, which terminated in a full scalloped cathedral train. Her finger tip veil of antique ivory silk illusion was caught to a tiny cloche of matching Alencon lace and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and ivy with a white orchid.

Miss Shirley Daniel of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Court of Canton, Miss Barbara Kress of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Miss Rosalyn Winchester of Westwood and Miss Helen Lee Tolman of Waban. They wore ballerina length gowns of jade green antique silk, fashioned with fitted bodices and bateau necklines, outlined with emerald-colored velvet extending into two panels with a bow at the waists. The bridesmaids carried yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and ivy, which matched the coronet in their hair and the maid of honor carried similar flowers in a deeper tone.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Plumer wore a corsage of butterly orchids with her blue-gray silk brocade gown and Mrs. Landers, the bridegroom's mother, wore an apricot colored velvet gown with a corsage of phalaenopsis orchids.

Mr. Wesley A. Roth of Buffalo, N. Y., was the best man and the ushers were Mr. William R. Plumer of Waban, brother of the bride; Mr. Randolph Hayes of West Newton; Mr. William H. Moore, Jr., of Natick; Mr. Paul Dalton and Mrs. Norman T. Ross, Jr., both of Wellesley.

The bride was graduated in 1954 from Connecticut College for Women and her husband was graduated that year from Brown University, where he was a member of Phi Kappa Psi. He has served with the Air Force.

After a wedding trip to the White Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Mansfield will live in Newtonville.

Miss Sally Jane Porter Wed

In England August 21

On Saturday, August 21st, Miss Sally Jane Porter, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. McCarthy of 11 Angier Circle, Auburndale, became the bride of Richard Laws Burnip, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Burnip of Consett, County Durham, England.

Miss Porter landed in England three weeks ago for her wedding which took place in St. Cuthbert's Episcopal Church, Benfieldside, England, the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. H. Fenwick.

The bride wore a white dress of nylon net over slipper satin with lace insertions in the full skirt, and a finger-tip veil of French illusion held in place by a rosepoint lace cap; she carried a bouquet of white and pink Talisman roses and white heather. She was attended by Miss Yvonne McGahey and Miss Maureen McGahey, in pink dresses with bodices of silver embroidered net and full tulie skirts and pink flowered caps; they carried blue and white sweet peas.

The best man was Mr. Kenneth Walton and the groomsmen, Mr. Neville Oliver.

After a reception the couple left for their honeymoon in Torquay, the bride wearing a turquoise dress of silk shantung with shoes and accessories to match.

Mr. Burnip is second officer with the Furness-Withy Steamship Lines. They will make their home in New Jersey in the near future.

Miss Nancy Kord of Lexington

Weds Mr. John Murray of Newton

At a 10 o'clock Nuptial Mass in the Sacred Heart Church, Lexington, Miss Nancy Jean Kord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Kord of Lexington, was married Saturday, September 25, to Mr. John Edward Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Murray of Newton Centre. The Rev. Francis Murray of Malden performed the ceremony and the bride was escorted to the altar by her father.

She wore a finger-tip veil of illusion caught to a coronet of seed pearls, with her waltz-length gown of Chantilly lace over satin, and her cascade bouquet combined stephanotis and roses centered with a white orchid. A hunter's green velvet leaf-shaped headband matched the velvet band sashing the mint green satinique ballerina gown which Mrs. Ronald F. Scott of Wellesley wore as matron of honor for her sister. She carried a cascade of gardenias as did the identically gowned maid

MRS. AUSTIN H. WELCH

Miss Harriet Dane Married to Mr. Austin Horace Welch

Miss Harriet Foster Dane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Alden Dane, of Newton Centre, Massachusetts became the bride of Mr. Austin Horace Welch, of Canaan Street Village, New Hampshire at a four o'clock ceremony on October first at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Nathanael M. Gupstill of the First Church of Newton officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an off-white silk shantung ballerina gown, trimmed with Alencon lace around the neckline and on the cap sleeves, and carried a semi-cascade bouquet of stephanotis. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was fastened to a headpiece trimmed with seed pearls.

Mrs. Malcolm H. Cook, of Newton Centre, wearing a royal blue peau de soie gown and carrying a bouquet of rubrum lilies, was her sister's only attendant.

The bride's mother wore an American beauty lace gown with a corsage of green cypridium orchids.

Mr. Merrill H. Goodhue, of Boston served as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Julius Theodorowicz and Miss Edith Stearns furnished the music for the wedding and the reception which followed immediately.

Mrs. Welch, a graduate of Smith College, served with the American Red Cross in the CBI Theatre during the Second World War. Mr. Welch, a mechanical engineer, recently retired from the faculty of the University of New Hampshire.

After a wedding trip to Bermuda, they will make their home in Canaan Street Village, New Hampshire.

Three Days Left to Win Great Shoppers' World Europe Trip

Lady Luck swings into the stretch in the spectacular Third Anniversary sale and contest conducted by the busy Shoppers' World. Just three big, bustling days remain for those who wish to take advantage of the glittering array of major prizes, and values.

Non-winning daily tickets are saved for a chance at the Grand Prize—and what a prize it is! Imagine, eighteen thrilling days in Europe; winner and companion as the happy guests of Shoppers' World flown to the Old World on a luxurious BOAC airliner. The finest accommodations at swank hosteries in London, Paris and beautiful Rome, then a perfect flight aboard a TWA plane for Madrid. Four unforgettable days in each city. This award will be drawn on Saturday, October 9 at 5:30 p.m.

Two happy shoppers will be winners today when the second fabulous prize brings a seven day trip to Nassau and the sunny Bahamas. The Royal Victoria Hotel has the red, plush carpet all ready to unroll in welcome for Shoppers' World guests. All the delightful facilities await them, outdoor pool, golf, tennis, dancing under the stars, or just plain loafing around. Again a luxury skyliner of BOAC flies them there and back.

On Friday, October 8, the third big prize goes begging. Seven days of thrills on a flying house-party to the Caribbean. Resort Airlines at the service of the winner and companion with exotic adventures to be lived in Nassau, Port-au-Prince, Jamaica and Miami Beach.

A three-day holiday weekend at the Warwick Hotel, New York City, will await the winner and companion of the selection to be made on Saturday, October 9. Two wonderful nights and three days, with dining and dancing as guests of the hotel, sight-seeing, and all the other glories associated with a trip to Manhattan. Everybody has an equal chance to win. There is nothing to buy, nothing to write—just sign your name and deposit it during this Once A Year Shoppers' World center-wide sale. Folks can enter a ticket a day at each Shoppers' World store. Free parking.

Newton Sports

Newton High preserved Coach Bud Hawkes' unbeaten record, moving the victory string to 10 straight, by outlasting a stubborn and underrated Chelsea eleven 7-6 at Chelsea Memorial Stadium. . . . The morning encounter was transformed into a close game by Newton's penalties, three costly fumbles and a weak passing performance by Orange and Black quarterback Church Fogarty. But Fogarty, who last week won plaudits with his seeing-eye passing, this week proved himself one of the top runners in the Newton backfield, scoring once and pulling off two spectacular runs in the game. . . . The Tigers completely dominated first-half play, only to have Chelsea come ragging back on the field to tally one TD and give Newton rooters heart trouble for the rest of the morning. Chelsea wasn't supposed to have much of an offense due to injuries, with an end being converted to quarterback in only a week's time. . . . The Red Devils gained six first downs in the second half with the converted end, Jim Mitchell, looking as if he had always played in the quarterback slot.

Newton got off on a long drive that seemed touch-down bound as the game started, but penalties at crucial points forced Fogarty to kick. Chelsea's Tony Tiro, a thorn in the side of Newton all morning, tried to cut back toward his goal line to evade Newton tacklers and was belted inside the 10. . . . A messed-up handoff then gave Newton guard Dave Baker a chance to smother the ball at the seven.

Even with this outright gift, the Tigers had trouble scoring. Two plays wound up with a net loss of two yards, and Fogarty overthrew a pass to end Billy Reilly, who was clear in the left corner of the end zone. . . . Taking matters into his own hands, Fogarty sprinted around right end behind a wall of blockers and ran over a final defender to score. Mike Vassalotti pumped the ball between the uprights, and Newton seemed well on its way to an easy victory over the punchless Red Raiders. . . . As the second period opened, Newton began to move from its own territory. Then old man penalty, a twelfth player for Chelsea all afternoon, drove the Tigers back to the 31. Fogarty let the football slip from his fingers and Henry McCarthy Jr., son of the Chelsea coach, grabbed the ball. . . . After moving to the 16 and making its initial first down of the afternoon, Chelsea recorded a TD on as pretty a pass play as you will see all season. Halfback Ray Hudson took a reverse, ran to the right, leaped and threw a pass toward paydirt. . . . Newton halfback Al Rogan ran forward for a shot at the underthrown ball, with his left arm well in front of the intended receiver, end Tony Caputo. At the last second, Caputo dove forward and somehow grabbed the ball from Rogan's hands while tumbling onto the sod. . . . Chelsea's point-after attempt misfired, but Newton was offside. On the replay, end Ray Acheson repeated his performances of last year by smashing into the backfield to block the kick and maintain Newton's lead.

After stalling a late Chelsea drive, Newton drove up-field during the last minutes of the game on the strong legs of fullback Bobby Lee. Carrying in six of seven vicious running plays, Lee moved the Tigers from the Newton 27 to the Chelsea 12. There Lee dropped the ball to give Chelsea a last-gasp chance.

But Chelsea was through. The passes were wild and inaccurate, and for some reason known only to the Red Raiders' coach, Chelsea kicked on the last play of the game instead of trying one last fling. Time ran out before the Tigers could put the ball in play. . . . Saturday afternoon Newton plays host to a powerful Brockton eleven at Dickinson Stadium. This game and the following one, against perennial Class B power Watertown, will really force the Tigers to lay their title hopes on the line. . . . Our Lady's High suffered a heartbreaking loss to Ayer High in a Friday arc-light game, 20-14, at Ft. Devens Field. Ayer rushed off to a stunning 20-point lead in the opening quarter, and then spent the rest of the game beating off the determined Purple and Gold. . . . Striking for touchdowns in the second and fourth quarters, Our Lady's engineered a last-minute drive to the Ayer 30, but a fumble thwarted this scoring attempt. Still trying, the Newton club recovered a fumble near midfield. . . . A long pass was intercepted by Ayer, and the home club ran out the clock on line plays as Our Lady's tried desperately to regain possession. . . . George Duffy, a standout last week against Martha's Vineyard, again gave a starry performance by picking up 103 yards in 21 rushes. He tallied once on a 15-yard dash and bulled through the line for both extra points. . . . Fullback Fred DuBois counted the other TD for Our Lady's on a 10-yard burst up the middle. Our Lady's served notice again that the parochial school's football fortunes are on the upgrade, and this will be a team to watch for the rest of the season.

DINNER PARTY commemorating Bonds for Israel drive held last week found Mrs. John F. Kennedy, wife of Massachusetts' Junior Senator and Jackson J. Holtz, Democratic nominee for Congress, renewing old acquaintances. Holtz was key member of Kennedy Campaign Committee. Shown in photo is Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Jackson Holtz, Mr. Holtz and Lawrence G. Laskey, of 20 Chestnut road, Newton, director of the drive and chairman of the dinner.

Holtz Says Republican Congress Has Scuttled Vital Defense

The Republican Congress has scuttled a vital defense to our survival in any major battle with Russia or its Red Satellites, Jackson J. Holtz, Democratic nominee for Congress, declared in a radio speech.

Holtz, former Assistant U.S.

Attorney and member of the American Bar Association Committee to Investigate Communists' Tactics and Strategy, charged the Republican administration with shutting down vital synthetic oil manufacturing plants to please the oil interests.

"While the Communists are building more and more plants to create oil from coal and shale rock," Holtz, former state representative, said, "the Republicans have shut down the only three plants in the United States designed to manufacture synthetic oil."

Holtz maintained the United States was dependent on importation of 65 percent of its supplies—nearly 3 billion gallons yearly—on foreign imports.

"The Democrats recognized that we needed synthetic plants to protect this vital line of defense in event of war and the cutting off of our supply lines.

"Three plants were built—one in Colorado where the shale rock is abundant and the others in coal mining states," Holtz said.

"But what happened when the Republicans came into office and these synthetic oil plants were just about ready to produce oil on an economic basis," Holtz asked.

"The Republicans ordered the plants closed because big oil could make more profit from foreign imports and would not be able to stand any competition from synthetic oil produced in the United States," Holtz maintained.

"They did this without regard to the vital interest of the people—the boys and girls who might have to go to war—the parents who might have to defend their homes in event of an attack and needed the modern implements of war—implements run by oil," Holtz said.

"The record will show the facts and the Republicans have no real answer."

Fingold Proud Of Land Damage Courts Record

Atty. Gen. George Fingold disclosed to this newspaper yesterday that the total number of land damage cases disposed of by trial and settlement by his department represented an increase of 400 per cent over the number disposed of during the last two fiscal years of the previous administration.

"This tremendous jump," Fingold said, "was entirely made possible by our establishing a separate land damage division within the department which has disposed of 785 cases already, with still four months to go.

In the last two fiscal years of the previous administration only 195 cases were disposed of. As a matter of record," Fingold pointed out, "we exceeded that figure during our first five months in office.

"Our settlements have been speedy, honest and fair and have been made in open court—not on the sidewalk or at the back door and payments to claimants have been speeded up. All told, we have saved the Commonwealth more than $7,000,000 in amounts asked by claimants and the amounts paid and more than $1,338,000 has been saved additionally in interest charges," Fingold said.

The attorney general pointed out that the savings are of tremendous interest to every taxpayer, "because it is the taxpayer who has to ante up for the interest on unsettled eminent domain takings."

"Our new system," Fingold said, "is as free from intrigue and taint as any man-made system can be. And everything done about land damage cases is now accomplished in a goldfish bowl atmosphere."

Hyde School to Hold Faculty Supper Wed.

The Executive Board of the Hyde School P.T.A. is giving a buffet supper on Wednesday, October 13, at 6:30 p.m. for the faculty and their husbands or wives. It is to be held at the home of Mrs. George F. Brewster, 1090 Walnut street, Newton Highlands. Mrs. Edward Allen is Hospitality Chairman, assisted by Mrs. Philip Baird.

This social occasion will provide an opportunity for new members of the board and faculty to become acquainted.

Following the opening yesterday afternoon of the Mason School Swap Shop, Mrs. E. Philip Levine, Ways and Means chairman of the Mason-Rice P.T.A., expressed thanks to the members of the poster committee, whose original signs helped to announce the Wednesday afternoon clothing exchange to Newton Centre residents. Posters were made by Mrs. Howard Shuman, Mrs. Robert Friedman, Mrs. Emanuel Flashman, Mrs. Emmanuel Goldman and distributed by Mrs. Abbott Spear.

The Swap Shop, located on the third floor of the Mason School, will be open from 1 to 4 p.m. on the next three Wednesday afternoons, October 13, 20, and 27, and will continue on other dates, if the operation proves successful.

For the present, exchange goods are limited to ice skates, boots and rubbers, Scout uniforms, tap and ballet shoes and leotards, snow suits for boys and girls, winter clothing, toys and sleds. Goods may be brought to the Mason School on the Wednesday morning preceding each afternoon of the sale. Eighty percent of the profit from sold goods goes to the owner, twenty percent to the Mason-Rice P.T.A.

A Sales Committee, headed by Mrs. Thomas DiMaura, includes Mrs. M. Waters, Mrs. Lawrence Curtis, Mrs. Howard Shuman, Mrs. Joseph Hurst, Mrs. Samuel Grant, Mrs. Maurice Creighton and Mrs. Harold Berman.

Additional members will be announced later. For further information, call Mrs. Levine at BI 4-0704.

Saltonstall Hits Phoney Claims of Unemployment as 'Political Eyewash'

Branding as "cut-rate political eyewash" opposition efforts to capitalize on the decline from 1953's record-breaking prosperity, Senator Leverett Saltonstall told a luncheon audience today that the American people could thank the "wise fiscal management" of the Eisenhower Administration for bringing peace at so low an economic price.

"In 1952 I went to Korea personally to see what could be done to end a war that had cost 142,000 killed, wounded and missing American boys," Senator Saltonstall said. "On July 27, 1953, six months after his Administration took office, an armistice in Korea was signed. For the first time in more than three years, no American guns fired shells at an enemy, no American planes dropped bombs on enemy positions, no American ships bombarded enemy shores, no American soldiers dug foxholes to protect themselves from enemy attack."

"The Defense Department cut back its orders for more shells, more bombs, more small arms, more blankets, more infantry packs, more bandages, and all the other thousand and one here in Massachusetts a maximum share of new defense work. This fight, I am glad to say, has resulted in awards to our Springfield Armory, our Watertown Arsenal and our Boston Navy Yard which have kept their employment levels twice as high, on the average, as before Korea. It has brought more new Naval construction to the Fore River Yard in Quincy than the Yard received during the entire period 1946-1952. It has set in motion a $100,000,000 program for the construction in Massachusetts of new and expanded Government defense installations.

"But the remarkable fact is not that there was a slackening of momentum, but that it did not proceed farther. The fact that it did not is due to three things, for all of which the Eisenhower Team in the White House and on Capitol Hill can take credit: "(1) Tax reductions amounting to $7.5 billion; (2) Stabilization of the dollar and a halt to inflation for the first time in 15 years; (3) Encouragement of new investment in homes, plants, and productive equipment.

"Best of all, the wise fiscal management of the Eisenhower team has set in motion progress toward new levels of prosperity which will rest not on artificial wartime props, but on a stable peacetime foundation.

"To offset so far as possible the termination of wartime demands, I have fought to get for our defense installations

Means' Record Runs Gamut Of Public Service

State Representative Augustus G. Means, candidate for state treasurer points out that he has been actively campaigning since January of this year. He emphasizes that he is running on his own name, his own record of public service.

His campaign manager, State Senator Conte, yesterday related the highlights of Rep. Means' career for the Transcript publications. He told how Rep. Means received the Distinguished Service Cross (second highest award of our country) and two Purple Hearts for bravery during World War II; he told of Means' service as a selectman in his home town of Essex; of the service by Means in the state legislature and also about the Means family of five small children. In concluding, Conte said, "I feel honored to have been selected by my colleague to serve as Western Massachusetts campaign manager and I know Gus will be a great state treasurer."

Means' state-wide campaign manager, Edward De Saulnier, a Chelmsford Representative, added, "Rep. Means is better qualified than his opponent to be state treasurer because he is an experienced public official. The administration of the treasury, in the past, has been conservative, under both Republican and Democratic treasurers. The fiscal management has always been on a sound basis. It will be the aim of Representative Augustus G. Means to keep it that way. We must elect as state treasurer first of all a man we know we can trust and secondly a man whose public record is one to be proud of. Means fills both of these requirements."

Mrs. Augustus G. Means, the former Mary Callan of Milton, recently told women's clubs in the North and South Shores that she is confident that her husband will make a fine treasurer.

Means has served in the House of Representatives for four years, is Chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, co-author of the Korean Bonus, and was a member of the special State Commission Investigating Crime and Corruption. Prior to being elected to the House, he served as Selectman in the town of Essex for three years and is now the Town Moderator. The American Legion appointed Rep. Means a member of both the State and National Committees Investigating Communism and Subversion.

"We must see to it that these new measures, plus vigorous enforcement of existing law, backed by an alert public opinion, will prevent the stealing of any more military secrets through communist plotting."

Mrs. Roy H. White of 361 Winchester street Newton Highlands had a hostess party at her home last week. There were 20 people present.

Communist Spying Proves Need For Vigilance, Says Cong. Curtis

Congressman Laurence Curtis addressing the Newton Chapter of the Disabled American Veterans last night, warned that the revelations of communist spying in France showed the need for continued vigilance. Describing recent anti-subversive legislation, he said:

"The disturbing news of successful communist infiltration and spying in France makes the anti-subversive legislation of the 83rd Congress appear wise and timely. It seems certain that the communists in France succeeded in running into the top national councils on French defense. It is disturbing to wonder whether certain American top secret policies which were discussed with other friendly nations became known to the Soviets through this leak in the dike. It has been pointed out that if such leaks took place during the years ago, I promised that I would restore to the government of the Commonwealth, the dignity, efficiency, and integrity which had been so sadly lacking during the years immediately before.

"When elected Governor two years ago, I promised that I would restore to the government of the Commonwealth, the dignity, efficiency, and integrity which had been so sadly lacking during the years immediately before.

"Accepting that mandate, we have provided for an improved and expanded highway program without the fanfare of personal advertising. Today there are more roads being built than at any time in the history of this state.

"By the expansion of our state hospital facilities we are meeting the needs of our unfortunate citizens who are mentally or physically ill. Special attention has been given to the development of housing, vocational and recreational facilities for our aging citizens and for their care wherever needed.

"An expanded program of recreational facilities is found in the development of public beach areas such as Salisbury Beach and expanded recreation programs in the state forests and parks.

"As a result of improved business conditions we have more steady peace-time jobs than at any time in our history, with new industries constantly being attracted to Massachusetts by our newly created Department of Commerce and Massachusetts Business Development Corporation.

"Other laws provide that persons convicted of certain subversive activities shall lose their citizenship.

Bail jumping has also been made a crime. This was probably a direct aftermath of the scandal resulting when several of those convicted of subversion in the New York trial before Judge Medina jumped bail and escaped.

Arnold Feldman, center, of Arnold's Surplus Center, on the Turnpike near Cedar Street, is seen above as he puts a customer's purchases in a bag during the Hurricane emergency. With stoves and lights out of operation, Arnold and his staff went into action and bought up an enormous quantity of Army surplus canned meat. His ordinarily large stock of camp stoves, gasoline, oil and electric lanterns and batteries helped out hundreds of local people in their crisis and prices were lower than any in the area. In fact, some of the camp stoves were loaded onto a truck and taken into disaster areas where Civil Defense and National Guard blessing, to be sold at fair, low retail prices to families there. Local stores, too, were accommodated from Arnold's 14,000 can stock of the packaged meat. It was necessary to reorder on this handy item about halfway through the emergency and no one was disappointed. Regular prices prevailed on all stock at Arnold's and this fact made many staunch friends for the firm.

Murphy Hits GOP Failure To Keep Promises

Representative Robert F. Murphy, Democratic nominee for governor, discussed pertinent campaign issues with the Transcript Publications yesterday.

On Gov. Herter's proposal to aid the jobless of Massachusetts, he said:

"The governor's proposal is just about as dynamic as a water-soaked firecracker . . . The governor finally admitted for the first time that we have an unemployment problem . . . After you see through the fancy words and phrases like 'economic base studies' and analyze the program, you realize that the plan contains nothing but more empty promises . . . He says we need more studies . . . The last thing we need is more study . . . We need some action."

On Herter's announcement that the state has spent more than $107,792,000 on highways during the past 18 months:

"Practically all the roads were started under the Democratic regime, and the money was appropriated for under the Democratic administration . . . This is just a continuation on the part of the present administration to attempt to mislead, as they did in 1952, to take credit for projects which were planned, started and appropriated for under the previous Democratic administration."

On unemployment:

"The Republican Party has failed to keep the pledge that its administration would improve the business climate of Massachusetts, save existing jobs and create new job opportunities in textiles and other industries . . . The plain truth is that for the past year we have been in an economic decline . . . Things are not what they should be, and not what they could be with the right kind of leadership."

On setting up a State rating and statistical bureau for auto insurance, for the protection of the public:

"The rates now are based on a report from the companies to which you are going to pay your auto insurance . . . That is why I have been urging inconsistently that the Commonwealth establish its own bureau—so that we can be certain that insurance rates are established by a disinterested agency."

"Edmand's Park" To Be Discussed At Meeting

At the meeting of the Newtonville Garden Club on next Thursday morning, October 14, at 10:15 in the Library Hall, Newtonville, Mrs. J. L. Oncley of Newton will address the club. Her subject will be "Edmand's Park," one of Newton's reservations and recreation parks about which many Newtonites would like to know more, particularly its privileges and uses to the community as well as how it is maintained.

Mrs. Harold Lounsberry will preside as President. This year she will be assisted by the following officers and committee chairman: Mrs. Edward T. Jones, Secretary; Mrs. Edmund Miller, Treasurer; Mrs. W. S. Adams, Hon. Chairman Library Garden Committee; Mrs. C. W. Peterson, Conservation; Miss E. Hartshorne, Horticulture; Mrs. C. O. Mooney, Hospital Service; Mrs. R. Parker, Membership; Mrs. Roger Wheeler, Program; Mrs. W. A. Warren, Publicity; Mrs. J. S. Mansfield, Library; and Mrs. M. F. Eades, War Memorial.

Dr. John Hanks of 124 Summer street, Newton, boarded a Pan American Clipper last Saturday en route to London, England, where he will lecture on the research of Leprosy and Tuberculosis. Dr. Hanks is with the Leonard Wood Memorial, the American Leprosy Foundation.

All articles must be clean, pressed, seasonable, and in good repair. Not acceptable for sale are out-of-date clothing, women's winter coats, black dresses, high heel shoes, purses, hats, men's and women's suit coats.

Auburndale Woman's Club to Open Its Season October 15 Rev. Callahan To Be Guest Speaker Sunday

The Auburndale's Woman's Club will hold the first meeting of the season Wednesday, October 15th at the Auburndale Club House. A Coffee hour and reception for new members at 1:15, will be followed by a delightful program. The Day chairman is Mrs. Thomas Booz, the Tea hostess, Mrs. Albert Holbridge assisted by Group 1.

Mrs. Malcolm N. Jackson, President, will preside at the business meeting, and will announce many interesting additions to the Club activities.

These new activities include Children's Hour in the Auburndale Library Hall for the preschool children of members so that the mothers may attend club meetings; a camera group headed by Mrs. Allard Valentine; a class in hooked rugs with Mrs. LeRoy Faulkner and a garden committee with Mrs. Paul H. Tardivel as chairman.

Continuing classes in Ceramic Figures by Mrs. Edmund G. Wahlers; Textile Painting with Mrs. James Sawyer; tray painting with Mrs. Walter B. Morehouse; Town Line Pottery with Mrs. Albert A. LaPlante; and sketching with Mr. Keith C. Parris.

The program for the afternoon, beautifully costumed with a musical background, will be presented by Mr. Valentine Bean and Miss Alice Lindberg, and is entitled THE YOUNG MAN FROM SALZBURG. The combined talents of these artists, depicting episodes from Mozart's life, produces a delightfully different dramatic presentation.

Members of the Society will attend the 8 o'clock mass and receive Communion together.

The breakfast will be served immediately afterwards in the High School.

The Holy Name Choir, under the direction of Miss Florence Herlihy, will sing during the mass.

Prior to the mass, there will be a Reception Ceremony for new members, conducted by Rev. John H. Quinlan, Spiritual Director of the So-

"Current Problems Facing

American Catholics" will be the subject of Father Callahan's talk. The speaker is a

and High Schools. Upon graduation he entered the Society of Jesus at Lenox, Mass. After finishing his Novitiate and Juniorate there, he went to

Weston College for his philosophy course. Following this, he

Preparatory School in Fairfield, Conn. Following this assignment, he went to St. Louis University for special studies in Sociology. Upon completion of that course, he returned to

leading to the priesthood.

After his ordination in 1949,

he was sent to Europe and

in Belgium, Germany, Austria, and Italy. In June, 1953, he temples Shalom of Newton is pleased to announce the expansion of their Adult Education Program. In addition to the very successful Supper Club, a series of weekly classes in both

Hebrew and Bible will be held and will be open to the community.

The Hebrew class, designed on an adult level, will aim to give a reading knowledge of Hebrew with special attention to the handling of the prayer-book. The course includes the building of an adequate vocabulary, so that the worship services will have a greater degree of meaning; and some time will be spent on the origin and development of the Hebrew Language.

The second class will be capably led by Rabbi Murray Rothman on significant concepts and theme developed throughout the Bible. Using "Preface to Scripture" by Dr. Solomon Freehof, and the Bible as their texts, members will be encouraged to participate with written papers prepared for group discussion.

Both classes promise to be informative and stimulating additions to the Temple Shalom

Adult Education Program. A nominal registration fee will be charged for both courses and applications or information may be had by contacting the chairman, Mrs. Frank Kaplan or the Temple. Registration will close October 18 and classes will commence on Tuesday evening,

October 26.

Among the Marine officer candidates who underwent six weeks of training as members of the Platoon Leaders Class at the Marine Corps Schools here

this summer was Robert B.

Halloran, son of Mr. and Mrs.

John F. Halloran of 44 Walter street, Newton Centre, Mass.

He is a student at Boston College.

Upon completion of one more summer training period and graduation from college,

the members of the class will be eligible for selection as sec-

Corps Reserve.

COMMANDER VAUGHN
Com. Vaughn to Address Newton YMCA Tonight

Members of committees and boards of the Newton YMCA will hear Commander Robert A. Vaughan, Chaplain, Boston Naval Shipyard and active layman in the Charlestown Armed Service YMCA at their fifth Annual Committeemen's Dinner, to be held at 6:30 p.m. today (Thursday) in the auditorium of the Newton YMCA building.

Heads of regular committees of the Newton YMCA will turn in their plans for the year's work to President Frederick S. Bacon, who will preside at the meeting. Members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Newton YMCA will serve a buffet dinner.

The Board of Directors of the YMCA will meet after the "so-

25 Handicapped Newtonites Seek Work Openings

The drive to find work for disabled job seekers here is still in full swing, according to John F. Kennealy, manager of the employment office. Every large employer in the area has been contacted in a search for job openings.

In addition to the contributions from the public, valuable aid is being given by the Newton School Department and its entire teaching staff, headed by Superintendant Harold B. Gores, who considers the Halloween celebrations a valuable out-of-school educational activity. Freely offering its facilities and equipment, the School Department is making a contribution of such value that it cannot be overestimated.

Meanwhile, "on the firing line," the 1500 hard-working committee members are rapidly completing their party programs. Reports from building chairmen are continually being received by Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, chairman of the general program committee, which indicate that "Everything," as Mrs. Hovgaard said, "is under control."

A report from Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Masow, building chairmen of the 9th Grade, Bigelow Junior High Halloween Committee, states that plans embrace an exciting evening of dancing to music by Marshard; entertainment by the well-known stage and TV vocalists, Lindy Doherty and Cindy Lord; dance prizes, door prizes, prizes galore; and Halloween refreshments.

Parents on the committee are: Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Piereson, Mr. and Mrs. James Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Currier, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Funder — FUNDS —

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Inside Story Told on Kennedy-Furcolo Rift . . . Will Do Some Harm to Democratic Prospects . . .

There is little doubt but that the clash between Senator John F. Kennedy and State Treasurer Foster Furcolo will do some slight harm to the Democratic cause in Massachusetts in the coming election, and particularly to Furcolo himself.

But it will not make the imprint on the Democratic campaign that some Republican politicians would like to believe, and by the time the electioneering reaches a height the incident will be largely forgotten by all except the immediate camp followers of Kennedy and Furcolo.

Ex-Governor Paul A. Dever, Democratic State Committee Chairman John C. Carr and Representative Robert F. Murphy, Democratic nominee for Governor, all endeavored to quiet down the political furore which erupted after Kennedy's chief secretary, Francis X. Morrissey, disclosed that the Senator would not give his personal endorsement to Furcolo. They succeeded in part.

Robert Kennedy, the Senator's brother and his campaign manager of two years ago, attempted to gloss over the situation with the assertion that his brother was standing by his statement that he will support the entire Democratic State ticket. But Robert did not deny or dispute the statement that the Senator will withhold any personal endorsement from Treasurer Furcolo.

Rep. Thresher Speaks at 2nd Church Luncheon

Legislation, which places human welfare uppermost, was discussed by Rep. Irene Thresher of Newton at the opening luncheon last Wednesday of the Women's Council of the Second Church in West Newton.

The bills passed during the last two years to improve conditions in the state's mental hospitals, provide better conditions for elderly folks unable to support themselves and to increase educational opportunities for the youngsters of Massachusetts were the subject of her talk.

Mrs. Thresher, an energetic grandmother, is seeking reelection to her third term in the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

Schedule Joint Meeting Monday To Elect School Committeeman

Vacancy Caused by Registration Of Chairman Dr. James B. Palmer

A successor to Dr. James B. Palmer of West Newton, recently chairman of the Newton School Committee, will probably be elected Monday night when the Board of Aldermen holds a joint meeting with the School Committee.

Dr. Palmer, who has been a member of the School Committee since 1946 and its head for the past four years, tendered his resignation last month. He listed his reason as "serious conflict with my business obligations."

The election was first slated to be held October 4, but the School Committee objected to the date as first proposed by board president Wendell R. Backman. The postponement was requested by Gordon B. Russell of 28 Jameson road, Newton, temporary chairman of the School Committee, who said he would be unable to attend the October 4 session.

Appropriations amounting to only $9100 have been requested by Mayor Howard Whitmore in the preliminary docket for Monday's session. However, more items of expense can be expected to be added with a supplementary docket later in the week, judging by past practices of the administration.

Both appropriations sought by the mayor are for street department projects. The first is for $1100 to finance drain and sewer construction on Lawn avenue, Newtonville, and the second for an $8000 drain construction project on private land off Moody street, Chestnut Hill, to prevent flooding of homes nearby.

Hearings Slated

Several hearings are also scheduled by the aldermen for 7:45 p.m., before the regular aldermanic session gets underway.

The Jenney Manufacturing Company is seeking permission to erect a 3-bay lubricitorium at its existing gas station at 1087 Beacon street, Newton Highlands. The present single-bay lubricitorium will be converted ber of the House to be appointed to the powerful Ways and Means Committee. On that committee, she is chairman of the subcommittee, which deals with the budgets of the state educational institutions. For nine years, Rep. Thresher was a member of the Newton School Committee.

As chairman of the subcommittee on Problems of the Aging, Mrs. Thresher was instrumental in gaining passage of the bill, which set up the new Council of the Aging. This unpaid Council of citizens and state department heads, will begin operation this week to promote better conditions for elderly persons.

In two areas Rep. Thresher is still working to increase educational opportunities for Massachusetts youngsters. As a member of the Ways and Means Committee, she recommends the necessary expansion of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst to meet increasing demands for entrance by high school graduates within the state.

As vice-chairman of the Special Commission studying the State Teachers Colleges, she is preparing recommendations, which will increase the enrollment and effectiveness of these institutions in training teachers for the public schools of the state. Assisting in this study is

Dr. Homer W. Anderson, former superintendent of schools in Newton and a nationally-known consultant on educational problems.

As a member of the special commission on educational television, Rep. Thresher is participating in one of the outstanding educational experiments in Massachusetts history. Although the state itself is not financially involved in this new venture, the commission helped with advice, encouragement and providing expert services, and the Channel 2 station, operated by WGBH-TV will soon become a reality.

Impressions of Army Hearings To Be Subject

A capacity group is expected at the first meeting of the Brotherhood of Temple Shalom of Newton on October 19. The speaker will be James D. St. Clair of the Boston law firm Hale and Dorr. Mr. St. Clair was graduated from the University of Illinois in 1941 with a B.A. degree. He attended Harvard Law school and was forced to discontinue his classes while he served in the Navy as a Lieutenant and Commanding Officer of a Naval Patrol Craft.

He returned to Harvard Law

School following the war and graduated in 1947.

Mr. St. Clair was assistant to Joseph Welch, counsel for the United States Army during the Army-McCarthy hearings held in Washington last spring. His subject will be his impressions of the hearings. Mr. St. Clair will be introduced by Fred G. Fisher Jr., also of Hale and Dorr.

Dinner will be served at the meeting which begins at 6:30 p.m. at Temple Shalom, 175 Temple street, West Newton.

Gordon L. Hawes of Newtonville will deliver a lecture titled "An Introduction to Heraldry" tomorrow (Friday) at 8 p.m. at a meeting of the Riverdale Improvement Association in the Riverdale School, Dedham.

It is no news to anyone close to politics that Kennedy and Furcolo are not close friends and that Kennedy is at least as friendly with Leverett Saltonstall, with whom he has served in the Senate, as he is with Furcolo, and possibly more so.

An ironic aspect to the situation is that the disagreement between Furcolo and Kennedy occurred both before and after a television program in which Furcolo and Representative Murphy paid public tribute to Kennedy for delaying his entrance into a hospital in order to take part in the telecast.

Another thing that can be reported is that Kennedy was a good deal sicker and facing a more serious operation than anyone except in his immediate family realized at the time.

This is the story of what actually happened in the dispute between Kennedy and Furcolo, and in some respects it was magnified out of proportion.

A television program was arranged in which Kennedy, Furcolo and Murphy participated together, and some readers probably saw it last Thursday night.

Murphy went to Hyannis, worked on the script with Kennedy and returned with him from the Cape by plane. About 15 minutes before the program was scheduled to go on the air, Furcolo entered the TV studio where Kennedy and Murphy were awaiting him, looked over the script and asked that it be revised.

Even if Kennedy had been disposed to change the text of what he was to say, which he was not, there was not enough time to do it before the three went on the television channel.

What Furcolo actually requested was an entirely new program. He wanted a stronger endorsement from Kennedy, and he wanted the Senator to attack Saltonstall's record instead of engaging in a discussion of the economic situation in Massachusetts, which comprised most of the text of the speech.

Kennedy refused to discard the script or revise it in any way. A rather heated argument occurred. That, of course, is not unusual because tempers invariably wear thin in a campaign. In fairness, it must be kept in mind that Furcolo was under the pressure of an important political fight and that Kennedy was ill.

For a few moments it appeared that Kennedy might not go on the air at all. But Murphy stepped in as peace-maker, and the program went on as scheduled. Toward the end of it, Murphy and Furcolo both publicly thanked Kennedy for appearing with them at a personal sacrifice to himself. That, incidentally, had been put in the script by Murphy, and Furcolo read what he was supposed to read, although it might have appeared at the time that he was speaking extemporaneously.

The only departure Kennedy made from his script was at the very end of the talk where the text called for him to address Murphy and Furcolo as "you both" and wish them and the rest of the Democratic State ticket "every success" in the November election. Instead, Kennedy directed his closing remark to Murphy, addressing him as "Bob" and by inference, at least, including Furcolo as a member of "the entire Democratic ticket," whom he was wishing well.

Another dispute between Kennedy and Furcolo occurred after the telecast, centering principally on what should have been said in the speech, and then Kennedy, Furcolo and Murphy went their respective ways. Murphy at maker trying to smooth things down.

In some ways the only thing unusual about the incident was that it broke into the open. Candidates for high offices frequently are dissatisfied with the lengths to which persons supporting them are willing to go in their endorsements. Some men are willing to support a candidate but will not attack his opponent in any way.

Boston's Mayor John B. Hynes, for example, is backing Representative Murphy. But he will not criticize Governor Herter or say anything disparaging about him in any way.

As a Democrat, Hynes is supporting Murphy, his party's nominee for the Governorship. But at the same time he respects Governor Herter, and he will not say anything at any time during the campaign which would be inconsistent with that respect.

Kennedy's position is not unlike that of Hynes, except that the junior Senator probably is not on as friendly terms with Furcolo as Hynes is with Murphy. It is doubtful that Murphy would expect or ask Hynes to attack Herter, and he would be given a quick refusal if he did.

Senator Kennedy has worked fairly closely on Capitol Hill with Senator Saltonstall. That also is not out of the ordinary, for Senators of opposing political parties are not at each other's throats to anything approaching the extent that some of their partisan supporters believe.

The late Senator David I. Walsh was practically a political mentor to former Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. Walsh guided and advised Lodge, and when Lodge resigned from the Senate to enter the army during World War II, he paid a particularly fond farewell to Lodge. Later, in the twilight of his career, Walsh was swept out of office by a Republican tide and lost his seat to Lodge. That also established no precedent in politics.

Kennedy and Saltonstall have voted the same way on many issues during the past two years, and Kennedy in reporting to the people on his record cited the legislation which they had jointly supported. That, of course, made no particular hit with Furcolo's camp.

It may well be that Kennedy considers he would be hypocritical to launch any attack upon Saltonstall. Possibly, he realizes that he would leave himself wide open to a counter-assault. Maybe he wouldn't blast Saltonstall if neither of those things were true.

But by appearing on television with Murphy and Furcolo, he did, as far as the general public is considered, espouse their candidacies, and, except for a play on words, by addressing Murphy singly instead of Murphy and Furcolo together, he gave Furcolo the same endorsement for any year will show substantial Republican majorities in every instance.

It should be obvious, if the new voting lists when issued reveal a number of new independent voters, that no one is at fault in this regard—if fault there be—except the individual registrants themselves. If they wished to designate their party, they could easily have done so when they registered. It is a fanciful conclusion for any one to assert in effect that there was such an exercise of "thought control" over these registrants that they were actually rendered silent at the registration table. It is similarly obvious that the "abuses" mentioned in Mrs. Fenn's letter are of the same mythical nature.

I am reluctant to say this, but if there is any abuse involved in this entire matter, it is that which Mrs. Renn has directed unjustifiably against both the large number of enthusiastic, civic-minded persons who have taken the trouble to register so that they may vote in the next election, and the hard-working, conscientious City Hall employees who assisted in the registration of these new voters.

WARD LINES REFERENDUM

Editor, Graphic:

The referendum on the ballot November 2nd, to create another ward in Newton should be approved by an overwhelming majority.

The explanation by the Select Ward Lines Committee of the Board of Aldermen is unquestionably a comprehensive statement and merits approval. Should the referendum be defeated, the proposed change will be delayed another 10 years.

Apparently those who have opposed a change in the city charter during the past quarter of a century, have now been convinced that another Ward is necessary to take care of the fastest growing territory in Ward 5 and give the district adequate representation by having three more Aldermen and one school committee member.

Among the Newton members expected to attend are: Mrs. Everett D. Kiefer, chairman of Nurse Recruitment; Mrs. Paul A. Chandler, chairman of Medical Research; Mrs. Harold G. Giddings, Mrs. Archie D. Goldshire, Mrs. Alfred Hauptmann, Mrs. Mark F. Lesses, Mrs. William J. MacDonald, Mrs. Eliot S. Irving, Mrs. Charles G. Hayden, Mrs. Wilmer P. Heath, Mrs. John D. Houghton, Mrs. Lewis S. Pilcher, Mrs. Salvatore J. Messina, Mrs. John Schulman Jr., Mrs.

Each year, this gala event enables deserving and qualified applicants to enter the nursing profession with awards from the Auxiliary's Nursing Scholarship Fund. As result of last year's efforts, five girls, representing Arlington, Lexington, Newton Lower Falls, Watertown and Waltham are enrolled in nursing schools this fall.

"Signature Fashions" will be the theme of this year's showing, supplemented by furs from Samuel Shuman, Boston.

The more than 250 members of Middlesex South extend a warm and friendly invitation to all other Auxiliary districts and their friends to spend an enjoyable afternoon together and at the same time help qualified girls to enter nurses' ranks.

Chairman and co-chairman of the event are Mrs. Benjamin Russman, both of Somerville. Tickets are $5 each and may be obtained by calling Mrs. Bennett at MO 6-1412. Transportation, when desired, will be supplied by the committee.

A membership drive is being conducted locally by the Garden City Chapter of the Massachusetts Widows of World War I.

For information, widows of World War I Veterans are invited to contact the Newton chairman of membership, Mrs. Harold G. Giddings, Mrs.

Archie D. Goldshire, Mrs. Mark F. Lesses, Mrs. William J. MacDonald, Mrs. Eliot S. Irving, Mrs. Charles G. Hayden, Mrs. Wilmer P. Heath, Mrs. John D. Houghton, Mrs. Lewis S. Pilcher, Mrs. Salvatore J. Messina, Mrs. John Schulman Jr., Mrs.

The association has been formed to help widows of World War I veterans get bills and benefits passed for their welfare, and also to give them information regarding the benefits to which they are entitled.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PRAISES GRAPHIC'S EDITORIAL

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I have just read your editorial on the defense of Mayor Whitmore's administration by the Chamber of Commerce. I think the Graphic is to be commended for its forthright position and I join in its recommendation that the Chamber of Commerce tend to its own business and let the City administration defend itself.

If residents feel that the city did not handle the "cleanup" after the two recent hurricanes with efficiency and dispatch, it is not only their right—but their duty to criticize and, if necessary, to vote the rascals out. It is not the duty of the Chamber of Commerce to literally blast anyone, whether it be individual or newspaper who dares to protest.

Perhaps the Graphic will continue to represent the Newton residents rather than the chosen few in City Hall. I sincerely hope so.

Mrs. Gidion Potter

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Our chief executive, Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., was perfectly justified, and should be praised and commended, for his humane and sympathetic kindness, in recommending an increase in salary for certain city employees. His proposal was subsequently passed, approved and ratified at the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

Who were these people that received this salary increase? They were policemen, firemen, department heads, foremen, clerks, stenographers, library personnel, all city hall employees, such as engineering dept., building dept., etc. Last and not least, I must include the water department meter readers, of which I have the honor of being the senior meter reader.

Our city could not function as a governmental unit or organization, unless we had this working force of salaried employees. It is an absolute necessity that we employ these people and pay them a salary, consistent with high taxes, cost of living, position and work performance. This salary should be in keeping; and no more, and no less, than that paid on a fair and impartial basis with other cities of the same size and category. Sometimes it is very hard to compare industry and machines, with city government and people.

Did the salaried employees deserve this increase? As an employee of long standing, I think I am well qualified to answer this question. For years the salaried employees have been taking it on the chin with the rest of the white collar workers. Education and salary compensation seemed to be a deterrent, to a higher wage, with a better standard of living.

The morale of every salaried employee has suffered, with mental distress which affected his efficiency to his employer, the city. Not only that, but quite a few were forced to seek part-time work to supplement their income; the net result was, that both he and his employer (city) suffered, when his physical fitness became impaired.

By granting this increase, the employee has really gained something he had already lost, when past salary increases were rejected. Our former mayor made two proposals for salary increases, towards the latter part of his term, and both times he was refused, to our sorrow.

It is very disheartening to the salaried employee, when he sees hourly paid workers getting more pay than he receives, when formerly his position paid much more than theirs. With accumulated overtime, and the trend towards machine or equipment technique and methods of job operation, the hourly paid employee has lost all of his initiative, to advance himself into a position with salary compensation, and less pay as an inducement.

It is my sincere and honest belief, that this trend is going to be reversed soon; with education, job betterment, ability and business-like aptitudes in great demand, due to the scarcity in the present labor market, of qualified and capable workers.

The white collar or salaried employee, if you may, will then regain his original status and be paid accordingly.

This increase will also create more spending or purchasing power amongst our employees. By creating more purchasing power our economy will prosper. Just the opposite is true when we have less purchasing power, for then our economy suffers. This—together with advancing prices, high taxes and our inability to buy creates an impasse.

With this added increase to their present income, the morale of every salaried employee will tend to rise. New incentive and greater efficiency will result, with a gain in our economy through this extra purchasing power.

In conclusion, may I state that we must never lose sight of the fact, that our employees are people and not machines.

They deal mostly with human beings and this differs greatly with industry and machine production.

With the present rapid growth and population increase of our city, our salaried employees' responsibility will continue to grow in proportion, and with greater work-loads in the future. Finally, I know that all the salaried employees are very thankful, to each and everyone, who contributed in any way, to their receiving this increase, and making the future look brighter.

FAVORS NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Now that election day is approaching, I am earnestly looking forward to some endorsement by the candidates, of resolutions favoring a health program, with lower rates for hospital and medical care in the offing. This could be a State aided health program, that will be of benefit to the citizens of our Commonwealth.

There is a crying need for lower hospital and medical care, and a program of action instituted, with public interest and support in carrying it out. This program would lower and reduce hospital costs for medical care and all related services.

The average man or woman, or those with families to support, cannot and are unable to pay the high, excessive costs, of present day hospitalization.

I am a firm believer in National Health insurance, with federal grants to the state as deemed necessary, and to aid our hospitals. This could cover costs of maintenance, new equipment, etc.; or overall costs which are now quite heavy.

Insurance rates for the individual are bound to advance with increasing hospital rates, and this creates another problem for the man with a family to support. Unless the individual is helped, there is no sense to the government underwriting huge deficits, for hospitals or other so-called charitable institutions.

The main objective of any help financially, is in the reduction of rates to the public, who cannot keep pace with the rising costs, and becomes a burden to the community. The average person wants to pay his own way, and doesn't

Peirce School PTA to Hold First Meeting October 19th

The first meeting of the season of the Peirce School PTA will be held Tuesday evening Oct. 19 at 8:15 at the school auditorium in West Newton.

"Are You Ready to Fight for Your School?" will be the subject of the guest speaker, Dean W. Linwood Chase of Boston University Graduate School of Education.

He will vividly describe "how the forces of political reaction attempt to shape public education to serve their own ends, and how to combat most effectively these well financed attacks that have caused tremendous upheaval in many school communities across the nation."

Preceding the meeting parents are invited to coffee parties in the home rooms for a sociable half hour with their children's teachers and other parents.

Albert R. Beisel Jr. is president of Peirce School P.T.A. The first vice-president is F. Gorham Brigham, second vice-president Mrs. Melvin J. Dangel. Mrs. Burton Johnson is treasurer, Mrs. Robert B. Hull secretary, and Mrs. Francis McDonough corresponding secretary.

The directors are Mrs. Francis L. Kenney, Henry Blake, Andrews S. Macalaster, Lawrence L. Suttenberg. The teacher representative is Carl G. Pohlman. Miss Ann L. Caldwell, school principal, is an ex-officio member of the board.

Rev. Dr. H. Daniel Hawver, superintendent of the Boston District of the Methodist Church, will be guest preacher at the morning service Sunday of the Newton Methodist Church.

Governor's Council Should Function as an Investigating Committee, Maintains Williams

"With the number of investigations and hearings conducted both on Federal and state levels during the past several months, it is surprising that the Legislature has not enlarged the powers of the Governor's Council to attend to these matters," said Councillor David B. Williams of the Third Councillor District of Massachusetts in a recent interview.

"It appears to me that some thirty per cent of these investigations are doomed to failure, or at best cannot come up with conclusive findings, simply because the ponderous, unwieldy size of the group from which investigating committees are presently picked, and the necessary red tape surrounding these groups, make it impossible for investigations to function smoothly, efficiently, and with a minimum of wasted effort and time. The Governor's Council is a small, close-knit body, accustomed to working together on a broad range of matters, and moreover, truly represents the citizens of the Commonwealth who have elected its members," Councillor Williams added.

"In my opinion," continued Williams, "the Governor's Council is an ideally constituted body which could function as a standing committee with power to inquire further into the operation of the government, to investigate various departments if necessary, and to hold hearings in matters of public interest."

David B. Williams, Governor's Councillor for the Third District, consisting of 51 cities and towns in four counties, has been a member of the Council since March of 1953. He is a candidate for re-election this Fall. Elected to the Council from the House of Representatives, Councillor Williams is Chairman of the Committee on Institutions and Real Estate and a member of the Committee on Military and Naval Affairs.

At Infantry School

Lt. Philip L. Kuntz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson J. Kuntz of 26 Covine road, Waban, is attending the Infantry School at Ft. Benning, Ga. While attending Boston University, he received the R.O.T.C. award as the outstanding military senior at U. B., and was graduated with honor in 1954. After his schooling, he plans to enter airborne training for six weeks.

Appointed to Committee

Named to a committee to study matters concerning home rule is Mayor Howard Whittier Jr. The committee was appointed by Gov. Hertler in accordance with a resolution adopted by the Governor's Conference on State, County and Municipal Relations last July.

Rep. Geo. Rawson Bases Campaign On Long Record

Harold Hurst, Democratic candidate for the office of State Representative from Wards 4, 5, and 6 in Newton, has been campaigning actively for the past two months.

In his appeals to voters, he has been emphasizing the need for trained legislators, citing the fact that there is not single Certified Public Accountant in the Massachusetts Legislature. His own training as a Certified Public Accountant and an attorney, he states, will prove invaluable in the important fields of fiscal management, budget appropriations, public utilities hearings and the problem of many agencies such as the M.T.A. and the M.D.C. In addition, the manifold problems of taxation, which are accentuated by the great need for a comprehensive revision of the entire State tax structure, require careful analysis and comprehension.

Mr. Hurst has also indicated that the City of Newton now lacks proper representation in the State House and points out that the function of each legislator is to represent his constituency, not merely to support or oppose the administration. While other communities have been receiving great benefits from public improvements of all kinds, Newton has received little or nothing. In particular, he alleges, we must have immediate relief from the tremendous amount of automobile and truck traffic flowing through the City on account of its geographical situs as the area through which almost all East-West movement to and from the City of Boston must pass. The State has been spending millions of dollars to improve the Northern and Southern approaches to the City of Boston. There is no reason why the City of Newton, astride the Western approaches, should not be similarly relieved. As the Toll Road stands now, ending at Route 128, we are likely to have an even worsened traffic situation as the increased load spills down into our present inadequate thoroughfares.

The candidate has, in addition, strongly condemned the present system of one-party government in Newton on the grounds that it is impossible to have the kind of government envisioned by the founding fathers of this nation when one party is in absolute control, without fear of losing such control, for a long, long period. Minority groups are in effect disenfranchised as well as disheartened. It is not the kind of situation which fosters strength and vitality.

Mr. Hurst is convinced, however, that the voters recognize this fact and will vote for representation, not merely representatives, on election day, November 2nd.

Curtis Urges Legislation to Meet Today's Human Needs

Congressman Laurence Curtis (R-Mass.) in a recent address reported that wonderful progress has been made by the 83rd Congress in the adoption of sound liberal policies to meet human needs.

He pointed out that the 83rd Congress has been recognized by its severest critics as a body that has made great strides in turning away from some of the errors in government which had grown up over a period of years.

"For 20 years," Congressman Curtis said, "I have felt that two of the worst things for our country were (1) undue centralization of power in Washington together with too much government domination of everyday life; (2) wild spending of borrowed money. This meant deficit financing and has led to inflation and a 52-cent dollar."

"I have believed that if we could avoid these two bad policies in government we could go very far in adopting liberal legislation to meet human needs to day," Congressman Curtis said.

"I have had the privilege and satisfaction to have taken part in the effort to turn away from these two bad policies. Today, our country is achieving prosperity based on peace. In recent years, prosperity has depended on the stimulation of war spending. With the end of the Korean War, government war spending has lessened. It was a remarkable achievement that this tremendous tax reduction we enacted in the 83rd Congress placed spending power in the hands of the people which helped to neutralize the decrease in government spending," Congressman Curtis said.

"While government finances were being placed on a sounder basis, great progress was also being made in meeting human needs. The 83rd Congress, in which I had the privilege of serving as a representative of the 10th Congressional District, extended Social Security coverage to 10 million more citizens and their benefits were increased. At the same time Unemployment Insurance was expanded to 4 million more persons."

Congressman Curtis, who won national acclaim as one of the most distinguished first-term congressmen for his fine record, pointed out that President Eisenhower believed that governmental policies should be liberal where human needs and human relations are concerned, but conservative in matters of government financing.

This was emphasized when government appropriations for 1954-55 were cut $34 billion below appropriations of the previous administration.

Congressman Curtis noted that his body initiated a vast highway program; federal aid for hospital and school construction was liberally provided; health research funds were increased; segregation ended in the armed forces, V. A. hospitals and government agencies; Income Taxes were cut 10 per cent; excise taxes were cut 50 per cent; the tax law was revised, effecting a total saving of some $7.4 billion to the people.

At the same time, Congressman Curtis was in the forefront of the fight to correct the injustices of the McCarran-Walter Act, and to liberalize the Refugee Relief Act of 1953, which would permit some 200,000 persons who had fled or escaped from behind the Iron Curtain, or who had been expelled from their homelands to be admitted to this country.

Says Pardons, Paroles and Commutations Must Be Judged

Maintaining that the parole and pardons set-up in Massachusetts should be constantly scrutinized and brought up to date as the need arises, Councillor David B. Williams, Governor's Councillor for the Third District, gave his views on this vital and timely matter in a recent interview.

He has never missed a meeting of any one of his standing committees. Since 1949, there have been 1196 roll calls in the House, and Rep. Rawson has missed only two. Those two came in 1949 when he attended the funerals of a relative and a close personal friend.

Rep. Rawson as always opposed "waste, extravagance and devious political chicanery." He has opposed every increase in the tax burden which everyone has to bear. He killed an attempt to place an inheritance tax on life insurance proceeds, and led the successful fight to kill a proposed tax on deposits in our mutual savings banks, cooperative banks and other thrift institutions.

Now, quite obviously," Williams continued, "the same degree of reform will not take place in every prisoner — some may be psychopathic or habitual criminals while others may simply have never had the opportunity or education to lead a decent constructive life. It would be as unfair to the community to hand out indiscriminate pardons or paroles as it would be unfair to the prisoners to eliminate all pardons or paroles.

"The only right and just way to handle such matters," said Councillor Williams, "is to study each case as an individual, not as a class or type, and to grant or refuse pardons, paroles and commutations from a wholly judicial standpoint having all the facts about the individual case on hand.

Lt.-Gov. Whittier Praises Record

Of Sen. R. H. Lee

The candidacy of Richard H. Lee of Newton for re-election to the Massachusetts Senate was enthusiastically endorsed this week by Lt.-Gov. Sumner G. Whittier.

Whittier declared, "I am glad to hear that Sen. Richard H. Lee of Newton is once again the Republican candidate for the Massachusetts Senate. It was my privilege to serve in the Senate as a colleague of Dick Lee from 1947 to 1952, where I had an opportunity to become familiar with the work which he did.

"Dick is a hard worker on committees and on the floor of the Senate. He likes to get at the bottom of a problem and follow it through. By being willing to give credit to other members, he obtains their cooperation on various projects.

"One of the first bills which he proposed was a bill to permit the sale of colored oleomargarine. He filed the bill and successfully carried it through to law; but in debate and in committee had little or nothing to say about his part in it. This law was a real boon to housewives and has, in fact, resulted in lower prices for butter.

"Dick carried several other important pieces of legislation in the same way. For example, automobile merit rating, which will give us reduced rates for the first time in years. This was a project which he started some years ago and which I was pleased to help along.

"Dick has also been of great assistance in such complex problems as the MTA, where he has been of great help to me and the administration leaders. During the Democratic administration, he stood solidly against the extravagance and waste that were forever being urged upon us.

"I have noticed over the years of my experience, both in the legislature and in executive office, that Newton has sent to the State House a high quality of representatives, of whom the Republican party can be proud. I am sure that the 1954 delegation will live up to the best traditions of the past."

Centenary Church Is Setting For Flood - Swaine Wedding

White snapdragons and gladioli decorated Centenary Methodist Church, Auburndale for the wedding of Helen J. Swaine, 55 West Pine street, Auburndale, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Swaine, to Malcolm L. Flood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Flood of 15 Prindiville avenue, Framingham. Rev. Sydney Adams performed the double ring ceremony at 8 p.m., last Saturday.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Wilfred Swaine. She wore a blue silk dress, a small hat of pink feathers and carried a bouquet of orchids. The maid of honor, niece of the bride, Miss Shirley Ann Swaine of Auburndale, wore a dress of pink moire with a velvet hat and also carried a bouquet of orchids.

The bride's sister-in-law, Lydia Swaine, received with the parents of the bridegroom in the church parlor following the ceremony. Mrs. Swaine wore a dark taffeta dress and a corsage of orchids.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a plum silk dress and carried a corsage of orchids. Arthur Flood of Framingham, brother of the bridegroom was best man. The ushers were Cecil Swaine, Fred Swaine, brothers of the bride, and Allan Swaine and Fred W. Swaine Jr., nephews of the bride.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. Frederick Leiland and Roy Fairweather sang.

After a motor trip to Florida the couple will return Nov. 1 and live at 37 Robinhood road, Natick. The bride is a graduate of Newton High School and she received an M.S. degree from Framingham Teachers College. She has studied at Fitchburg Teachers' College, Boston University and Tufts as well as spending nine months in Australia.

The bride has taught in Leominster and been the director of the Auburndale playground for several years. She is now teaching home economics in Brighton. The bridegroom, a graduate of Framingham High School, attended Northeastern University. He is employed at the Electric Time Company in Natick.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris H. Carey of Malden announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Arlene Claire Carey, to Mr. Lazarus J. Travis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Mishkin of Waban. A May wedding is planned.

Miss Carey is graduate of State Teacher's College in Framingham. Arlene is presently employed as a teacher in the Wakefield schools. Mr. Travis is a graduate of Lowell Technological Institute. Since his return from active duty in Korea, Mr. Travis has been associated with Travis Fabrics, Inc., of New York.

Art Exhibit

Mr. James K. Bonnar opens this season with a one man show at the Newton Centre Women's Club, October 8 through October 21.

Mr. Bonnar is the founder and first president of the Newton Art Association. He is also president of the Copley Society and past president of the Business Men's Art Club of Boston and a member of Rockport and North Shore Art Associations and others.

His paintings are in great demand and he is nationally known as a skilled and brilliant painter of New England scenes.

The public is welcome to visit this fine exhibit at the gallery of the Newton Centre Women's Club.

Last Saturday, Diana Patricia Daly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Daly of Newtonville, at eleven o'clock nuptial mass at Our Lady Help of Christians Church, Newton, was married to John Richard Devine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Devine of Albany, New York. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John J. McNally. Miss Anne E. Dusen, college room mate of the bride was the soloist at the mass. A reception followed at Longwood Towers, Brookline.

The bride's gown of candlelight taffeta had a low basque bodice outlined by crystal pleats, a pleated crescent neckline and cathedral train. Her ivory French illusion veil was held in place by a matching adaptation of a Juliet cap appliqued with French iridescent ice blue and blushing pink sequins. For her bouquet the bride carried a missal with white orchids and trailing ivy and stephanotis.

Mrs. John H. Winn of Cambridge was matron of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids were Miss Anne Marie Daly, also sister of the bride, and Miss Marian D. Devine, sister of the bridegroom. They wore waltz-length dresses of peacock green iridescent taffeta and carried bouquets of gold and bronze pom-poms and chrysanthemums.

Mr. Raymond S. Devine of Albany, New York, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Joseph Reagan of Albany, New York, and Mr. Joseph H. Winn of Cambridge.

The mother of the bride wore a waltz-length gown of French blue taffeta with an American beauty rose velvet hat, elbow-length white kid gloves and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue silk taffeta dress with matching mauve pink hat and gloves and a corsage of white roses.

Among the out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond S. Devine, Albany, N. Y.; Miss Grace Preston, Springfield, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pratt, Newtonville, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koch, Livingston, N. J.; Mr. Joseph E. Daly, Franklin, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs.

W. Sumner Read, York, Pa.; Miss Florence K. Daly, Saint John, New Brunswick; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dodge, St. Johnsbury, Vt.; Miss Anne E. Dusen, Nazareth, Pa.; Miss Elizabeth Jane Merlino, Utica, N. Y.; Miss Barbara Alberts, Schenectady, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Bauman, Port Jervis, N. Y.; Miss Barbara Quinn, Binghamton, N. Y.; Miss Margaret Paggi, Wappingers Falls, N. Y.; and Miss Barbara Carr, Cohoes, N. Y.

The bride is a graduate of Sacred Heart School in Newton and was graduated with the class of 1954 from the College of Saint Rose in Albany, New York.

Mr. Devine is a graduate of Vincentian Institute in Albany, New York and Siena College in Loudonville, New York. He was a member of the 88th Infantry Division in World War II and is a member of Walfert's Roost Country Club, Albany, New York. The bridegroom is a Sales Representative for the National Biscuit Company.

After a wedding trip to Montreal and Quebec City, Mr. and Mrs. Devine will be at home at 740 Clinton avenue, Albany, New York, after November 1.

Engagement of Miss Joan Pierce Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Pierce of 21 Park place, Newtownville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Martha to Mr. Lawrence James Antonelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Antonelli of 31 Woodrow avenue, Newtonville.

Miss Pierce is a graduate of Newton High School and is now employed with Grover Cronin.

Mr. Antonelli is also a graduate of Newton High School and is now serving with the United States Army in Germany.

Local Wrestling Season Resumes Friday at Armory

A doubleheader main attraction—a tag team match featuring the crowd-pleasing midgets and a clash between George Grant and Ray Walker—will usher in the fourth local wrestling season at the West Newton Armory tomorrow night (Friday) at 8:30 o'clock.

As in the past, the bouts will be sponsored by the Burns-Kerr American Legion Post of New顿.

In previous seasons, the matches were held Saturday nights, but, owing to a cluttered Saturday night schedule, promoter Fred Bruno has decided to stage the Burns-Kerr contests Friday nights this season.

son. The new policy will assure local mat fans the best grapplers available, Mr. Bruno said.

Rounding out tomorrow night's program will be a tussle between Rocky Baron, promising newcomer from Billerica, and Tony Enos, mustachioed muscleman from New Bedford.

In the midget melee, flashy Diamond Jim Brady and sad-faced Vince Garibaldi will take on Farmer Pete, leading exponent of the mule kick, and Sonny Boy Cassidy, ruler of the ring runts.

Gorgeous George, perfumed Hollywood honey with platinum blond hair, figures to have his hands full with Montreal's Walker, rugged ex-hockey star.

Dartm'th Women Meet Wednesday

On Wednesday at two o'clock, the Dartmouth Women's Club of Boston will hold the first meeting of the fall season at its new headquarters, The Women's City Club on Beacon street.

The guest speaker, Rep. Harold Putnam, Dartmouth '37, has chosen for his subject, "Dartmouth in Politics."

At 1:15 p.m., Mrs. Maurice E. Frye, the hostess, will be assisted at the coffee table with Mrs. Frank Ford Hill and Mrs. Frederick Y. Briscoe as pourers. Area chairman for the club is Mrs. Walter D. Knight of Newton Centre.

61 Students to Be Honored at Temple Emanuel

Sixty-one students of the Kindergarten and 1st Grade of the Temple Emanuel Sunday School will be honored at the Consecration Service on Simchat Torah, Wednesday, October 20. Participants in the service will be Elaine Shapiro, Esther Wax, Elizabeth Lubell, Betsy Cohen, and Susan Feldman. The consecrants will receive miniature scrolls of the Torah as a memento of their consecration. Rabbi Albert I. Gordon will invoke God's blessing upon them.

The entire student body will mark the occasion with the offering of Sukkot fruit and vegetables, attractively decorated, which they will place upon the altar during the procession prior to the consecration ceremony. These baskets will be sent to several children's homes in the area.

The Simchat Torah Hakofos Service will take place Tuesday evening in the Temple at 7:00.

John Ward P.T.A.

The first function of the John Ward Parent-Teachers Association took place on Oct. 13, at 8:15 p.m., at the John Ward School. Mrs. Joseph Weinreb, chairman of room parents, with the assistance of Mrs. Mileen Rosendery, was in charge of the meeting, which was held for the purpose of introducing the parents of the new pupils to the teachers, room mother chairmen, and the principal of the school, Miss Mildred March. It was hoped that the parents would become more familiar with the methods and policies of the John Ward School. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Bowen School P.T.A. To Meet Oct. 13

The first open meeting of the Bowen School P.T.A. was held on Wednesday, October 13. At 7:30 p.m. the class rooms were opened for parents to visit their child's teacher.

At 8 p.m. a business meeting was held in the school auditorium, and many important issues were voted upon.

A Bowen School Information Booklet containing helpful information on school routines, schedules and outside activities was distributed to parents. This booklet was the first big project of this year's P.T.A. It is hoped that this booklet will prove to be of valuable help to parents for several years. P.T.A. membership cards were also distributed at this meeting.

Mr. Edward M. Clarke, principal, made a complete report on the Evaluation Survey made last year. This report was of vital interest to every parent and teacher present.

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served in the gymnasium.

Newton Sports

In a startling reversal of form, Newton High's unbeaten Tigers stretched the personal win streak of Coach Bud Hawkes to 11 Saturday and at the same time showed the Orange and Black would have to be reckoned with in the Class A title race. The Tigers which beat Brockton 20-14 bore little resemblance to the Newton High squad which edged out Chelsea 7-6 the week before . . . The strong right arm of quarterback Chuck Fogarty fired two first-half TD passes as Newton bounced back from a 7-0 deficit to pull out in front for good. It marked the first time this year that Newton trailed, but Fogarty needed only two plays to get back the touchdown . . . A long and miserable afternoon seemed in prospect when Brockton marched to a touchdown in only six plays after the kickoff, all of them on the ground. So Fogarty—who last week tossed the football like it was a 12-pound weight—unlimbered a rifle-like arm and pitched Newton back into the game . . . His first toss after receiving the kickoff went 43 yards like a bullet to end Ed Yobacco, who was behind the Brockton defenders on the 25. The pass was slightly short, or Yobacco would have been able to get away for the score. So Fogarty promptly made up for that slight oversight with a perfect touchdown peg to end Billy Reilly, who took the heave going full tilt into paydirt . . . The passback for the extra point was missed, leaving the Tigers on the short end of a 7-6 score.

The break of the game came shortly afterwards, when Newton halted a Brockton drive on its own 10. A skyscraping punt fell towards a Newton and a Brockton lad side-by-side, bounded off one and was grabbed by Capt. Don Brigham for what was ruled a Newton ball . . . The head linesman ruled it struck the Brockton player, but Reilly said after the game that it hit him first.

Over the protests of the Brockton coach, the Tigers were awarded the ball on the enemy's 34. Dick Lucier, a slippery and determined runner, flashed around right end to the Brockton 14 . . . Two plays later Fogarty uncorked a running pass to Reilly, who clutched the ball in the end zone as the lone Brockton defender gave an early, hopeless leap at the 6' 2" end. This time Guy Vassalotti booted the ball through the uprights, and Newton had a 13-7 lead at intermission . . . As the second half opened, the Tigers really lived up to their nickname. Clinging to the ground, Newton ground out 74 yards in only five plays for the clincher in the third period. . . . Lucier fled around the right end again with a Fogarty pitchout from the 36, with four blockers clearing the way in front of him. Only one Brockton back remained standing on the five as Lucier approached, and Dick made it into paydirt with a flying leap, carrying the defender with him . . . A stonewall defense by the Tigers stopped Brockton cold to the end of the game, while running plays comfortably ran out the clock for the home team. Fogarty's fumble on his own 27 in the waning moments of the encounter set up the second Brockton tally . . . The visitors' Mike Altieri, who picked up 69 yards on the ground, furnished most of Brockton's attack, carrying 19 times. Lucier gobbled up the most territory for the Tigers with an amazing 80 yards in only five tries.

This Saturday Newton plays host to a potent Watertown eleven, unbeaten but tied by Winchester, 20-20, in a classic ball game. The visitors from across the river will provide an even stronger test than Brockton . . . Watertown has become the perennial Class B titlist, bowing over its share of Class A teams in the process. The Arsenal Towners are no exception this year, and should put on a top-notch display—as those who witnessed last year's game will testify.

Our Lady's debut in the Catholic League for 1954 ended on a sour note Sunday afternoon as Immaculate Conception of Revere upended the Newtonites, 20-6, at Revere . . . Immaculate got off to an early start, scoring two touchdowns on long runs around the ends. The first dent in the Our Lady defense, came when Immaculate Conception halfback Pete DiCarlo, with three touchdowns under his belt the previous week, showed his heels to the Newton squad on a 35-yard scamper . . . In the second period, DiCarlo's running mate, Dick Ross, shook loose on an end run from midfield. DiCarlo tallied the third Immaculate score after a 40-yard romp placed the pigskin on the seven . . . An exchange of punts, with Our Lady's picking up yardage, set up the lone Newton TD in the fourth quarter. Our Lady's outstanding left-halfback George Duffy popped through the center of the line and scooted 53 yards to save the locals from a whitewash job . . . The game was closer than the score indicates, with Our Lady's fumbling once on the Immaculate 13-yard line, and running out of time on the enemy's 20-yard-line at the half.

Honors Members

Newton-Watert'n, Sat. Over WCRB

A coffee hour and reception in honor of new members preceded the first meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Shalom of Newton last Monday at 1:15 p.m.

Mrs. Bernard Swartz, membership chairman; Mrs. Leon Fentin, program chairman, and Mrs. Max Dobkin, welcoming chairman, were on hand to welcome all.

Greetings were extended by Rabbi Murray I. Rothman. Mrs. Murray I. Rothman led the prayer. Mrs. Kenneth Huberman presided, and Mrs. Bernard Swartz was the hostess of the day.

An original presentation, "A Happy Birthday to You," written by Mrs. Aaron Rosenberg and directed by Mrs. Elliot Rosenberg, drama chairman, was presented by the Mmes. Sidney Greene, Bernard Hootstein, Arthur Karol, Bertram Litman, Ralph Rosenbaum, Arnold Ross, and Shepard Yesley.

A recital followed featuring Miss Margaret Moreland, concert pianist.

Plans Completed For Harvest Fair

Final plans are completed for the Harvest Fair to be presented by the Parish of St. Paul, Newton Highlands, on October 15-16. Committee Chairmen, Mrs. Bernard Herman, Mrs. Leonard Bassett, and Mrs. A. B. Evans announce that all the committees report a wonderful Fair in prospect. The Fair will open on Friday the 15th with a Luncheon, planned by Mrs. Willard Rice. The various tables have a wealth of interesting articles for sale. Doll clothes, toys, food, unusual Christmas decorations, aprons and many other items for bargains and gift ideas galore. An unusual Country Store will be presided over by Clifford Dow. Our "Outgrown Shop" is an innovation this year and will be run by Mrs. Leonard Bassett. All members of the family can bolster their budget in this department.

Richard Halligan of 14 Irving street, as co-ordinator of the adult division publicity staff, has been directing work of committees on club bulletins, direct mail, posters and newspaper notices during the October membership roundup.

Cooperating are the dozen educational and recreational organizations in the "Y's" adult program department. Each are sponsoring a series of open house meetings to welcome guests.

Mr. Halligan is a member of the "Y's" Outing Club which sponsors trips every weekend to different places in New England. Its members, young women as well as men, take part in various mid-week activities on the club's calendar.

Mrs. I. Schwartz Heads Luncheon Of Hospital Aux.

The selection of Mrs. Irving Schwartz of Newton as chairman of the Annual Beth Israel Women's Auxiliary Luncheon was announced this week by Mrs. Samuel M. Langer, president of the Auxiliary.

The 1955 annual luncheon, to take place early in May, is the high point of activities for the Beth Israel Women's Auxiliary.

Funds obtained from the luncheon will be used to aid the Beth Israel Home Care Program.

A native of Brookline, Mrs. Schwartz is widely known in Greater Boston for her diversified civic and philanthropic activities for more than a decade. She has been closely identified with virtually every worthy organization in this area and has been a board member of the Beth Israel Hospital Women's Association since 1940.

Mrs. Schwartz, who is currently busy on two fronts for the Combined Jewish Appeal as a member of the Speakers Bureau and the "Committee of 100," declared that immediately following the close of the 1954 CJS drive, she will "concentrate all my time and energies on my new responsibilities to do all in my power to maintain the truly remarkable record of the past luncheon chairmen."

Educated in the Brookline public schools, Mrs. Schwartz is a graduate of Wheelock College where she was active in a number of extra curricular organizations including dramatics and public speaking as well as sports.

During World War II she devoted most of her efforts to the American Red Cross and to her work as chairman of Defense Bonds Committee of the Women's Division of the American Jewish Congress. She was also a Red Cross Gray Lady and for the past two years has been a member of the Red Cross Motor Corps.

Because of her skills in dramatics, Mrs. Schwartz inaugurated and directed the Dramatic groups of the Temple Ohabei Shalom Sisterhood of which she was a board member. She made effective use of her skills in group work while serving as a Cub Scout mother in Newton and as a member of the Newton PTA.

Barton and Cooke Claim Newton's GOP Representatives 'Neglectful'

John P. Barton of Newton and Lawrence E. Cooke of Newtonville, the Democratic candidates for the two State Representative offices from the District composed of Newton proper, Newtonville, West Newton and Nonantum have been campaigning together in a unique effort to consolidate the Democratic and Independent vote in their district.

Barton and Cooke have also been cooperating with the other local Democratic candidates: Jackson J. Holtz for Congress, Endicott "Chub" Peabody for Governor's Council and Leo M. Cannon for State Senate.

Barton and Cooke issued a joint statement today as follows: "The record of Republican representation in the City of Newton is one which few cities would tolerate. So complacent and unproductive has it been that even the most uninformed voter can recognize the results and is becoming aware of the causes.

"Our city has been at the bottom of the list when state and metropolitan benefits such as road improvements, swimming pools, and recreational projects went to neighboring cities and towns. Our city is about to be overrun with traffic pouring off the toll road which is now planned to end at our border and our representatives seem to be helpless to secure any relief. The fact that you may still have to pay two bus fares to make a single bus trip all within the city limits of Newton is largely due to the failure of your Republican representatives to protect your interests before the Department of Public Utilities on Beacon Hill.

"Meanwhile, the voting records of the incumbents disclose a pattern of real solicitude for the insurance companies, public utilities, loan companies and other favored interests to the detriment of the public in general. We believe that our election is assured if we can acquaint all the voters with the facts which merely demonstrate the failures and omissions of the incumbents.

"Our success on November 2 will assure the district of vigorous, fighting, alert representation aimed at bringing Newton back into the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and at protecting the interests of the many rather than the few on Beacon Hill."

John P. Barton is the senior vice-general chairman of the Boston and Albany R. R. System Board of Adjustment and chairman of the Protective Committee of the local Lodge of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks. He is a graduate of Our Lady's High School in Newton. Barton is a disabled veteran of World War II; he served with an anti-aircraft battalion and received seven battle stars. He is married to the former Mary Cavenagh, and they have three children.

Lawrence E. Cooke is a practicing attorney, a member of the law firm of Gottlieb, Hargrave and Cooke. He was educated in parochial and public schools, Harvard College (A.B. 1943) and Harvard Law School (LL.B. of 1949). Cooke served as a naval officer during World War II aboard an L.S.T. in the European Theatre. He is married to the former Jacqueline LaMarche, and they have one child.

Mrs. Schwartz declared that she looks forward to the whole-hearted cooperation of the entire community "because with community-wide interest, support and cooperation we can achieve success in our present endeavours to make certain that the special Home Care Program of the Beth Israel Hospital has the financial aid that is vital for its implementation along the traditionally high standards of the hospital."

Mrs. Schwartz declared that because of her skills in dramatics, Mrs. Schwartz inaugurated and directed the Dramatic groups of the Temple Ohabei Shalom Sisterhood of which she was a board member. She made effective use of her skills in group work while serving as a Cub Scout mother in Newton and as a member of the Newton PTA.

Trio of NHS Students Attend N.E. Girl Scout Conference

"I think it was swell of New England High School to excuse us for the three days so we could attend the New England Regional Girl Scout Conference at Swampscott," Arlene Winger, Newton Senior Scout from Troop 11 spoke for the five girls who attended the conference last week.

Senior Scout Grace Goodale spoke enthusiastically of the key-note address by Dr. Harold Hunt of the Harvard School of Education. Dr. Hunt emphasized that what youth is asking for today is a chance—an opportunity for good communities and good homes, good associations and a chance for real pride in their nation, for a total concern for civilization, and opportunity for real education. "He knew exactly what we feel and said it for us."

The adults and Senior Scouts who attended the conference from Newton have come back with renewed enthusiasm for Scouting and determination to make the movement an increasingly worthwhile one for the Newton.

Fourth Season . . .BIG LEAGUE*WRESTLING*TWO MAIN BOUTS*Gorgeous George*Grant*vs*Ray Walker*and*4-MIDGET*Tag Team Match*—plus—*SPECIAL BOUT*FRIDAY - 8:30 P.M.*W. Newton Armory*School Enrollment

Questions on school enrollment will be asked in addition to the regular inquiries on employment and unemployment in the October Current Population Survey, according to Acting Supervisor J. Ralph Emerson of the U. S. Census Bureau's district office at Boston.

Similar questions last October revealed that about 34.5 million persons in the United States between the ages of five and 34 years of age were enrolled in school, including kindergarten, in 1953 compared with about 32.5 million in 1952.

The expansion of the school population is taking place at all grades and age levels.

There were approximately 2.0 million more pupils in the fall of 1953 than in the fall of 1952. Of this increase, 1.7 million took place among those in regular school and 300,000 among those in kindergarten. Since 1947, kindergarten enrollment has doubled, elementary school enrollment has grown by one-fifth, and high school enrollment by one-sixth.

The current population survey is being taken locally and in 229 other areas of the country during this week.

There are 36,000 nurses enrolled for Red Cross service. More important is the fact that of all the nurses working through some 2,100 Red Cross chapters, 18 of every 19 are volunteer workers.

The Newton Chapter is fortunate to have 146 enrolled nurses. Some 35 are active in the nursing services' program, while 52 are on "stand-by" orders. The nurses, all volunteers, serve as instructors in the home care of the sick, and mother and baby care courses offered by the Chapter. They supply the additional professional help on Bloodmobile visits and answer the call when disaster strikes.

The Red Cross nursing program is designed to provide the country as a whole with more nursing service, both professional and non-professional, to help meet community needs. We should take pride in the service rendered by the Enrolled Nurse in helping to make Newton a better community.

Health for All

NO ATHLETE'S HEART

"Athlete's heart" is a myth, active, however, are physically superior, and so is the average of all the champions tested.

But what of the man who has never been an athlete, who has led a sedentary life until reaching middle age? He is somewhat overweight, has rising blood pressure and sluggish circulation, doesn't sleep well -- just doesn't feel very well. Can he change his ways and start to improve his condition, or is it dangerous for him to begin to be physically active late in life?

He can and should begin to recondition himself, with the approval and guidance of his doctor. With conscientious exercise in moderation and with sensible diet, he can lengthen his life and make it well worth living.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, 1357 Washington St., West Newton, whose sole support is the annual sale of Christmas Seals.

Spotlight on Weeks

CO-OPERATIVE STORE

Within the walls of Weeks Junior High there is a Co-operative Store which is run and supported by Weeks students. The Store is located in room 204. It sells school supplies of all types plus a few extra things such as the useful, plastic-coated Weeks book covers.

The co-presidents of the store this year are Charlie Nahedian and Barry Roberts.

Many students are given the opportunity of working behind the counter before and after school.

Pupils support the store by buying shares in it. Any pupil may buy shares at 10 cents each, to the amount of 5 dollars. At the end of the year, each share, plus a dividend, is repaid to the shareholder.

CHEERLEADERS

One of the groups in Weeks with the most school spirit is the cheerleaders. These nine girls lead cheers at football, basketball, and baseball games and at certain assemblies.

This year's cheerleaders were chosen last year by the gym teachers and the eighth grade teachers.

The lucky girls who became cheerleaders for their ninth grade year are: Ellen Kahn, Grace Broad, Marion Young, Carol Shulman, Charlotte Marden, Pat Ransom, Marsha Brietzke, Sue Duthin and Claudette Sostillo. Ellen Kahn was elected head cheerleader.

The cheerleaders' uniforms consist of a navy blue skirt with a navy cap to match, and a white wool sweater.

We hope this year's cheerleaders encourage the most school spirit, enthusiasm and attendance at games that we have ever had.

Flight Training

Gordon L. Brett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alce Brett, 57 Windermere rd., Auburndale, Mass., has arrived at Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring, Texas, to begin flying training. After completing primary training at Marana AFB, Arizona, Cadet Brett was assigned to this basic single engine school where he will learn to fly the Air Force T-28 propeller driven trainer and the T-33 jet trainer. Successful completion of this phase will qualify him for the silver wings of a United States Air Force pilot.

The shoestring root rot fungus can be dug away from roots if it is detected early. Dead bark should be removed and the wood painted. The disease can be prevented by keeping trees vigorous, especially through fall feeding, and by cleaning up and destroying old stumps and roots of fallen trees that may rot in years to come. Also, avoid bringing in forest soil which may harbor the fungus organism. Soil fills spread around the base of established trees tend to weaken the tree and thus make it more susceptible to attack by this fungus.

At Lowell Mass., not long ago a row of 11 Norway maples went into decline with shoestring fungus. One tree contracted it first from a fill brought in from a forest area. The other 10 became infected in a chain-like reaction through root grafts and the spread of the shoestrings, called "rhizomorphs," through the soil.

Trees in weakened condition usually are targets of the fungus. Often tree owners are unaware of the reason for tree decline. They overlook the toadstools and shoestring signals.

The fungus, winding from root to root and digging under the bark at the base of a tree, resembles a shoestring, black on the outside, white inside.

The mushrooms are fruiting bodies of the shoestring fungus Armillaria which attacks the roots and basal parts of a tree.

The roots die first, then the crown. Shoestring fungus can kill a tree in two to five years. This fungus is widespread in its distribution.

Oak, maple, dogwood, chestnut, pine, spruce and fruit trees are most susceptible to attack, according to Stephen Bachelor, assistant pathologist of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories, although most species of trees can be affected. This disease has not been reported on ginkgo, linden, ash, honeylocust, tulip, poplar, juniper and magnolia. These species should be considered if replanting is desired on the site where a diseased tree has been removed.

Shoestring fungus persists in soils for years. It may attack a tree planted on a site where an oak stump once stood. It can be brought into new areas in soil and forest litter used as a fill or mulch.

Auburndale Residents Blast Relocation of Cement Firm

Confusion ran rampant in City Hall Monday night when nearly 150 Auburndale residents jammed into the aldermanic chambers to protest the relocation of a sand and gravel firm, only to find they had come the wrong night.

Armed to the teeth with objections against a zone change allowing the construction of a cement "batching" plant at 300 Grove street, the spectators were informed they could only speak on the company's petition to construct a garage near the proposed cement plant.

Leonard E. Morrissey Jr., who now lives in Hanover, N. H., was presented with a gold medal for scoring the highest among 9879 candidates taking the May, 1954, certified public accountant examinations. Gerald J. Holtz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Holtz of 12 Westbourne road, Newton Centre, won honorable mention for placing in the top nine in a field of 12,098 candidates in the examinations given in November, 1953.

The 24,000-member national organization of CPA's presents these awards to high scorers in the uniform CPA examination administered twice a year by boards of accountancy in the 48 states, the District of Columbia, Alaska and Hawaii.

Mr. Morrissey, a native of Salem, was graduated from Newton High School in 1943 and studied a year at Dartmouth College and three years at the University of Rochester while serving in the U. S. Navy Supply Corps. He holds the degree of B.S. in Mechanical Engineering from Rochester and a Master's degree in Commercial Science from the Amos Tuck School of Business Administration of Dartmouth College. He is at present an Assistant Professor of Accounting at Tuck, and is associated with Archibald M. Peisch and Company, Norwich, Vt. Prof. Morrissey, who is married and has four sons, resides with his family at 54 Lyme road, Hanover, N. H.

Mr. Holtz ranked highest among candidates in Massachusetts and was presented with a gold medal by the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants. He entered the U. S. Navy last February and is at present in the Supply Department of the pre-commissioning detail of USS Wilkinson.

A native of Boston, he was graduated from Boston English High School and was granted the B.A. degree by Colby College, Waterville, Me., in 1952. The next year he attended the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, Boston, and was graduated with honors.

The Elijah Watt Sells Awards were established 30 years ago by the American Institute of Accountants in memory of the late Mr. Sells, a pioneer in the development of the accounting profession.

Says "Three Quarters of World's People are Illiterate"

"Three-quarters of the world's less her voters can read and people are illiterate, and with illiteracy goes sickness, debt, hunger and oppression," Dr. Frank Laubach, world authority on adult literacy, told an audience of more than 800 in the Newton Centre Baptist church last Monday night, speaking before the fall meeting of the Newton Council of Churches. "I have seen illiterates in every country of the world," Dr. Laubach said, "and every kind of illness and sorrow is theirs. They have borne their burdens in silent despair since the days of the pyramids but today they are awaking to the realization that by learning to read they can change their lot. Every door opens to our literary work. If we reach out to them with what they are so eager for, we can win them for Christianity and democracy. But we have very little time."

The urgency of the need to help these "silent billions" cannot be over-emphasized, Dr. Laubach insisted. In 1956 India will hold another election. Un-

Candidates Vie For Votes Here Tomorrow Night

Congressman Laurence Curtis and his Democratic opponent, Attorney Jaekson J. Holtz will be among the candidates to speak at the political meeting to be held this Friday evening at The Newton Methodist Church, in Fellowship Hall, corner Centre and Wesley streets, Newton Corner. The meeting will begin promptly at 7:45 and it is open to the public.

Among the various candidates to appear and speak will be Senator Richard H. Lee and his Democratic opponent, Alderman Leo M. Cannon; Endicott "Club" Peabody, Democrat, and his opponent, Governor Councillor David G. Williams of Lexington; Representatives Donald L. Gibbs and George E. Rawson, Republicans, and their Democrat opponents, Attorney Laurence E. Cooke and John P. Bar-

Criticize Playground Project Expense at Emerson School

Sharp criticism was levied against the city's lack of coordination in planning construction projects by several irate aldermen Monday night in connection with a $25,000 appropriation for turning a lot beside the Emerson School, Newton Upper Falls, into a playground.

With "great reluctance," the aldermen appropriated the funds—in addition to $20,000 previously earmarked for this—then blasted the lack of planning which allows projects to run out of money when half-completed. A citizens committee was proposed to help draw up plans and estimates on each future project, but nothing definite will be done along this line until the practices of other communities are surveyed.

Chief objector to the playground project was Alderman Winfield C. Anderson, who termed it "typical of the feath-

Bloodmobile Visit Ten Pints Short

Falling short by 10 pints, the West Newton Bloodmobile Visit was still considered a success. 130 usable pints of blood were received at the Second Church in West Newton on Friday, October 15.

The next visit of the Bloodmobile will be at the Congregational Church in Newton Highlands on Tuesday, November 2, from 1 to 7 p.m.

Please call LA 7-6000 for your appointment.

Kiwanis Club 'Starlet Show' Slated December 3 at N.H.S.

The Newton Kiwanis Club has announced that its third annual Starlet Show will be held on Friday, December 3, at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Newton High School. Jim Piersall, outfielder for the Boston Red Sox, journalist and entertainer, will serve as master of ceremonies for the two-hour production.

The proceeds of the Starlet Show go to the fund for underprivileged children. This fund is also greatly aided by those Newton businessmen who advertise in the printed programs.

The Starlet Show is created from the best talent—musicians, dancers, singers, actors, and specialty performers—from the public, private, and parochial schools of the community. Talent auditions will be held on November 13 and November 20.

School children, from elementary through high school, who wish to be auditioned, must obtain an application blank from the office of their schools or from drug stores throughout Newton. Applications must be received by the auditions committee by November 6. Chairman of the auditions committee is William E. Halliday. In charge of production is Mrs. Mary Winn Bullock and she is assisted by Phil Cacciato and Tom Delaney.

Jim Piersall also will help to reward the show's winners, who are selected by ballots cast by each member of the audience.

First place performers in each of the two divisions receive a $50 Savings Bond, while second places are awarded $25 bonds.

All other participants are given $5 Savings Stamps.

Tickets for the variety show can be obtained from members of the Newton Kiwanis Club.

Top Election Races Shape Up as Extremely Close...
Rival Candidates Seek to Overcome Voter Apathy...

The party which does the better job of getting out the vote will win the election in Massachusetts a week from next Tuesday. That is the opinion of this observer after an extensive effort to appraise the ebb and flow of the political tides in what is obviously a bitterly fought campaign.

At this stage of the campaign the races for both Governor and U. S. Senator loom as extremely close. There is little question that Senator Leverett Saltonstall and Governor Christian A. Herter will be fighting for their political lives in the 12 days that lead to election. So, too, for that matter will be their respective challengers, State Treasurer Foster Furcolo and Representative Robert F. Murphy.

As the political picture shapes up at this time, any two of those four candidates could be victorious on election night. It's not inconceivable that a Senator of one party and a Governor of another may emerge from the hot electioneering, because the strength of each of the four contenders appears to vary in different sections of the State.

But in the final analysis the election blue chips are likely to be picked up by the candidates, who can break through the apathy that seemingly envelops members of both political parties and stir their interest to the extent where they will turn out in large numbers on Nov. 2.

but that was scheduled for last night (Wednesday). Many residents were expected to protest at that time, after the Graphic had gone to press.

The large crowd was attracted by the zone change hearing.

test the company's relocation, a pair of petitions containing 410 names were presented to the board. Also going on record against the move were the Auburndale Village Improvement Association and the Auburndale Woman's Club.

A strong plea for the relocation was made by Norman Burn, representing Riverside Sand and Gravel, who said the company either must transfer its operations to 300 Grove street or move out of town.

Only two-thirds of the six-acre lot would actually be used for manufacturing, Burn declared, as the company planned to leave two "buffer zones" on the sides facing homes. Riverside Sand and Gravel has been in business since 1920, and the concrete mixing plant has been in operation since 1935, he continued.

The land it is now located on is owned by S. S. Pierce, which will allow the firm to continue there "only at its pleasure" after the present lease expires in the spring. This may not be very long, stated Burn.

"A gravel truck or a cement truck is not a thing of beauty," he admitted, referring to objections raised many times in the past to the use of Grove street by the company's vehicles. In its new site, the firm would route its trucks along the new entrance to Route 128, missing the residential area entirely.

Burn said the buffer zones and the truck re-routing should overcome the objections of Auburndale citizens. "If I'm wrong," he noted wryly, "I'm sure they will let me know."

They did.

Rev. Walter Holcomb of 247 Grove street claimed the whole hearing was illegal. The company's petition, he said, sought a garage for "cars," while actually trucks and heavy equipment would be stored there. City ordinances, he claimed, clearly make a difference between the two classes of vehicles.

He took issue with Burn's statement that the six-acre tract was swampland unsuitable for home construction. The water level in the "swamp" dropped 40 inches recently when a drain was cleared of debris, and the entire land could be reclaimed with proper drainage facilities.

Mr. Holcomb also disagreed with the company's claim that no extension of the manufacturing zone would be sought after the firm was relocated. "Once the camel's nose is in the tent," he declared, "it is hard to keep the rest of the animal out."

Bryant B. Reed of 248 Grove street said the company "misrepresented itself" in the garage petition, since it was only a part of the overall plans and should be considered in conjunction with the entire relocation project.

When the hour-long hearing had been completed, a show of hands registered 140 opposed to the petition and only four in favor. President Bauckman then apologized for requiring the objectors to appear twice in the same week, and urged scheduling everything pertaining to a problem at the same hearing, rather than dealing with each item separately.

Consideration for the outstanding report of increased business in the suburban Boston area must be given to the individual merchants who stress creative selling methods and normal markups, as well as the resolve to please the customer by having what he or she wants at the time it is wanted—and at an attractive price.

Businessmen in Dedham, Needham, Newton, Roslindale and West Roxbury are prompt to employ new merchandising methods and to develop interesting money-saving sales events in the columns of The Transcript papers. It is further evidence of the strong promotional pull of these weekly newspapers.

The classroom addition to the school, taking away most of the old play area, was originally estimated at $110,000, charged Alderman Anderson. The architect's first estimate upped that to $210,000, and the final amount voted was over "a third of a million," illustrating the weakness of the city's estimating system, he stated.

Both the finance and public buildings committees, which approved the additional expense, did so reluctantly, according to their chairman. Although highly critical of allowing the project to need the money when half-completed, they agreed it would be foolish not to finish the work, especially since the children at the Emerson School would suffer.

The architect's first estimate upped that to $210,000, and the final amount voted was over "a third of a million," illustrating the weakness of the city's estimating system, he stated.

The total cost was reduced to $278,000 by H. Eugene Jones, chairman of the public buildings committee, but he agreed there was "a serious deficiency in the procedures under which we are operating in this city." When estimates were first prepared, he explained, the amount for the playground was based on the average cost for grading a similar-sized lot of land.

Throughout the 10 years that the addition had been planned, the $110,000 estimate was never altered, he pointed out, despite increases in materials and labor. Also, a large rock formation was never included in the estimate.

This rock, Alderman Jones continued, is causing most of the added expense, with drainage and an access road contributing factors. The rock formation is right in the middle of the proposed play area,

Mrs. William R. Mattson

Mrs. William R. Mattson, wife of Alderman William R. Mattson, resident of Newtonville for more than 30 years and one of the foremost Republican leaders in both state and city politics, died early Saturday after a short illness.

For the past four years, Mrs. Mattson has been one of the two members of the Massachusetts Republican State Committee, representing the Middlesex-Suffolk Senatorial District. During the last two years she has served as a member of the executive committee of the Massachusetts Republican State Committee.

For many years Mrs. Mattson served on the board of governors of the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts. She was one of the founders and charter members of the Newton Republican Club, and at the time of her death was a member of the Executive Committee. Mrs. Mattson has served many years as a member of the Newton Republican City Committee, and as a member of the Ward 2 Committee she was elected a delegate to numerous Massachusetts Republican Conventions. She was a member of the First Unitarian Society in Newton.

Surviving are her husband, her daughter, Janet E. Mattson, and her sister, Mrs. Theodore G. Flagg, of Whitinsville. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Herbert Hitchen, D.D., in the Unitarian Church of West Newton on Tuesday.

A Men's Communion Breakfast will be held at the First Church in Newton on Reformation Sunday, October 31. The communion service will be at 8 a.m. Eastern Standard time followed by a breakfast at which the speaker will be Mr. Paul R. Dunn, Assistant to the President and Director of Public Relations for the Andover Newton Theological School.

Mr. Dunn left a very promising career in the insurance field to accept his present position in 1952. Prior to that he had been with the National Shawmut Bank of Boston and the United States Navy, having been released from active service with the rank of Lieutenant Commander in 1945.

Mr. Dunn's topic will be "What it Means to be a Protestant." All men of the community are welcome.

Gov. Herter and Senator Saltonstall both obviously realize this, for the two G.O.P. leaders this week beamed several speeches at the "contented" and "satisfied" voters who, they fear, may sit out the election.

There are factors in this campaign which appear to favor both the Democrats and the Republicans. The so-called political straws seem to be blowing in opposite directions, creating a confusing and puzzling pattern.

If there is any political trend, it is a Democratic one. A political tide showed up in Maine and again in Alaska's weather vane election. Wherever the people have gone to the polls, the shift has favored the Democrats.

On the basis of what has happened in Maine and Alaska, it would be logical to expect a Democratic tide here. Yet, to date none is in evidence. At least, the analysts and pundits haven't detected it, though there are signs of it in some parts of the country.

Favorable factors on the Republican side, apart from the individual vote-pulling strength of Herter and Saltonstall, include the sharp drops in the voting lists in the big Democratic centers. If Representative Murphy, for example, polls the same percentage of votes in Boston, as did ex-Governor Dever, his plurality here over Governor Herter will be from 20,000 to 30,000 votes smaller than was Dever's in 1952.

Yet, the Republicans appear to be confronted with just as great a problem of getting out the vote, as do the Democrats, and there is no assurance that the fall-off in voting will not be just as sharp in the Republican strongholds as in the Democratic cities.

Two other sets of facts also clash head-on. It is a matter of political history that the Republican party in Massachusetts usually fares best in a midterm election and the Democratic party in a Presidential election. But it is also a tradition that the party in power nationally loses ground in a midterm election. Only once this century—in 1934—has there been an exception to that rule.

So the students of politics ponder the conflicting evidence without coming up with any definite conclusion as to what may be expected, when the returns are counted on election night. Even the polls and surveys haven't done much to clear up the situation. Herter appears to have picked up strength in some sections and to have lost some in others. Furcolo looms as extremely strong in western Massachusetts, Saltonstall as powerful in Greater Boston. Murphy is proving an extremely formidable candidate.

Out of that welter of facts and factors the opinion has been reached that the State's two major election battles are extremely tight, that Herter and Murphy are waging a race as close as did Herter and Dever in 1952, when their contest wasn't decided until 14 hours after the polls closed, and that Saltonstall is involved in his hardest fight since he nosed out Dever by a hair in 1940.

If the struggles to serve as Governor and Senator are as close as that and there is considerable reason to believe they may be, then they will be won by the candidates who are most effective in getting out the vote.

Up to now the Democratic and Republican contenders for the State's top public offices have waged sharply contrasting campaigns. Furcolo has pitched his bid for election almost entirely to a series of attacks upon Saltonstall's record. Murphy to an only slightly lesser degree is campaigning on a platform of criticism of Herter's administration.

Except on a very few occasions, Herter and Saltonstall have avoided any direct clashes with their Democratic adversaries and have devoted themselves principally to discussions of their own records, only infrequently hitting back in counterattacks at their critics.

To a degree Herter and Saltonstall are at a disadvantage. A rousing attack upon someone else is always more colorful and interesting than a recital of one's own accomplishments, however, notable the latter may be.

Herter and Saltonstall, on the other hand, are both better known than their Democratic opponents, though their advantage in that respect is not nearly as great as it was two months ago. But whether that will be enough to enable them to beat back the challenges of Murphy and Furcolo is uncertain.

Looking back now over the political events of the past few months, it seems apparent that one of the favorable breaks Murphy received was when former Attorney General Francis E. Kelly decided to run against him in the primary. Murphy ironically, was highly disappointed at the time that Kelly moved in to oppose him.

But the primary campaign enabled Murphy to make himself better known to voters across the State and to command attention he would not have received had he been unopposed, and the victory he gained over Kelly gave him increased prestige and a momentum that carried over into the present campaign.

For Saltonstall the present experience is a new one. He has never had a real fight for the Senate. His opponents in 1944 and 1948 were pushovers, and he is battling in this campaign, as he hasn't fought since 1940.

Governor Herter has given the State a good administration for the past 22 months. Four or five months ago, his reelection to a second term seemed as close to a sure thing as anything can be in politics.

One of the reasons that the Democratic trend which has shown up in Maine, Alaska and other parts of the country isn't so noticeable in Massachusetts is that Herter and Saltonstall are individually so strong. Yet, the trend against them is potent enough so that both men have hard fights.

A combination of even a slight Democratic trend and an inability to break through the apathy in their own party could mean election-day disaster for both Herter and Saltonstall.

The forecast that the races for Governor and Senator will be tight and that the margins of victory in both contests will be small is based on the assumption that the fall-off in voting below the 1952 level will be about equal in the two political parties.

The picture could be changed completely, if that does not prove to be the case. If one party is more successful in getting out its voters and the other is hampered by a large stay-at-home vote, a close contest could turn into a political rout.

This observer has the impression that the real role President Eisenhower will play in the critical stages of this campaign will be to strive to stimulate public interest and to bring out the vote.

The President apparently has abandoned the idea of taking to the political hustings. He is not coming to Massachusetts to climax the campaign here, as it was originally thought he would, and neither is he going to directly enter the contests in a number of other key states.

Prominent Republican leaders are privately worried about the outcome of this campaign. They know that the roof usually falls in on the party that is apathetic. They know, too, that there is a much greater danger of apathy within a party that is in power than in one that is out. They consider that they have good candidates, and they're satisfied with the records and issues on which their office-seekers are campaigning. But they're not at all sure that they're getting through to their own voters.

One thing, incidentally, that is clear is that Messrs. Herter and Saltonstall are the strong men of the Republican ticket and that the hopes of the other members of the G.O.P. slate ride with the two men spearheading the Republican fight in Massachusetts.

This writer would make the prediction that if Herter and Saltonstall should be defeated a week from next Tuesday, the entire Republican ticket will go down with them. We have been able to find no evidence that Lieutenant Governor Sumner G. Whittier or any other member of the G.O.P. "team" is strong enough to survive, if Herter and Saltonstall do not.

The converse is almost true on the Democratic side, with the exception that one or two Democratic candidates might stand up, even if their leaders falter. But the contest for Lieutenant Governor probably will follow the trend of the gubernatorial race.

James Lee Roper, who is being held on a murder charge in the Baraboo, Wis., jail, dropped a note to Town Clerk Carl Hirschinger in which he said: "It may be inconvenient for me to get to the polls to vote; I would like an absentee ballot."

A young man walked into a hardware store in Glendora, Calif., asked to see a .45 caliber automatic pistol, was shown a $65 model, requested ammunition, carefully loaded the revolver, then held up the clerk and walked out with $41 and the pistol.

A $10,000 suit has been brought in a Hackensack, N. J., court by Albert Kuiken, 64, who alleges that Theodore H. Mastin, Sr., cut down a tree while he, Kuiken, was perched in the upper branches. We can't understand why Mr. Kuiken didn't come down when Mr. Mastin began to chop unless the latter can cut down a tree awfully fast.

Democratic U. S. Senator James E. Murray is seeking reelection in Montana at the age of 78, and, as you might assume, his age is a factor. His Republican opponent, who is 65, is urging the voters to elect a young man. Maybe we're not so old after all.

A Vienna judge looked up in surprise when Gustav Haubert asked that he spend his three-months sentence on a specially hard cot and that his meals be reduced to the barest minimum. "I have decided to go into a monastery after I leave jail, and I want to get in training," explains Gustav.

Halloween Spirit Resounding Throughout High School

The ninth annual Newton schools' Hallowe'en dance will be held at the Totem Pole Ballroom.

The High School's annual "spooky night" dance was inaugurated in 1944. Heretofore, the dance had been held in various community and church halls throughout the city, but an ever increasing attendance made the search for larger quarters necessary. This problem was solved by Mr. Thomas L. Gill, who for years has generously given the Totem Pole to Newton High School annually on Hallowe'en.

The now famous spirit of '44 brought about greater enthusiasm than was thought possible. On Hallowe'en of that year, over 1600 students swarmed to the Pole, proving that Newton High students are the most community and school spirited citizens that one could hope to find.

Mrs. Ragna Hovagaard of the Recreation Department and general chairman of the city-wide Hallowe'en program, has contributed greatly to the continued success of these dances, a success helped along by Newton citizens, regardless

Alpha Chi Omega Alumni

Boston Area alumnae of Alpha Chi Omega were entertained at a dessert luncheon at the home of professor and Mrs. Lee Chrisman, 23 Trowbridge Avenue, Newton recently.

Mrs. Arthur C. Cope, having just returned from the installation of a new chapter at Lubbock, Tex., where she appeared on a television show outlining the altruistic work nationally and locally, gave her report of the experience. She is secretary of the national organization.

Her work at the Dr. Walter E. Fernald School of Waltham was the subject of the main speaker, Mrs. L. Justus Carroll who works with mentally retarded blind children. Self-help toys and equipment are being made by Alpha Chis.

A $75 gift to improve the beauty of the chapel at Metropolitan Hospital was ordered for sending and the cookie allotment sent there was increased by 25 per cent.

Others attending the luncheon included Mrs. Lucius B. Wheeler and Mrs. John Cinkosky of Newton.

The monthly bridge was held at the home of Mrs. Lucius B. Wheeler, 94 Park Avenue, Newton, yesterday (Wednesday).

James Lee Roper, who is being held on a murder charge in the Baraboo, Wis., jail, dropped a note to Town Clerk Carl Hirschinger in which he said: "It may be inconvenient for me to get to the polls to vote; I would like an absentee ballot."

I'd be so gay the livelong day And hardly ever sulky, If I could lose Those A.M. blues From getting up so early.

If I could choose my hours of snooze (A minor favor, surely!) I'd just as soon Sleep on till noon (And even that's too early!)

O, when I stand with hat in hand At Peter's gate so pearly, I'll have no cares If only there's No getting up so early!

St. Paul's Center For Blind Starts Course in Fencing

Dr. Gordon Connor, administrator of St. Paul's Rehabilitation Center for the Blind, Center street, Newton, announced last night that a course in fencing for blind trainees has been inaugurated at the center.

Ten trainees, including three women, started the course this week under the tutelage of Lawrence Dargle, of Lexington, instructor in fencing at Boston University and the Sargent School. Dr. Connor stressed the value of fencing in the training of the blind through its teaching of mental agility, control of balance, quick recovery in unusual situations, and locating objects by touch or sound.

St. Paul's is the only rehabilitation center for the blind in New England; it is a branch of the Catholic Guild for the Blind, located in Boston.

Message From Benjamin Shattuck, Newton Red Feather Chairman

Sunday, October 24, will be Red Feather Day throughout Metropolitan Boston. The Red Feather Campaign will be mentioned at church services. At 11 a.m. Dr. Howard Thurman, Dean of the Chapel of Boston University, will deliver a sermon over two Boston television stations and five radio stations on "The Joy of Giving." Approximately at noon, sky writers will be over the city featuring Red Feather. All day there will be radio and television spot announcements and programs. In the afternoon and evening Red Feather solicitors will be calling on their neighbors and friends for contributions towards the 1955 needs of the 13 Newton Community Chest agencies and the more than 275 Red Feather services in Metropolitan Boston.

It is our sincere hope that our Newton friends and contributors will be ready to receive our volunteer solicitors and give generously in this Campaign toward the needs of others who may not be as fortunate as we are. Increased contributions from the substantial portion of our contributors and new gifts from those who have moved to our City in the last 12 months plus those, who for one reason or another, did not give last year will make our Campaign a real success.

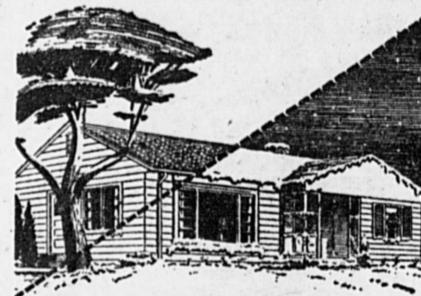

May we count on you?

Benjamin Shattuck

Miss Constance Ford Married to Dr. Svein V. Toverud

Wearing a gown of cream satin with a bertha of heirloom Brussels lace, her illusion veil caught to a band of satin and pearls, and carrying a bouquet of white chrysanthemums, stephanotis and white camellias, Miss Constance Coolidge Ford became the bride of Dr. Svein V. Toverud, son of Dr. Guttorm Toverud of Oslo, Norway. The four o'clock ceremony last Saturday afternoon in the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre, was performed by the Rev. Russell Bishop, assisted by Dr. Everett C. Herrick. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Montague P. Ford of Newton Centre.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had Mrs. Douglas Alton of Newton Centre, her sister, as matron of honor, and Mrs. Charles McGill of New York City; Mrs. Ward Stoops of Brookline; Mrs. David Morse and Mrs. Dean Seibel, both of Newton Centre, as bridesmaids. They all wore emerald velveteen ballerina gowns, and carried rose chrysanthemums to match their hairbands. The ring bearer was Douglas Alston, Jr., of Newton Centre.

Dr. Leonard D. Garren of Boston was best man. Ushers were Mr. Douglas C. Alton of Newton Centre, brother-in-law of the bride; Mr. Ward R. Stoops of Brookline, Mr. J. Joseph Ferri of Boston, and Mr. Carl Brownberger of Glendale, Calif.

The bride was graduated from Denison University and from the Chandler School for Women. The bridegroom was graduated from the Harvard School of Dental Medicine in 1954. They will make their home in Boston.

Says Mr. Piffin as the engine puffs to a halt, "that will give us plenty of time to spend an hour at The Country Store and to examine all the nice things they have there."

"I do so want to see the fall blouses and skirts I've heard so much about," says Mrs. Piffin, "but all those tartans are so confusing. I don't see how in the world they ever keep them straight."

"Practice, my dear," chuckled Mr. Piffin, "after all The Country Store has had authentic clan tartans in skirts and shirts as well as caps, bags and scarfs for a long, long time."

AS PART OF the "Succoth" Harvest celebration at Temple Shalom of Newton Religious School, pupils brought gaily decorated baskets of fruit to the Succah, the temporary tabernacle which symbolizes this festival. "Succoth" commemorates the temporary sojourn of the children of Israel in the wilderness on their way from Egypt to the promised land. It also commemorates Harvest celebration in Bible times. The fruit was presented to the Peabody Home for Crippled Children and Perkins Institute for the Blind. (Photo by Corman of Newton)

Harvest Fair

A Harvest fair and supper will be held at the Newton-Wellesley Methodist Church on November 16 and 17.

Let us welcome you at 2 p.m., November 16 to the grand opening of the Country Store where you will find home cooked relishes, jellies and other delectables. Try on and buy a beautiful print apron made just to suit your discerning taste. Have your handwriting analyzed by "Alice the Analyst". Munch on a sweet from our old time penny candy counter while you wander about the room and stop to admire the dolls dressed in costumes from all over the United States. Select a gift for a child at the Toy Counter. The White Elephant Table will fascinate all of you bargain hunters. The youngsters' eyes will sparkle when they reach for a grab from the old cookie barrel. There will be ice cream and tonic on sale for them too.

You may decorate your home and chase away the winter gloom with a cheery plant from our miniature greenhouse.

Complete your Christmas list at our Fancy Counter—let your fancies roam here among the lovely things made by our women.

You will find many a delightful surprise as you wander about our Country Store. And don't miss the Old-Fashioned Supper on November 17 at 6:30 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Leon Hardy at LASell 7-0261.

Next week I will have more details for you, so watch for further announcements!

Kingwill, the Rector of St. John's Church will be the speaker. Hostesses for the refreshments will be Mrs. Harold C. Martin, President of the Evening Circle and Mrs. Scott Brent.

Open House to Feature First Meeting of Mason-Rice PTA

Open house in the classrooms will be featured at the opening meeting of the Mason-Rice Parent Teachers' Association on Tuesday evening, October 26 at 8 p.m. in the Mason School Auditorium.

New members of the Mason-Rice teaching staff will be introduced to parents by Miss Ruth Dority, principal and welcomed by Walter Dietz, Jr., PTA president. Included in the auditorium program will be reports by Thomas DeWan, chairman of the building committee, who will discuss recent developments in the campaign to replace the present Mason and Rice buildings and Dr. David Kopans, membership chairman. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Crevoshay are program chairmen.

At individual "open houses" in the classrooms, parents will have an opportunity to meet the teachers, learn what their children will study this year and receive copies of "Home-School-Community," the widely acclaimed Annual School Report prepared by the PTA Council. Refreshments will be served in the classrooms under the supervision of Mrs. Walter Muther. Room mothers will act as hostesses in each classroom, organized by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Berman for the Mason School and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Feinberg for the Rice School.

The Mason-Rice Swap Shop, known as "the bargain basement in the attic," because of its location on the third floor of the Mason School will again be open for business on Wednesday afternoon, October 27.

The Centre Building Association of the West Newton Community Centre is holding the semi-annual Rummage and Food Sale on Tuesday, October 26, at 7:30 to 10 in the evening. This "looked to event" will be held in the Davis School, West Newton.

The proceeds of the sale will go to the Building Fund for a new headquarters, to be located on Cherry street in West Newton.

The Centre Building Association by permission of the Community Chest, conducted a fund drive to construct an adequate building for the many programs sponsored by the center.

Mr. Maxwell Gaddis, building fund chairman, presented Blue Prints of the new building at the Board of Directors meeting.

The entire program of the center is now being conducted in the Davis School, due to the complete destruction to the Portable, by vandalism during the summer. The Center, a Red Feather Service, conducts programs for all age groups.

Mrs. James A. MacLachlan, chairman of the Rummage and Food Sale, is being assisted by the Board of Directors.

A million new homes are being built in our land each year, compared with 600,000 ten years or so ago.

Dr. Amiya Chakravarty to Speak on East-West Relations

Dr. Amiya Chakravarty, noted authority on East-West relations, will be the second speaker Sunday night, October 24, on the World Vision lecture series being presented by The First Baptist Church of Newton Centre. He will also make a second appearance on Sunday evening, October 31. Mrs. Anna Canada Swain will be the final speaker on November 7.

Dr. Chakravarty, who is now Visiting Professor of Comparative Oriental Religions, Boston University, was a close friend and counsellor to Mahatma Gandhi, and official advisor to the Indian Delegation at the United Nations from 1950 to 1953. He holds degrees from St. Columbus College at Hazaribagh, Patna University and Oxford and holds Fellowships at numerous colleges and universities. He has been a leader and representative for India at numerous world conferences and has lectured and taught extensively in the United States.

Casserole suppers at 5:45 for church members and friends will precede the lectures each Sunday evening. Lectures are from 7:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. and are open to the public. World Vision classes for Junior High and Junior students will be held during the same periods and will be conducted by Mrs. Frank C. Rideout and Mrs. James H. Burns.

Mrs. Ronald W. Adams is chairman of the committee in charge of the World Vision series. Other members of the committee are: Mr. and Mrs. Max Braunerger, Mrs. Rhoda Chase, Mr. Charles E. Downing, Mrs. Fred Field, Mr. Leroy Gould, Mrs. Walter Harrelson, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kautz and Mrs. Varton Konian.

Last year diplomatic representatives of the United States were sent to 76 countries, according to the "American Peoples Encyclopedia 1954 Yearbook." Of these representatives, 68 were ambassadors and 8 were ministers.

P.T.A. Council Executive Bd. Meets to Discuss Program

More than forty-five members of the PTA Council Executive Board, its officers and guests were present last Thursday evening, for the regular monthly meeting held in the office of Dr. Harold Gores, superintendent of schools.

Melvin J. Dangel, president of the Council, announced that the group comprising as it does the presidents of twenty-seven local PTA's would require a more spacious meeting place. The School Department invited the Council's Executive Board to use one of the newly decorated rooms in the Old Peirce School which now houses the Division of Guidance and Counselling. The next meeting of the group will be held there.

Horace Ransom, ex-president of the PTA, reported for the committee which was appointed to assess the organization in view of its rapid growth and make suggestions for by-law revisions if needed. The committee felt that the Council's purposes need broader explanation and pointed out its two general functions: 1. That of self-help, the exchange of ideas between related PTA groups such as the junior high schools, and 2. City-wide projects such

Colored Pictures of Flowers, Fruit and Trees To Be Shown

Patty Atwood, widely known as "the lady with the magic carpet of colored pictures," will present "Flowers, Fruits and Trees from Near and Far" before members and friends of the Newton Highlands Garden Club on Tuesday evening, October 26 at 8 p.m. in the Parish House of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church.

From Mrs. Atwood's library of 20,000 colored kodachromes—1125 slides of flowers, fruits and trees have been catalogued and a selection of 400 will be presented.

The presentation will include an unusual and fascinating compilation of public and private gardens, native markets, flower festivals, fruits and trees as photographed in 25 different countries.

In Europe from the trollius and forget-me-nots of the North Cape of Norway, through Sweden, Denmark, England, Scotland, Ireland, Switzerland, Austria, Germany, France, Lichtenstein, Italy, Luxembourg, Sicily, Spain, Portugal and North Africa, a fascinating variety is presented.

While South America, Mexico, Guatemala, Yucatan, Bermuda, the islands of the Caribbean and Hawaii of the Pacific, produce a floral paradise.

Charming Canada and Your Land and My Land have indeed much of beauty to be enjoyed.

Hold Consecration Ceremony At Temple Reyim

On Wednesday morning October 13, the new children of the primary divisions of the Temple Reyim Religious School took part in a Consecration Ceremony. This ceremony was part of the eight day Festival of Sukkos celebrated at the Temple. All children attending the service brought Thanksgiving offerings of fruit which were sent to the Home for Jewish Children.

The new children were welcomed to the school by Rabbi Harold D. Kastle and were presented with plaques of the Ten Commandments as gifts from the Temple.

At the conclusion of the services the children took part in the annual Sukkah party in the Temple Sukkah.

The committee for children's services is headed by Mrs. Samuel Silver. The sukkah was constructed by a committee headed by Mrs. Lewis Alfred.

To Hear Three Talks at Meeting

The Human Relations Committee of the Newton Community Club presented three speakers from International Student Center at Mrs. Morgan Campbell's home, 293 Franklin street, on Monday, October 18.

Mrs. Hardy, Chairman, turned the meeting over to Mrs. Ashley D. Burt who introduced Miss Michele Rottiers and Mr. Henri Joannis from France and Mr. Jim Hogg from New Zealand.

Miss Rottiers, a graduate student at Radcliffe and former instructor at Mt. Holyoke told what the United Nations means to the French and spoke particularly of the 5 points of the Compromise on Disarmament, worked out by France and England and which will be debated at the U. N. General Assembly.

Mr. Hogg, a 2nd year graduate student at Harvard said New Zealand has been taking an active part in international affairs since 1945 and has been effective on one of the main committees of the United Nations.

Mr. Joannis also a 2nd year graduate student at Harvard gave an account of his experiences as a United Nations interpreter and told of the difficulties involved in simultaneous and consecutive translating.

The Basic Idea Behind the All-New 1955 PONTIAC

On Display October 29 and 30

ABOUT 30 years ago General Motors Corporation presented to America a new car called Pontiac. This new car was the direct result of a very specific idea.

The idea was this: to create a car which took its style, its engineering principles and its features from the very best and most expensive in America—and to build these into a car priced just above the very lowest!

Naturally, such an idea produced a wonderful and highly popular car—a car which millions of satisfied owners have driven with outstanding pride and pleasure.

Now, nearly three decades later, an entirely new Pontiac has been created for 1955—a car completely new from the ground up!

One thing, however, about the 1955 Pontiac remains unchanged—its basic idea—to offer the American public the very finest car that can possibly be built to sell at a price within easy reach of any new-car buyer.

Forecasts Record Halloween Attendance

Ernest G. Angevine, general chairman of Newton's neighborhood halloween committee, announces the number of children participating in this year's parties will set an all-time record, with an estimated attendance of around 15,000, from kindergarten through senior high school, at the more than 250 separate parties scheduled.

C. Evan Johnson, recreation commissioner, and Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, recreation supervisor, have arranged, through the Newton recreation department, a picture display of the halloween program, as well as recreation activities, in the main lobby of city hall. Mayor Howard Whitmore invites all Newton residents to view the exhibit. The detail work in the preparation of this year's larger celebration is handled by more than 1500 men and women, working as members of innumerable committees. Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, general program chairman, announces the following statistics:

More than 530 pupils, from kindergarten through grade 6, are expected to participate in the Angier School parties, from 6 to 8:30 p.m., according to George D. Mason, building chairman. The entertainment schedule will include a cow-girl guitar, a male juggler who makes animal figures out of toy balloons, which he will teach the children themselves, how to make. These acts will be for the first through sixth grades. The cow-girl will also visit the kindergarten rooms, the fifth and sixth grades will have fun in a chamber of horrors. Movies will be shown.

But the girls will be the major attraction because both exude color and mat savvy. They are not strangers by any means. In previous clashes, Moolah has usually prevailed, but only after savage struggles.

The strutting, tempestuous Moolah wears her crown at a jaunty angle, confident she can whip all comers. Her mat philosopher can best be summed up by the words "win at any cost." And she does, too.

Her violent temper and arrogance have enraged both fans and foes, but undeniable talent, strength and endurance have combined to keep her atop the

Newton Sports

Newton's two-season unbeaten streak under Coach Bud Hawkes may not have been broken Saturday, but it was seriously dented by a fleet, aggressive Watertown eleven as the two teams battled to a 13-13 deadlock.... Although two breaks gave Watertown the opportunity to climb back from a 13-0 deficit in the opening minutes of the third quarter, it was the hard play of the Watertown line that made the difference. The hard-charging Arsenal Town forwards fed Tiger quarterback Chuck Fogarty a steady diet of pigskin all afternoon, completely thwarting Newton's passing attack but for one occasion.... Hamped in the line by the absence of Dan Paglia, who was injured in the Chelsea game, and Capt. Don Brigham, who was bumped on the head in the first play of the game, Newton didn't have the brawn to cope with the rugged Arsenal linemen. Watertown outrushed the Orange and Black 120 yards to 86, and also completed four passes to Newton's one, gaining 34 yards overhead to the home team's 17!... What may have proved the key to keeping Newton in the ball game was Watertown's three fumbles lost to the Orange and Black's single bobble. The tie interrupted Newton's win streak at 11 straight, and stretched Watertown's unbeaten string back to last year's Newton game, won by the Tigers 28-13.

The Orange and Black broke into the scoring column in the second period with a steady ground march following the recovery of a errant ball on the Newton 38. The march was sparked by Dick Lucier's 28-yard sprint around end to the Watertown 11.... On a fourth down situation on the 10, Fogarty spun to his right and charged through right guard. Chuck seemed stopped at the five but then drove into paydirt with about half the Watertown defenders hanging on him.

Mike Vassalotti split the uprights with his point-after try, giving Newton a 7-0 lead. Three plays later, Watertown fumbled on its own 23 and the Tigers again took over.... Newton quickly scored again as Fogarty, apparently due for another lacing by the oncharging linemen, calmly flipped the ball over their heads to fullback Bobby Lee, who barreled down the sidelines behind a mass of blockers. Vassalotti's point after try was blocked, and although it didn't look like much at that time - it meant the difference between victory and a deadlock.... Watertown kicked off to open the second half, and the Tigers got back to the 21. The second play of the half saw Fogarty toss a jump pass over center into the waiting arms of Watertown end Bob LoPrete on the 25.... Six plays later halfback Nick Deldon bounced into the end zone from the three. The kick was wide to the right of the goalposts, leaving Newton a 7-point margin.... But two plays after the kickoff the Tigers again lost the ball as Bobby Lee lost control of the pigskin just past his own 20. The villain of the afternoon, LoPrete, pounced on the ball. This time Watertown needed only five plays to pull within one point.... On the point-after try, LoPrete—that name again!—lined in the kicking slot but tossed a soft lob end Dick Berardino all alone in the end zone to cinch the verdict.

Both teams struggled to break the deadlock thereafter without success. Newton started the most dangerous march, penetrating into Watertown territory apparently with a full head of steam. But the Watertown line refused to give an inch on a vital fourth-down play, and that was it.... The line did it. Fogarty, a top-notch passer, tried to throw eight times, but could only get rid of the ball on four of these occasions. These huge losses, always with two or three burly linemen upon him, gave him a minus 23 rushing total for the afternoon despite several brilliant runs.

Our Lady's High School, bouncing back from a pair of losses, tramped a hapless St. Charles of Waltham squad, 31-0, Sunday afternoon in a Catholic League Division 3 battle at Allison Field.... Sharing honors for the Newton team were freshman quarterback Tony Gentile, starting his first game, and veteran halfback George Duffy. In nine carries, Duffy rolled up 72 yards personally and tallied once, while Gentile directed a flashing attack which scored three times in the first quarter. He picked up one 6-pointer himself in the third period.... The chance of a lifetime for a lineman to make a touchdown was presented to tackle Bob Gallagher when a punt was blocked on the St. Charles three, and the lineman gathered in the ball in the end zone to break into the scoring column.... Other scorers for Our Lady's were halfback Bova Rufo, who sprinted up the middle for 42 yards, and fullback Fred Dubois, who made it into the end zone from the three.... Our Lady's picked up a total of 184 yards rushing, while St. Charles had a miserable minus 43. The Waltham team did most of its gaining through the air completing six out of 12 passes for 79 yards gained, but it wasn't enough to threaten Our Lady's goaline.... St. Charles actually reached paydirt in the third period on what appeared to be a 61-yard pass play. However, an official ruled that the pass was trapped by the receiver striking the ground first — and Our Lady's was able to maintain the shutout from then on.

Fall Meeting of Federation Of Women's Club Monday

The Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will hold the Fall meeting Monday, October 25, at 3:00 p.m., at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House. For the past few years this meeting has been an observance of United Nations Day and the public is cordially invited to attend. Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold, past president of the New Hampshire Federation of Women's Clubs, and chairman of the United Nations Specialized Agencies of the General Federation of Women's Clubs will be the speaker. Her subject is "The U.N.—A Long Term Investment."

National Chairman Morehead Patterson of the U. S.

Combination of Youth and Experience

Occasionally, and perhaps not often enough, youth and experience are combined in one individual. The result is always well worth noting.

Governor's Councillor David B. Williams, a young man who has accomplished much in public service, began his political career at the age of 15 as one of the original members of a Young Republican Club in 1934. At 28, he served as Clerk of the District Court of Central Middlesex, being the youngest Clerk of Courts in the Commonwealth. Today, at 35, Councillor Williams is the youngest member of the Governor's Executive Council and a candidate for re-election for the Third Councillor District, the largest in the state. People have come to realize that there must be something unique about a man who can be entrusted with the responsibility of the vast leases and rentals of the Commonwealth, amounting to $200,000 annually, and that's Williams' job as Chairman of the Real Estate Committee. And while that's not the sum total of what he has to do, by any means, it's an interesting proof of his ability.

In addition to his arduous duties as Chairman of the Real Estate Committee, Councillor Williams is a member of the Committee on Military and Naval Affairs which is a board of Veterans' Appeals.

There is none of this life in the abstract for David B. Williams. No candidate for an ivory tower, he. And it's quite in character with the man and his energy that he should be the spearhead of many charitable and civic endeavors — Red Feather, Red Cross, and others. He is also Past District Deputy of the Elks, Past Treasurer of the Grange, Past President of the Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the Eagles, Moose, Lions, and several sportsmen's clubs.

W. N. Women's Educational Club

The Hobby Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold its first meeting of the new club year on Friday, October 22 at the home of Mrs. Percival Waters, 11 Hunnewell street, Wellesley Hills. Dessert-coffee will be served at 1:30 p.m. by the hostess, with Mrs. C. Roy Rook the co-hostess of the day.

Following the business meeting conducted by the new leader, Mrs. Homer A. Lucas, there will be a "white elephant" sale of articles donated by the members of the class.

Committee Asks Citizens to Observe United Nations Week

In a proclamation, Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. called on the citizens of Newton to observe October 17th through October 24th as United Nations Week. A steering committee of five, headed by Harold A. Worcester, city librarian, and including Mrs. Louis T. Billings, Arthur T. Gregorian, Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst, and Mrs. Ralph R. Shrader, were appointed by the Mayor to coordinate the activities of churches, schools, libraries, clubs, and civic organizations in order to make the observance city-wide.

Copies of the proclamation and the United Nations Prayer have been mailed to ministers, priests, and rabbis to be read on United Nations Sunday, October 24th. In addition, directors of religious education have been sent packets of material and posters regarding UNICEF (United Nations Children's Fund) and a play for use in church school assemblies. Through the religious organizations in Newton, the children of the city will be able to contribute their gifts to the 60,000,000 "Children of the World" in 72 countries who are being saved from starvation and disease through the work of UNICEF.

In the elementary schools, the junior high schools, and the High School, to which the Committee also sent poster sets and packages of material telling the story of UNICEF, an educational program has been conducted this fall. Displays, dramatizations, art exhibits, and films have increased the understanding of the United Nations and its specialized agencies. In several schools during the week U.N. assemblies will be held to which the parents will be invited.

Literature is available in the Main Library and the branch libraries, and U.N. displays are being featured. Further information regarding any department of the United Nations, as well as lists of speakers and films, is obtainable through the World Affairs Council whose headquarters is at 28 Newbury street, Boston (COPley 7-6675). The Federation of Women's Clubs is holding an open meeting at 3 p.m. on Monday, October 25th, at the Newton Centre Woman's Club. The speaker will be Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold, chairman of the U.N. Specialized Agencies Committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, who will talk on "The U.N.A Long Term Investment." All in the community are welcome to attend this meeting, which was planned to reach teachers and housewives. Many other clubs and organizations in the city are emphasizing the United Nations in their October programs in an attempt to increase knowledge and understanding of the organization.

The Committee for the Newton United Nations Observance, believing that the greatest danger the U.N. faces in the United States is that our people will fail to realize the great necessity for it, has coordinated the efforts of like-minded citizens in an educational program aimed to give the U.N. the understanding and the support it needs to carry it through the early critical years of its existence.

Holtz Says Opponents Record Shows "Gross Indifference"

Jackson J. Holtz, Democratic nominee for Congress, charged today before a thousand government employees at the John Hancock Hall that his opponent's official Washington Congressional record shows "gross indifference to the people's wants and needs."

At the same time public endorsements of support came from Foster Furcolo, Democratic nominee for Senate; Chester A. Dolan, clerk of the supreme court, and U.S. Senator John F. Kennedy—all joining with Congressman John W. McCormack in praising Holtz as a "keen analyst of public problems and a fighter for civil rights and Democratic ideals for all the people."

Holtz, former Legislator and ast. U. S. attorney, said he had refrained from attacking his opponent until the latter published a supposed record of his accomplishments.

THE CURTIS RECORD AGAINST THE PEOPLE

- I. The Grand Give-away
 1. Tidelands Oil — Supported bills giving National off-shore oil and gas resources to three states, costing Massachusetts an estimated $225,100,000. (1953).
 2. Atomic Energy — Supported amendment (opposed by Eisenhower) permitting a few private companies to obtain and maintain a monopoly on atomic energy patents, inventions and uses made possible through tremendous investments of all tax payers.
 3. National Forests — Supported bill authorizing certain timber companies to obtain unprecedented timber rights encroaching on National forests belonging to all people. (1954).
 4. Synthetic Rubber Plants — Supported bill authorizing sales of government owned synthetic rubber plants to a few private companies without adequate safeguards for public investment or small business. (1953).
- II. Weakening Small Business
 1. Taxes — Opposed elimination of Federal taxes on small theatre tickets, $0.50 or less. (1954).
 2. Loans — Favored hasty liquidation of R. F. C. small business loan program. New Republican agency has made only a total of eight loans in Massachusetts since its inception. (1953).
- III. Overlooking The Welfare Of The Average Citizen
 1. Taxes — Opposed increase in exemption for all tax payers instead of relief for corporations only. (1954).
 2. Postal Rates — Supported increased postal rates on first class mail, which already more than pays its own way, while corporations receive mail subsidy. (1954).
 3. Housing — Opposed Eisenhower's public housing program levels and voted to liquidate the entire program. (1953 and 1954).
 4. Unemployment Compensation — Opposed nation-wide standards improving unemployment benefits, despite 65,000 Massachusetts unemployed and the recommendation of the New England Governor's textile committee that such standards were necessary to alleviate North-South competition. (1954). Also supported bill dissipating Federal unemployment trust fund. (1953).
 5. Health (And Veterans) — Opposed funds for hospital construction by states under Hill-Burton Act (1953); and opposed funds for veterans' medical care under VA. (1953).
 6. Education — Opposed funds sought by Eisenhower to assist schools hit by influx of children of defense or military personnel living on tax exempt property. (1953).
- IV. Less Security For Federal Employees
 - Voted to give Federal agency arbitrary authority to fire character employees regardless of civil service laws, without right of hearing or appeal. (1953).
- V. Weaking Our Fight Against International Communism
 1. Air Force — Supported slash in air strength which Air Chief of Staff Vandenberg deplored as endangering our security. (1953).
 2. Military Aid — Voted to cut military aid to European lands below level requested by Eisenhower. (1953).
 3. Propaganda — Voted to deny funds requested by Eisenhower for Voice of America broadcasts. (1953).
 4. Israel — Made no public protest against administration policies arming Arabs.
- VI. Denying Civil Rights
 1. Failed to join members of both parties in both Houses who introduced F. E. P. C. bills. (1953 and 1954).
 2. Although he sponsored the immigration act revision bill originally offered by other Republicans, it fell far short of the Lehman-Pastore-Kennedy bill eliminating the most discriminatory features of the McCarron Act; nor did he even obtain a committee hearing on his bill. (1954).
 3. Opposed traditional Court review as a pre-requisite for wire-tapping. (1954).
- VII. Opposing Eisenhower
 - Opposed Eisenhower's requests on key votes involving housing, education, military aid, Voice of America, St. Lawrence Seaway and soil conservation. (1953 and 1954).

Temple Emanuel Launches Youth Program

The Youth Activities Program at Temple Emanuel of Newton will open on Tuesday, October 26. Thirty-four different social, cultural, and athletic programs are scheduled to take place during each week.

Mr. Lloyd B. Oppenheim, Chairman of the Temple's Youth Activities Committee, announces that all auxiliary organizations including the Temple's Brotherhood, Sisterhood, Couple's Club and P.T.A. are cooperating to make this program year greater than the 1953-1954 season, when 835 young people participated in the various activities each week.

The Youth Program will utilize the services of three adult volunteer club and interest group leaders in addition to the following professional staff:

Coach Joe Nathanson, Physical Ed. and become better acquainted. Mrs. Sylvester McGinn, president of the Board of Trustees, will be assisted in receiving by members of the board and by Dr. and Mrs. Roger Hazelton, co-chairmen of the Parents Association.

The music of the afternoon will include selections by the school orchestra, faculty groups and student trios. A special feature will be a group of piano solos by Constance Cover Wurster who has recently joined the faculty as a teacher in the piano department.

A cordial invitation is extended to any one interested in music and in learning more about Newton's Community Music School which is a member of the Newton Community Council, Newton Community Chest, and the National Guild of Community Music Schools.

"The re-election of Larry Curtis and others will help the President to put through his program for peace and security and solvency for our country. We need men like him in the House. His return to Congress is in the best interest of our state and nation," Speaker Martin stated.

Radio Program On Ward Lines Over WCRB Sun.

If you want to know why Newton's ward lines have remained the same since 1898, listen to radio station WCRB next Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

Aldermen Hirsch Sharf of Ward 6, chairman of the ward lines committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen, and Eugene Jones of Ward 5, a member of this committee for two years, will discuss the ward lines issue at this time, and will answer questions asked by Mrs. Leo Beckwith of the Newton League of Women Voters, which is presenting this broadcast as a public service.

Some of the other questions discussed will be: Why add an extra ward instead of redistributing present ones? What were the problems the Aldermanic Committee had to deal with? Why wasn't the referendum on the ballot before this year? What is the process of putting the change into effect if it is passed?

The Newton League was the first civic organization to study the ward lines problem and has followed the work of the ward lines committee of the Aldermanic Board. The League is strongly endorsing the passage of the ward lines referendum which will appear on the ballot in November, as a means of equalizing representation within the city of Newton, thereby strengthening its democratic processes.

Curtis Warns Against Division In Government

Congressman Laurence Curtis warned voters in the 10th district today that the basic issue is the safety of the United States in a world situation so perilous that a bad error of judgment, a hasty decision, might precipitate a world conflagration.

Congressman Curtis emphasized that the new, forthright and vigorous policies adopted by President Eisenhower must be continued.

Congressman Curtis pointed out that two years ago the foreign situation was tense and uncertain. "Although this country had won the greatest war in history, the fruits of victory had eluded us. The foreign outlook was terribly dark. Soviet power was expanding at an alarming rate and our troops were then fighting a stalemate war in Korea," Curtis said.

"President Eisenhower's administration inherited a desperate situation. Consider the difference today. The Administration has achieved great success in formulating a strong foreign policy based on a definite program.

"Recent successes in the formation of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and the strengthening of the Western European Alliance through the London Conference plus the achievements in Korea, Indo-China, Iran, Suez, Guatemala and Trieste are all major accomplishments of the present administration in two short years," the congressman stated.

"On the domestic front," Curtis said, "we are on the road to achieving a prosperity based on peace rather than a phoney prosperity based on war and inflation.

"Today the financial house is being put in order. The value of the dollar is being maintained. Taxes have been reduced. At the same time appropriations for human needs have been increased. The whole course of domestic affairs has taken a turn away from the dangerous tendencies of the previous administration. The administration has not only ended a war, but avoided the economic consequences that follow most wars," Congressman Curtis said.

The 83rd Congress has been acclaimed as a productive and hardworking legislative body. Congressman Curtis, who represented the 10th Congressional District and served on the important judiciary committee, played a major role in it. His broad experience in veterans' affairs, municipal, state, national and international affairs made him an outstanding member of the Congress, it was reported recently by Speaker of the U. S. House Joseph W. Martin, Jr.

"The re-election of Larry Curtis and others will help the President to put through his program for peace and security and solvency for our country. We need men like him in the House. His return to Congress is in the best interest of our state and nation," Speaker Martin stated.

Ten Years As District Att'y In Middlesex

George E. Thompson, the present district attorney, received his Bachelor of Laws degree from Boston University Law School in 1924 and received his Master of Laws degree in 1925. In 1926 he was admitted to the bar and since has been actively engaged as a trial lawyer. Mr. Thompson is a member of the Federal Bar, the Boston Bar Association, the Massachusetts Bars Association and the American Bar Association.

Some of the other questions discussed will be: Why add an extra ward instead of redistributing present ones? What were the problems the Aldermanic Committee had to deal with? Why wasn't the referendum on the ballot before this year? What is the process of putting the change into effect if it is passed?

The Newton League was the first civic organization to study the ward lines problem and has followed the work of the ward lines committee of the Aldermanic Board. The League is strongly endorsing the passage of the ward lines referendum which will appear on the ballot in November, as a means of equalizing representation within the city of Newton, thereby strengthening its democratic processes.

"Mr. Thompson is married, has a 14-year-old daughter and resides at 69 Stratford road, Melrose.

Newton Y Elects Two New Members to Directors Board

Two new directors of the Newton YMCA were named at the board's meeting which took place following the fifth annual committeemen's dinner of the Y on Thursday, October 14.

They are Harlan Kingsbury, chief sanitary officer, City of Newton, who lives in the YMCA dormitory, and Anthony Jaureguy, 34 Somerset road, West Newton, resident partner, Price Waterhouse and Company of Boston.

Mr. Kingsbury has been active in Newton YMCA membership affairs as a member of the Friendsgate club, Y young adult organization and as a participant in the business men's volley ball group. He is a member of the physical education committee.

Mr. Jaureguy is a past chairman of the budget committee of the Newton Community Chest and has been active in civic and church affairs and in business and professional circles. The nominating committees report at the Board meeting was given by Wilbur W. Bullen, chairman.

Peabody Hits Government by Small Cliques

Hitting at "government run by small cliques which keep themselves in office through appointments," Endicott "Chub" Peabody, candidate for Governor's Councilor in the Third District, this week urged voters to "return the Third District to the people."

Peabody, who won a four-man primary with a record breaking plurality, declared that his opponent was appointed by the state legislature to fill a vacancy on the Governor's Council when his law partner was appointed to another state position.

"This coming election," said Peabody, "is a fine opportunity for the voters to line up on the side of democratic elections instead of appointments to office."

They can also strike a blow in favor of the two-party system which is such a vital part of American democracy."

Peabody said the present seven to one Republican majority in the Governor's Council was hurting the two-party system in Massachusetts. He said no political party could be expected to function satisfactorily as a minority power with only one out of eight votes on such an important body.

Peabody, the holder of the Silver Star for heroism in World War II, is considered to have a better chance to win the Third District race than any previous Democratic candidate.

He will make a television appeal to the voters next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. over Channel 7 (WNAC-TV).

Newton Chapter Of ORT

Board members of the Newton Chapter of Women's American ORT (Organization for Rehabilitation through Training) met for luncheon at the home of Mrs. Alfred Sharenow, Honor Roll chairman, on Friday, October 15. Plans were formulated for the coming year, which will commemorate the 75th anniversary of Women's American ORT, to support the expanding ORT program for vocational training at 450 schools and workshops in 19 countries on 5 continents.

Mrs. Sidney Cenzer, National Expansion Chairman and ORT representative at the UN, was guest speaker. She has just returned from a tour of ORT schools in North Africa, Iran, Israel and parts of Europe, including Geneva, where she was a delegate to the executive council of World ORT Union.

Mrs. Cenzer stressed the fact that public support of ORT's program is of vital importance in redeeming human lives.

ORT started 75 years ago and has trained thousands of refugees, displaced persons and underprivileged human beings to become useful, productive, self-respecting citizens.

The UN has recommended ORT as an

AAA Traffic Tip

Know the traffic regulations in your town and you'll get along better in traffic. For instance, can you make a U-turn in the middle of the block? Which streets are designated as one-way, and at what corners can you make a legal turn? Knowing your city is a great help in driving.

League of Women Voters Give Non-Partisan Information

On October 29th Newton's information regarding wards, citizens will once again see and precincts and places of voting, hear the League of Women. They will also have available Voters' Votemobile and sound reprints of a League questionnaire on the streets of New-naire which was sent to the ton. The League will operate candidates and which lists their five station wagons to provide qualifications for office and non-partisan voting information their views on important issues to Newton residents.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Herter and Saltonstall Seen Winning Tuesday . . .

Complacency Is Greatest Threat to GOP Hopes . . .

Because there is some evidence of a general Democratic trend across the country, the Republican party in Massachusetts might well be in serious trouble in this campaign, if it did not have two outstanding figures at the head of its State ticket. But the present indications are that Governor Christian A. Herter and Senator Leverett Saltonstall are strong enough to survive any political tide that may be running and win reelection next Tuesday.

An element of political peril, of course, exists in any election, and the returns next Tuesday night may find Herter and Saltonstall in close contests. The greatest danger confronting them, probably, is that the so-called contented and satisfied vote will not turn out. If any appreciable portion of the Herter and Saltonstall supporters take their reelection for granted and don't bother going to the polls, the two men conceivably could be defeated. That, however, is not likely to happen.

It appears now that the G.O.P. campaigners, with some assistance from political developments, have done a pretty effective job of overcoming the lethargy that existed in their own ranks. The election of a Democratic Governor in Maine, which threw a scare into the Republican party throughout the nation, startled the G.O.P. sons and daughters out of their complacency and indirectly, at least, helped the Republican cause.

But above all those things is the fact that Christian A. Herter has been an excellent Governor for the past 22 months. There really isn't much dispute concerning that estimate, except from political partisans who form their opinions and appraisals along straight party lines.

Four of the station wagons will be parked in Newton Centre, Newton Corner, Newtonville and West Newton. The fifth wagon will travel throughout the day through Nonantum, Auburndale, Newton Upper and Lower Falls and Newton Highlands.

Mrs. George Alberts is in charge of the Votemobile this year. The following workers are assisting her: Mrs. Arthur Weinberg, Melvin Dangel, Joseph Alpert, O. P. Carter, Peter Klapper, Elmer Riegelhaupt, Leonard Beckwith, Charles Marran, Norman Tracy, Arthur Norris, Morris Bleiwass, William Prentice, David Cooper, Walter Dermon, Warren Burroughs, Irving Albertson, Seymour Getter, Leon Freeman, John Taplin, Harold Tannenbaum, J. T. Shalkin, Norman Smith, Julius Burstyn, Leon Sternfeld, Melvin Chalfen, Louis

Koufman, E. Shapiro, James Currans, Richard Mintz, David Rost, Leon Shapiro and Miss Harriet Phillips.

The following group of Tanda Koda Camp Fire Girls will help by handing out voting information at the Votemobile on Friday: Nancy Bernstein, Rebecca Brightman, Joyce Bloch, Susan Clarke, Patricia Dana, Elllyn Freeman, Ronce Hoffman, Beverly Jacobson, Barbara Lindman, Lisa Loeb, Diane Murphy, Joyce Norman, Sandra Pagano, Sally Ransom and Faye Waldman.

In addition to the speakers mentioned above, greetings were extended by Nathan D. Bugbee, President of the Newton Community Chest, and the invocation was offered by Rabbi Harold D. Kastle of Temple Reym. The winners of a Metropolitan wide contest made up the Red Feather Trio who rendered some songs before the formal part of the evening.

Included in the Campaign are 13 Newton member agencies, more than 275 Red Feather services of Metropolitan Boston including 23 hospitals and the USO. The overall Greater Boston goal is $6,550,000 and the Newton goal is $310,000. The Newton Red Feather services participating in the Campaign are: Newton Community Chest, Newton Wellesley Hospital, Newton Visiting Nurse Association, Family Service Bureau, Newton Y. M. C. A., Norumbega Council, Boy Scouts, Newton Local Council, Girl Scouts, Rebecca Pomroy House, West Newton Community Centre, Newton Conferences, St. Vincent de Paul Society, Stone Institute, All Newton Music School and Newton Community Council.

Thefts-

Finding two windows open in the rear, they entered the building and smashed their way into the office. Unable to break into the company's safe, they retraced their steps to the parked car and picked up a hoe.

Back in the office—now about midnight—they pushed the safe on its side and smashed through the bottom. Removing two cash drawers, they broke the drawers open and filled their pockets with coins and bills. As they worked on the safe, Officers Thomas M. Dargan and Lawrence Maffioli drove into the parking lot.

Alerted by the noise coming from within the building, the two officers radioed for aid. Fourteen policemen responded from headquarters, along with cruising cars from various parts of the city.

As Officer Maffioli moved to the rear of the building, he spotted a man leaping over the fence to the railroad tracks. He fired a warning shot in the air, summoning the other officers to the spot. They searched the railroad embankment, and Officer Dargan and Sgt. Walter D. Drew arrested the pair at gunpoint.

Police found $161 in bills, change and a check made out to "cash" on the two. A money bag containing the Sally Anne's Restaurant loot and a gun owned by McHale were found in the car.

When interrogated by inspectors at Newton Police Headquarters, McHale and Farrell talked freely, admitting a string of breaks dating back to September. The breaks admitted by the two, who sometimes were accompanied by the third man, included four in Waltham, the two in Newton, a Watertown cleaner, and drive-in theaters in Revere, Natick and Dedham.

chestra will provide music for the dancing; in addition, there will be guest appearances by TV singing stars, Lindy Doherty and Cindy Lord, regularly appearing on WBZ-TV's "Swan Boat" program. Many prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be served. Parent Committees include: Tickets, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clark; Prizes, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Pierson; Security, Alfred Frederick, Max Butter, Isadore Bereson, James Atkinson, Rev. Earl Douglas, Stephen Currier, Jacob Alter, Mrs. Max Butter, Mrs. Alfred Frederick; Chaperons, Mrs. Earl Douglas, Mrs. John Snider, Mrs. Philip Gleason, Mrs. Stephen Currier; Refreshments, Mrs. William Watson, Mrs. Alfred Frederick, Mrs. Isadore Bereson, Mrs. Jacob Alter.

"Because of the fine co-operation of the committees, the room mothers and their helpers, we expect the best and biggest party yet," states Lewis I. Hart, Building Chairman of the Memorial School celebration, in which more than 500 boys and girls of the 1st to 6th grades will participate. Chairmen of his various committees are: Beverly Franklin, Room Mothers; Eleanor Bloom, Jane McMahon, Irene Hart, Refreshments; John Ham, Chamber of Horrors; Barbara Warren, First Aid; Sidney Hurwitz, Publicity.

Square dancing will be one of the main features on the program of the Oak Hill School parties, according to Mrs. M. Myerberg, Building Chairman. She reports that all details have been settled, and that a grand evening has been planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald H. Volk, Building Chairman, are predicting exceptionally fine parties at the Cabot School because, as they state, "a great deal of enthusiasm and co-operation has been shown for the Halloween Party by the Cabot School parents." The outcome of their collective efforts will be a well-planned program of appealing and entertaining features. Among them will be community singing, comics and Western movies, a Halloween recitation, room games, prizes, favors and refreshments. The always-popular "eats" will be in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murphy, assisted by Mrs. Victor Resh, Mrs. Bernard Horowitz, Mrs. Melvin Spritz. Traffic and Safety will be supervised by Gerald Volk and Bernard Rome. The various room parties will be in charge of the following committees: Kindergarten, Mrs. Victor Resh, Mrs. Miron Blumenthal, Mrs. Robert Batchelder, Mrs. William Maloney; Grade 1, Mrs. Bernard Rome, Mrs. Ezra Hershkovitz, Mrs. Richard Dore, Mrs. Charles Kiefer, Mrs. Alton Sockol, Mrs. M. Roland Heintzelman; Grade 2, Mrs. Leon G. Martel Sr., Mrs. Robert Choate, Mrs. David Wurzel, Mrs. Harry Schertzer; Grade 3, Mrs. Elmer Gorn, Mrs. Leo J. Davey, Mrs. Maynard

At Stake-

Ward 8 is slated to be made up of Precincts 4, 7 and part of 6 from Ward 5, the largest one in the city. The new ward will contain 4500 voters, making it the smallest in Newton by 500 voters. However, new home construction in currently undeveloped portions of Newton Centre and Newton Highlands is expected to push up the voting population to the other seven.

The change has been studied by an aldermen's committee for several years, under the leadership of Hirsh Sharf. The committee scrapped a proposal to readjust the current ward lines in favor of the complete overhaul of all the wards.

An indication of the voting power held by Ward Five is shown in up-to-date registration figures compiled by City Clerk Monte G. Basbas. The largest precinct in the city is Precinct 2 of Ward 5, which has 2404 voters, and the third is Precinct 2 of Ward 5 with 2035 eligible.

Since the June revision of the voting list, the number of voters has grown 3068 to a grand total of 46,025, Basbas reported. Although 3494 new residents registered, 426 were removed from the polling list through death or moving from the city.

Three other referendum items are also slated for consideration. Two, "automatic" ones, appearing every other year, give a local option on the control of liquor sales and pari-mutuel betting. The fourth asks approval of a move to have federal pensions of not less than $100 a month for all retired persons over 65.

Whether the Democrats can capture one or more of the five legislative seats being contested is problematical. On paper, the registered Republicans hold a great advantage over the Democrats—but the independent voters—who outnumber both party members—hold the answer to who will represent Newton.

Red Cross Establishes New Policy in Providing Blood

The past policy of the Red Cross, which was to provide blood for anyone needing it upon request to the local chapter, is now a thing of the past.

The new policy, which was established recently between the Medical Society and the Red Cross, states that only persons participating in the Red Cross Blood Program and members of their immediate families will be entitled to blood coverage by the Red Cross, for one year. The reason for this change of policy is that there were too few loyal Red Cross blood donors. The requests for blood for persons whose families were physically able to replace blood and were not doing so, but were asking Red Cross to replace the blood, were too numerous

National Tuberculosis Ass'n. To Observe 50th Anniversary

The founding of the National Tuberculosis Association fifty years ago marked the first time that medical and non-medical men joined in a voluntary association to combat a specific disease.

Protect your loved ones in case of an emergency by donating a pint of blood when the Bloodmobile visits your community.

The next visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile will take place Tuesday, November 2nd, at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church from 1 to 7 p.m. If you haven't made an appointment yet, please call your local Chapter, LA 7-6000 NOW.

and exceeded the supply of blood at the Red Cross Regional Blood Centre. Consequently the blood shortage is acute and many persons are having operations postponed because of it.

The Association organized so that the work was carried out on a local level through affiliate associations such as the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, which is governed by a board of directors composed of Newton citizens. The Christmas Seal Sale is the sole means of financing their work.

Since 1904 tremendous strides have been made in the fight against TB. Some facts bear this out: death rate from tuberculosis down 90%; the ignorance and apathy concerning facts about TB removed; better general health conditions resulting from widespread health education campaigns, 425 grants to scientists and doctors which have helped find increasingly effective methods of TB treatment; rehabilitation programs providing the means of returning ex-tuberculosis patients to useful community life; and case finding programs offering free chest X-rays to find TB early in its most easily cured stages.

The volunteer tuberculosis associations under fifty years of leadership from the National Tuberculosis Association are leading the way to eventual eradication of TB.

The future programs of these volunteer TB associations are vital to the nation's health. The weapons are at hand. They must be used effectively to break the chain of tuberculous infection, to cut the attack rate of this disease which is striking 110,000 Americans a year, to bring back to healthy and useful living the hundreds of thousands of Americans suffering from the number-one infectious disease killer in this country... tuberculosis.

Temple Reyim Sisterhood

The first meeting of the Temple Reyim Sisterhood study group will take place Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Myrtion Swartz, chairman. The following topics will be considered for the study workshop: "What Is A Jew?" "The Sabbath and the Festivals;" and "Famous Jewish Women." After a coffee hour, Rabbi Harold Kastle will lead the discussion. All members are invited to attend.

Hebrew Teachers College Group Meets Thursday

The 1954-55 season of the N-E-W group of the Hebrew Teachers College, under the leadership of its president, Mrs. Mitchell Marcus of Waban, and vice presidents, Mrs. Morton Grossman of Chestnut Hill and Mrs. Norman Rosenberg of Newton Centre, is starting off with what promises to be another of its outstanding evening meetings next Thursday, November 4, at 8:15 p.m. at the college.

The feature attraction will be David Weinstein who will explain, as well as demonstrate, his unique system of teaching Hebrew. His new method is much discussed these days and has received a great deal of attention both locally and nationally.

Trick or Treat

Trick and Treat can mean trouble and tragedy, unless precautions are taken to protect youngsters from mishaps on Halloween. Although vandalism seems to decrease each year, there is always the danger of accidents when the tots and teens start out on All Hollow's Eve.

Fun and frolic are the order of the day and to make sure the day ends as happily as it started, parents should make certain that bean shooters, guns of any kind, sling shots, and fireworks are forbidden. Jack-O'-lanterns equipped with lighted candles should also be on the taboo list, along with flammable masks and costumes.

As an added safety measure, make sure children are supplied with flashlights and there is less likely a chance that they will end up in a hospital ward with a broken limb. Be sure, too, that when the little spooks leave the house on the prowl that they are wearing something white so motorists on the highway can readily spot them.

It is also suggested that use of the family car should be forbidden teen-age partygoers on that night. If youngsters must be transported, drive them to and from the party. Remember, too, the little tykes are bound to be reckless on their night, so if you must drive, drive carefully, cause ghosts and witches will be darting across the streets in your neighborhood.

Many of the younger set will succeed in injuring themselves as they strive feverishly to outdo each other. Whether or not the happy celebrators get hurt, depends on proper supervision by you, the parents.

Three Deadly Hours

"Three deadly hours" account for 65 percent of all pedestrian fatalities for those who walk at night.

Be extra careful and extra alert between five and eight in the evening. And remember, that with the return to Standard Time this coming Saturday night, it will get dark one hour earlier.

Visibility is poor during the darkening hours and drivers are slow to react to half-seen objects. Accidents at this time result in a great proportion of fatalities because motorists come upon their victims suddenly.

A study of records show that school-age children, five to 14 years, suffer more accidents at hours when they are not protected by police or their classmates in school safety patrols, especially on Saturdays and Sundays.

A Maine newspaper recently went so far as to acclaim Herter as the best Governor in the 48 States and to hail him as the logical Republican candidate for President in 1956, if President Eisenhower does not seek another term. The latter tribute overlooks the fact that Herter was born outside the continental limits of the United States and thus is ineligible by accident of birth for the Presidency, but it points up the general esteem in which he is held.

It is fair to say that Mr. Herter's administration, if measured in the cold scrutiny of non-partisanship, has equalled that of any Massachusetts Governor in memory. Students of government can make out a fairly convincing case to show that he has been the State's best Governor in a generation, with a loud dissent, of course, coming from the Democratic camp.

Under those circumstances Herter could be swept out of office only by a political tide of very substantial proportions. If there is such a groundswell gathering force in Massachusetts to erupt next Tuesday, it has not been detected by the various surveys and polls that have been made. It could well be that a Democratic swing of small proportions has tightened the races for Governor and Senator and made them closer than they otherwise would be.

To this observer it appears that there has been a Republican upswing during the past week and that the Democratic drive may have reached its climax prematurely. The Maine election caused an upsurge of Democratic optimism. The weather-vane Alaska election further brightened Democratic hopes.

Representative Robert F. Murphy and State Treasurer Foster Furcolo, Democratic candidates for Governor and U. S. Senator, went into the present campaign on the momentum of overwhelming victories gained in the September primary.

Herter and Saltonstall were unopposed for renomination and were sitting quietly on the sidelines while Murphy and Furcolo were winning their preliminary encounters.

The result of that was that the political experts, in analyzing the primary results, devoted themselves to the one-sided margins by which Murphy and Furcolo won nomination and to the votes that Herter and Saltonstall didn't get in running unopposed.

The impression that situation created existed until Herter and Saltonstall began to campaign at top speed. During the past week, however, it has been noticeable that the crowds at the Republican rallies have been larger and more enthusiastic than those turning out to greet their Democratic adversaries.

That is not especially significant because it is no longer easy to attract voters to political rallies, but it does mean that the Republicans are well enough organized so that they are at least doing a better job of filling the halls for their rallies than are the Democrats.

The men running for offices in this campaign are all professional politicians who have submitted themselves to the voters as candidates for high offices of public trust. A political writer is not or certainly should not be expected to view their shortcomings in quite the same patient, tolerant manner as if he were commenting on a high school football player who committed a fumble at a crucial period in the climax game.

Representative Murphy and Treasurer Furcolo are competent and qualified candidates. Murphy is a sincere, serious hard-working, capable man of unquestioned integrity who by the force of his ability and willingness to work rose through the ranks in the State Legislature to become Democratic floor leader and finally his party's leader and spokesman in the Massachusetts House of Representatives. He is a scholarly person who has a good grasp of State affairs and a keen understanding of the problems of the Commonwealth.

The adjective, "solid," fits him well. He is not colorful, spectacular, scintillating or a showman. He has no flare for the dramatics. He is a competent, workman-like candidate, but he is not the type that can bring an audience to a fever pitch of excitement.

Furcolo's public record consist of four years in Congress and a little more than two as State Treasurer. He was appointed to the latter office in 1952. He was generally regarded as a good Congressman, and a poll conducted by a radio commentator rated him as an outstanding member of the national House. As State Treasurer he has not had much opportunity to distinguish himself.

He is a good speaker and probably a little more colorful than Murphy, although he is certainly not sensational on the stump or public platform.

The blunt fact of the matter is that 18 months ago few, if any, Democrats would have believed that their State ticket in the 1954 election would be headed by Robert F. Murphy and Foster Furcolo.

The men it was generally expected would lead the Democratic party in this campaign were Maurice J. Tobin and Paul A. Dever. But Tobin died suddenly of a heart attack in July of last year, and Dever remained out of the fight.

An intensive effort was made to persuade Hynes to carry the Democratic banner, but he was not interested in running against Governor Herter, for whom he holds a deep respect.

That does not detract from Furcolo and Murphy as candidates, but the two surged into prominence in a very short period of time, and that confronted them with major problems.

Furcolo is extremely strong in some parts of western Massachusetts. In the congressional district he once represented, he will poll a bigger vote than anyone ever has drawn against Saltonstall. But it does not appear that Furcolo will run well enough in Greater Boston to upset Saltonstall.

There is a tendency on the part of some political experts to underestimate Saltonstall. He won three elections as Governor, one of them a "squeaker" over Paul A. Dever in 1940. In successive elections he defeated James M. Curley, Dever and Roger Lowell Putnam.

He had soft opponents in 1944 and 1948. That, however, was principally because the more formidable Democrats were not interested in a test of strength with him. Furcolo is undoubtedly the strongest candidate to challenge Saltonstall in a senatorial race, and while he probably will fight Saltonstall down to the wire, it seems improbable that he can best the senior Bay State Senator.

Herter must be rated a favorite over Murphy because of the record he has made during the past two years and because of the leadership he has given the State in time of both emergency and routine administration. His defeat would be a distinct upset.

The reelection of Herter and Saltonstall are forecast, it should be emphasized, on the assumption, that the Republicans will get out the vote next Tuesday. If they fail to do so, the roof could fall in on them.

Letter To EditorDON'T THEY CARE?

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I've been hearing quite a lot lately about the irresponsibility of our local Republican representatives at the General Court. The argument goes that because the local Republicans are so sure of winning year after year, they do nothing to protect the interests of Newton because they feel no pressure on election day.

Is this true? I'm beginning to believe that there is more truth than fiction in this story.

Last week I heard the Democratic nominee for the General Court, Mr. Charles Delaney, tell how he attended a meeting of the Dept. of Public Utilities which was considering curtailing service at the Newton Lower Falls station. He said that no Republican incumbent was present to protect the interests of the residents of Lower Falls.

As a resident of Auburndale, I know what it means to be without regular train service.

Certainly Mr. Heaney and Mrs.

Thresher, so-called Representatives of the Lower Falls should have spent the time to attend as well as Mr. Delaney. Don't they care about local problems at all? Now it appears that 4 more stations will soon be closed.

Why don't we elect some Representatives who will take some interest in this?

PHILIP CHAPLAIN

PUBLIC PROJECTS

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Some candidates for the legislature on the claim that the Republican representatives have been unable to secure public projects for Newton.

They say that all the other cities and towns on the Charles

River have MDC swimming pools and other recreation facilities, while Newton is about to receive funds for an

Newton gets nothing. That is his claim. Let us look at the record.

For many years, the MDC

center at Riverside, opposite

Auburndale, containing a

The MDC also maintains parks

at Hemlock Gorge and Quinobequin road, at Forest Grove,

Auburndale, as well as Hammond Pond Parkway, and in Maneau, in or beside Newton.

At Crystal Lake, Newton has swimming facilities superior to any of the artificial pools, thanks to the foresight of former

Mayor Sinclair Weeks,

while Waltham, Watertown and Cambridge had none at all, and no natural lakes where

we would prefer to see the

more spacious setting on the

Newton side of the river, the fact is that for years Newton has had MDC facilities, which are only now being constructed for Watertown, and a bridge will be provided for Newton access.

Now to consider Route 9.

Here again, Newton was taken care of years ago in the original

overpasses at Hammond

Pond parkway, Parker street, Centre street and Chestnut street, so that motorists are happy to come to Newton, because there are so few bottle necks and stop-and-go intersections. In this respect, Brookline, which has no overpasses, is just beginning to catch up to the position which Newton has occupied for years.

It is indeed a strange philosophy that hostile legislators, opposed to the administration, can be expected to attain greater concessions. Those candidates evidently do not believe the old saying that you can catch more flies with molasses than with vinegar.

Richard H. Lee
Donald Le Gibbs
George E. Rawson

NO CLIQUE

In its desperate attempts to find any kind of argument which might sound plausible, and lacking anything approaching a valid issue on the State level, the Democrat Party has recently been trying to raise the point that in Newton, we have no 2-party system, but a 1-party monopoly controlled by an inner circle known as a "clique." And, of course, if Democrat Representatives were elected here, more would be done for Newton.

Since these issues are being raised, let us analyze them. The 2-party system of government embraces two important principles: First, that of majority rule. Second, that each main area to be governed (in this case the Commonwealth of Massachusetts) be divided into smaller districts in order that contiguous groups may, by their own majorities, choose representatives to present their own viewpoints in the government. That this system is successful in Massachusetts is borne out by the fact that in 1952 with a small Republican majority on the State level, the House of Representatives also came up with a small Republican majority.

The one reason why there have been Republicans elected to the Legislature from Newton is simply because the majority of the residents of Newton have believed that government on the State level would best be carried on by the Republican party. As to the methods of choosing our representatives, I have engaged in two primaries this year, both of which provided me with stiff opposition, and I sincerely say that I know of no inner circle. Curiously enough, in the two Democratic primaries, the candidates apparently were hand-picked because they had no opposition. The obvious question is, "In which party is the clique?"

The voters of Newton will not be misled by diversions of this kind. They know the Republican administration of the past two years has been good for Massachusetts and for Newton. They know that Governor Herter, great man as he is, can continue this good work only with the co-operation of the Legislature. And I am confident they will do their part in giving him working majority next Tuesday, November 2nd.

Twin Exchange Groups At NHS At Record Peak of Activity

A record peak in organized activity preparing for the seventh year of Newton High School and School Exchange was reached in recent weeks with the sale of NHS books, covers to classmates and teachers, plus a paper drive which has kept parents and students busy for the past two Saturdays.

Last Thursday night the exchange members were hosts to their parents and to the members of the faculty committee planning this year's twin trips to Boulder, Colo., and to Wilmington, Del.

Mrs. Jane Kendall, director of the Newton Junior Red Cross Chapter, and teachers Katherine Curtis, Clara Ashley and Mary Lanigan arranged a coffee hour to follow the reception. Floyd Rinker, director of exchanges, spoke on the dual role of the home and school in making possible the "Newton High School on Wheels" program. A brief speech of welcome was also given by Dr. Leo J. Barry, principal of NHS.

Gamma Globulin Is No Longer Restricted

The Red Cross will revert to the system used prior to the Government control. Dr. David N. W. Grant, National Director of the Red Cross Blood Program announced that Gamma Globulin distribution for use against measles and infectious hepatitis will be through the State Public Health Department. No charge will be made for this derivative of blood.

Prior to the polio control distribution plan, 8,264,636 cc's were distributed. Since the polio usage emphasized the value of Gamma Globulin, Red Cross in conjunction with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis have contributed approximately 20,000,000 cc's.

Senator Lee Points Out Some Exemptions in Income Law

Senator Richard H. Lee in a statement issued this week said:

"When your readers make out their Massachusetts income tax returns for 1954, many of them can claim an exemption under Chapter 679 against that portion of their income which is classed as "unearned" and from which no deductions whatever have been allowed in the past. Widows and single persons, who receive less than $5000 from all sources, if they are over 65, may take a $1500 exemption; those under 65 get a $1000 exemption. With married couples, the exemption must be claimed in a joint return, and it is not allowed if the combined income of the couple exceeds $7500."

"There are other provisions to cover the situation of persons receiving as beneficiary under a trust, or under an annuity."

"The tax commission is in the process of preparing a revised tax return blank, together with a detailed instruction sheet, which will be of assistance to persons who wish to take advantage of these new provisions."

"I am particularly interested in the administration of this law, since I first proposed the bill upon which it is based. My bill would have gone somewhat further than the present law, but the modifications which have been inserted do not interfere with the benefits of those who most urgently needed it, namely the retired persons, who are chiefly dependent on investments, and whose income is relatively small. We have penalized thrift in the past and forced many of these people to move to other states, but now we can relieve them somewhat of the heavy burden of taxes. A widow of 70, living on interest and dividends, will pay $110 less in taxes, if she is within the $7500 bracket, and various others will benefit proportionally. I hope this will stop the trend of retired persons moving out of the state, as they constitute some of our finest citizens."

A RECENT MEETING of the combined Jewish Appeal Young Adults Division found John Segal, Newton chairman, and Harriet Carey, Wellesley-Newton chairman, making plans for improved solicitation in their areas.

THE REAL TRUTH

Those opposing Congressman Laurence Curtis for re-election to Congress from the Tenth Congressional District have made misleading statements as to his voting record in Congress. These should be exposed.

FIRST, it was misrepresented that Curtis voted "present" 50 times on roll call votes in the House when he could have voted "yes" or "no", and did this in order to straddle.

✓ THE FACTS ARE that Curtis never voted "present" when he could have voted "yes" or "no"; and that in every case when he voted "present", such vote was in answer to a "quorum call", not a "roll call", where the only answer that a Congressman can give is "present".

SECOND, it was misrepresented that Curtis had not been a supporter of the President's program in Congress.

✓ THE FACTS ARE that the Congressional Quarterly, which made an authoritative study of the record of Congressmen in their support of the President's program ranked Congressman Curtis' record as tied for first place among all the New England Congressmen as supporters of the President's program.

THIRD, certain specific votes cast by Curtis were misrepresented as being against the President's program.

✓ THE FACTS ARE that certain measures submitted to the Congress by the President were later modified after consultation with party leaders; and the President's House leaders then advocated their passage in such modified form. Curtis followed such leadership in most cases, but departed from it in order to support broader public housing legislation and broader VETERANS' BENEFITS.

THE PEOPLE of the Tenth District know Curtis. They know that he has a magnificent record of public service. They will not be misled by misrepresentations or slander.

FitzGerald, a practicing attorney for 22 years and assistant Register of Probate for the last 12 years, is the Republican nominee for Register of Probate office. FitzGerald has handled every phase of work in this agency responsible for the safe-keeping of vital records, statistics and court decisions that could affect the lives and fortunes of many families in Middlesex County. Support for the experienced attorney, FitzGerald, has come from everyone of the 32 cities and towns in the district. Leading civic, fraternal and legal officials have endorsed him as the logical man to be promoted to the Register of Probate.

As Town Meeting member of Belmont, where he now resides with his wife and four children, FitzGerald has taken a keen interest in community administration and civic work.

He has been extremely active in youth organization and in educational work, serving with other parents in the scouting movement for boys and participating in the Parent-Teachers Association.

FitzGerald was born in Cambridge in 1906 and graduated from the Cambridge High and Latin School in 1924, entering Boston College and graduating in 1928. He then went to Harvard Law School for four years and was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in 1932.

Committees have been formed in all cities and towns within the Middlesex district to bring FitzGerald's qualifications before the public.

Enrollment in U.S. public schools today is a record 29.6 million; growing so fast, it is expected to top 36 million by 1960.

Herter Attacks Opponent as "Tool and Protege" of Dever

Governor Christian A. Herter yesterday vigorously attacked his Democratic opponent, charging that he is ex-Governor Dever's "tool and accomplice" and a "protege" of Dever. Herter described his opponent as a "double-talking, sour grapes sort of candidate" and said his voting record as a legislator is one of "obstructionism to improvements."

Last Friday Governor Herter expressed himself as "happy and proud" over the fact that his program for helping mentally retarded children in Massachusetts was singled out for commendation by spokesmen at the annual convention of the National Association for Retarded Children. The legislation enacted on Herter's recommendation provides that any community with five or more mentally retarded children will set up special classes for them, the state paying half of the costs.

Governor Herter gave strong endorsement to Senator Saltonstall's proposal for a full investigation of the possibility of converting the elevated structure, from Sullivan Sq. in Everett to Forest Hills, into an underground system, maintaining that it would relieve congested traffic and provide better rider service.

Together with Saltonstall, the governor was endorsed by labor groups Friday in a statement signed by Bertram W. Kohl, president of the Boston Central Labor Union, and Wilfred T. Connell, internation-from the 10th Congressional District which includes Newton, Brookline and Boston, has been stressing benefits to the country which have already resulted from the President's program and the need of electing congressmen who will work whole-heartedly to carry it forward.

The Eisenhower program has produced great benefits for American people," Curtis said. "Just compare the situation today with what it was 20 months ago."

"American men, who suffered 140,000 casualties in the Korean War, are no longer fighting a stalemate war with one hand tied behind their backs. Our foreign policy has produced good results right down the line: a strengthened alliance in Southeast Asia and more recently in Western Europe, sound progress in Trieste and Iran, and the attempted communist beachhead in this hemisphere in Guatemala thwarted."

"On the domestic front we are getting away from undue centralization of power in Washington and government domination of every-day life. Controls have been wiped out, freedoms increased and the states and localities taken into partnership with the federal government in the administration of federal projects. The inflation has been halted, taxes cut, and we are achieving a prosperity based on peace rather than on war and inflation."

"Give the President a chance to complete his program, which is proving so beneficial to the American people," he said.

Governor's Councilor David B. Williams, who is running for reelection, has discovered that the loyalty he has inspired in others is now reaping dividends. Williams is rapidly recovering from a gall bladder operation, and hopes to be active again in couple of weeks. Meanwhile, there are, in all directions, unsolicited efforts by his countless friends to further his campaign, including "Dave Williams" house-parties with overflow crowds. Such rallying-round a popular favorite hasn't been seen in these parts in quite some time.

In short, a situation which floor some men, finds Williams, if anything, stronger than ever.

A look at Councillor Williams' background goes far to explain the confidence and the enthusiasm of these friends who are willing to do so much to see him re-elected.

At 28, he was the youngest Clerk of Courts in Massachusetts. He is a graduate of Harvard and Boston University Law, he is a member of the State and Federal Bars, he has served in the House of Representatives where he was Clerk of the Committee on Towns and Vice Chairman of the Committee on Committees, he is a Past Commander of the American Legion in Concord, a present active member of several other organizations, Veterans, Civic and Fraternal—and having been, and having done, all these things and more, including a full term as a member of the Governor's Council, to which he was elected by the Legislature, he is still only 35 years old.

United Nations Observance Is Held Throughout City

Newton's observance of the birthday of the United Nations has been month-long and city-wide. Beginning with the naming of a committee by the Mayor, with Harold Wooster as Co-ordinator of the plans of various organizations, programs have been held in schools, churches, clubs, homes, and civic buildings.

Packets of information regarding UNICEF (United Nations Children's Fund) sent to the schools of the city resulted in programs being held in practically every school. These included the showing of filmstrips, moving pictures, panel discussions, reports, and lectures. Pupils in the Burr School in Auburndale painted a U.N. mural which covered the back of the stage, and at an assembly fifteen children in front of a microphone took part in a panel discussion based on their studies. In Bowen School, Newton Centre, UNICEF was studied in the two sixth grades, and as a result the students decided to earn or collect money in various ways to help the twenty-five million children aided each year by this agency.

Ministers and rabbis read the Proclamation of the Mayor at services on Sunday. In many of the church schools a play entitled "Around the World with Billy," written by Mrs. Ralph Shrader, one of the members of the Mayor's Committee, was presented in church school assemblies, and offerings were sent to UNICEF. Learning that the pennies spent for a comic book will give a child 6 glasses of milk in Korea—that the pennies spent for an ice cream cone will protect a child from tuberculosis in Egypt—that pennies spent for a coke will provide a child with 10 bowls of rice in India, groups of children from the churches will go "Trick or Treating" for the Children of the World" on or after Hallowe'en. The "Trick or Treat" program, well organized in many surrounding communities, will be carried on only by church groups in Newton this year, or by interested individuals, some of whom will be interviewed by Big Brother Bob Emery on Channel 4 WBZ-TV on Saturday. Their contributions will be sent to the treasurer of the Committee, Savings Bank, Newton 58.

Presentation Of Marionettes Delight Group

ted when the Marymilenes Marionettes had their premier in Newton last Sunday evening at the Youth Fellowship of the Newton Methodist Church.

Between forty and fifty youngsters were convulsed with happiness and laughter at the antics of a cat, witch, ballerina, giant and a pianist as they performed under the able and competent tutelage of "Marymilen."

The performance was dedicated to the entertainment of children who do not have as much opportunity for entertainment as most others do.

The affair was sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Chagnon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Dino DiCarlo, and Mr. and Mrs. LeBaron.

Stage settings were designed and built by E. H. Harvey and Mrs. John Cinkosky was the chief operator, director and script writer and her masterful handling of the entire production was all that could be professionally desired.

Advisors for Kiwanis of the Newton showings of this production are Mr. Robert Wilcox and Mr. Wilfred Chagnon.

Newton Homecrafters Club Celebrates 20th Anniversary

In 1932 two enterprising Newton citizens, William Hahn and Russell Mead, both wood-working hobbyists, conceived the idea of organizing a club in which all those interested in woodcutting could join and exchange ideas pertaining to their craft. From this idea, the Newton Craftsmen's Club was formed in 1934. Mr. Mead has since passed away and Mr. Hahn, who in the good old days, ran a drugstore on Union Street, Newton Centre has retired and now lives in Westbrook, Maine.

The club has grown through the years and now boasts of a membership of about fifty-five craftsmen, each interested in some form of hobby, at which he can relax during the long winter evenings. The people of Newton have had an opportunity to see the work of the club members at exhibitions which have been held every few years since the foundation of the organization.

While woodworking predominates, some of the members are experts in wood carving, iron work, ceramics and upholstery. The woodworking projects consist of about everything from the finest inlaid Mahogany furniture to complete layouts of kitchen cabinets which cannot be told from professional work. A number of the members have attended several courses at the Evening Trade School to perfect their chosen hobby under the able guidance of Mr. Albert Dulac, who is an honorary member of the club. Mr. James Forbes, Director of the Newton Trade School is also an honorary member.

The club meets twice each month from October to May, on the first and third Mondays. The first meeting of the month which is held at the Newton Highlands Workshop on Columbus Street, includes a guest speaker who gives an interesting and instructive talk or demonstration pertaining to some phase of woodworking. Last month the speaker showed numerous samples of various foreign and domestic woods and described their origin and use.

Future meetings include a motion picture showing the operation of power tools and talks on safety, portable power tools, proper method of sharpening tools and the utilization of plywood in "Do it Yourself Projects."

The second meeting each month consists of visitation to the shop of one of the members, where the other members witness a demonstration on some intricate problem in woodworking. The members give some good natured criticism pertaining to the demonstration project and make suggestions for improving the technique.

The officers of the club for the current 1953-54 season are: Howard Hobbs, President; D. J. Shea, Vice President; Fred Bond, Treasurer and Laurence Jones, Secretary. The members of the Executive Committee are: Louis C. Schreinher, Louis F. Bellings and Warren B. Kennedy.

The wives of the members can truly be considered "Hobby Shop Widows" but they realize that the cellar power tool shop is an ideal place for their husbands to relax after a difficult business day.

Thursday Nights to Be 'Parent Activities Night' at Claflin

Every Thursday night, starting October 28 at 8:00 p.m., will be "Parent Activities Night" at Claflin School. Although still in the organizational stage, present plans call for parent groups to be formed in contract bridge, art, music, child study, curriculum study, drama, men's sports, women's sports, photography, dancing, gardening, and in any other area in which there is sufficient interest. A child study group which was started last year will continue to meet on Tuesday mornings, the first meeting having been scheduled for October 26 at 10:00 a.m., but another section may also be formed for the evenings.

The new activities night

should be especially valuable as a means for people to meet in a friendly, social atmosphere. Participation will not be limited to parents of Claflin school children but will be open to members of the community. Sponsored by the PTA, the program is under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Gilligan. Helping to lay the groundwork are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cotty, Mr. Benjamin Klein, Mrs. William A. Krebs, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Zibbell, Mr. Milton Shafrazi, Mr. Joseph Hallett, Mrs. William Simons, Mrs. William Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Silver, Mrs. Warren Abrams, Mrs. George Hicks, Mrs. James Laurits.

Nv. Woman's Club 'Bank Day' Tues.

Tuesday will be "Bank Day" at the Newtonville Woman's Club. The speaker, courtesy of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, is James A. Powers who, for more than 20 years, has been analyzing world affairs in his editorial column of the Boston Globe. Mr. Powers' subject will be "America and World Affairs."

Mrs. Chester L. Babcock Jr. will entertain with soprano solos. She has been a soloist with the Harvard-Radcliffe Chorus and in many churches. Mrs. Walter Gorenflo, Twelfth District director of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Club, will be guest of honor.

The business meeting will be at 2:15 p.m., followed by the program and a tea, at which Mr. Paul de Napoli will be hostess. Pourers will be Mrs. Chester L. Babcock, Mrs. Edward Hendrick and Mrs. John R. Rees. There will be a collection for the Veterans' Christmas Gifts.

On Tuesday, November 9, there will be a "Get-Acquainted Card Party" at the Club House, with dessert at 1 p.m.

Membership Tea By Hancock ORT

A Membership Tea at the home of Mrs. Howard Richard, 71 Commonwealth Avenue, Newton, will be given Monday by the Hancock Chapter of Women's American ORT (Organization for Rehabilitation Through Training).

Membership chairman Mrs. Summer Neitlich of 59 Marlborough Drive, Newton, will welcome the guests and introduce the

Taxes on Liquor Aids Economy of Commonwealth

Off-year elections carry the danger of a poor turn-out at the polls, and apathy among citizens even on questions important to their own welfare. This year public failure by Massachusetts voters to express their views on the legally controlled sale of alcoholic beverages could result in a return to Prohibition in several localities. Criminologists and public authorities generally agree that the seeds of America's present crime problems were planted in the corruption which developed during the era of Prohibition. A return to Prohibition now would foster the same evils.

Prohibition, likewise, would bring unemployment to thousands of Massachusetts workers who now make their living through the manufacture, distribution, and sale of alcoholic beverages and related products. Moreover, the loss of tax revenues paid to community and state by the alcoholic beverage industry would injure the economy of the Commonwealth. It would involve higher personal income taxes, and the dislocation of present welfare benefit programs now serving needy and elderly citizens.

It is a disturbing fact that nearly half a million Massachusetts voters in recent elections neglected to vote one way or the other on the alcoholic beverage question. No citizen who fails to register his opinion on this fundamental problem in 1954 will have a right to complain if his own indifference helps once more to inflict the abuses of Prohibition upon his community.

Hospital Aid Association

Regarded as "successful beyond expectations," the series of bridge and whilst parties conducted simultaneously in homes throughout Newton and Wellesley recently by the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association netted a profit of $3500.

The proceeds will be used to finance vital new equipment for the hospital's operating room.

In addition to the profit on the sale of tickets, many donations were also received.

Mrs. George Prather and Mrs. Herbert Dunphy, co-chairmen, have issued a statement thanking the various committee chairmen, the village chairmen and the hostesses for their co-operation and efforts.

A final tabulation showed that more than 400 tables were in play during the day-long event.

Bridge, whilst and other card games featured the parties.

Approximately 1800 box lunches were prepared and packaged by the committee chairmen and village chairmen, who met for this purpose at the Waban Neighborhood Club on the morning of the day the parties were held.

Response to the small informal card parties was generally warm. Hostesses reported that the ladies were delighted with the quiet home atmosphere afforded each party, as opposed to a noisy gathering which might have resulted from having many tables at play in one large room.

At the invitation of the Newton Centre Women's Club, the Newton Art Association will hold its fourth Fall art exhibit in their art gallery in Newton Centre from November 5 to 19. Newton-Waltham Clash Shifted
To November 11

One of the two "objective" games on Newton High's 1954 football schedule, against traditional cross-town rival Waltham, has been changed to November 11, newly-named Veterans Day, instead of the following Saturday.

The change to what used to be Armistice Day was voted by the Waltham School Committee so the game would not conflict with the Boston University-Boston College clash scheduled for November 13. The starting time was also moved up until 1:30 p.m., and it will be played at the Waltham High Athletic Field.

Another sizzling setto involving two top notch girl wrestlers headlines this week's Burns-Kerr Legion Post card.

Tomorrow (Saturday) night, in the main event at the West Newton Armory, Moolah, queen of matdom's distaff junior heavies, will match socks and locks with one of the mat game's most unusual personalites.

Moolah's foe will be a lean and colorful lass from the Ozarks named Daisy Mae ... no, Little Abner won't be in her corner.

This deviously slender bundle of dynamite is not only a talented and explosive grappler but also claims to be the nation's bubble blowing champion. Sometimes she throws pieces of gum to the customers as she enters the ring.

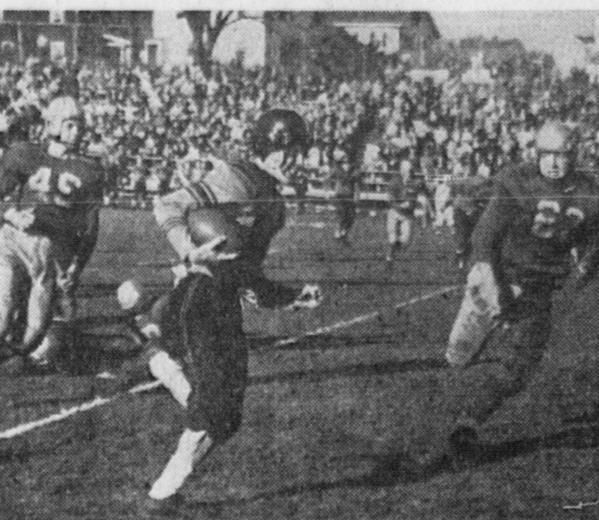

Moolah, mean but magnificent, is known to look with contempt on gum chewers. She prefers nails and razor blades herself. In her local debut last Friday, she had to go all out to gain a split-fall decision over Candy Carroll, a battling Texan whose looks were slightly superior to her locks.

Tomorrow (Saturday) night's slate is also highlighted by the presence of a solid local favorite, Manuel Zuma, the barefoot boy from the Pampas.

The gay senor from down Argentine way will tackle Ben Lewin, who upset Gypsy Joe Gonzales as a last-minute substitute for the ailing Rollie Meeker last Friday. So impressive was Lewin that promoter Fred Bruno has decided to pit him against one of the most talented torso twisters ever to display his wares locally.

In the other match, Meeker, whose performances belie his name, will clash with Chief Blue Eagle, heap big Indian from Oklahoma. Meeker has appeared in bouts televised from Chicago. The first contest will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Newton Sports

ALL THE WAY!—Barry Gilvar, substitute Newton halfback, shows his heels to Arlington defenders on a 25-yard scamper around right end for Newton's fourth touchdown as the Tigers leaped back on the victory trail with a 27-0 win. Brian McNeely (49) has already been passed by the speedy Gilvar, while Tom McNeely (63) lumbered over too late to halt the grimacing Tiger. Note the blocking which has left two Arlington players flat in Gilvar's wake. (Photo by Gordon R. Wilk)

Bouncing back from their disappointing tie with Watertown, the Newton High gridsters annihilated Arlington 27-0 last Saturday afternoon in the easiest game of the season for the Orange and Black. A fumble-fingered exhibition by the home team enabled Newton to rack up three quick scores in as pitiful a third quarter as has been seen in many a moon among Class A squads. . . . The joy of victory turned to the taste of vinegar when quarterback Chuck Fogarty, improving every game and an apparent cinch for all-scholastic honors, was lugged off the field on a stretcher after being "given the business" on a handoff. . . . Fogarty, who handled the ball like a magician palming a deck of cards, gave a tremendous offensive display up to his injury. He turned out to have a pulled ligament, and should be back in harness at this afternoon's (Thursday) practice. Chuck should be able to continue his dazzling performance against Medford at Dickinson Field Saturday. . . . If anything good can come from an injury, it is that Allan Hackel got a chance to work out as a substitute quarterback in game competition. Hackel also displayed some nifty ball-handling and completed a 14-yard forward. . . . The Orange and Black left the effects of the Watertown 13-13 tie completely behind, flashing a torrid running attack which rolled up 142 yards. Arlington picked up 49 on the ground and 38 in the air,

. . . This was an easy win for the Purple and Gold as St. Clement's never got any deeper than Our Lady's 30-yard line. Staying completely on the ground, Our Lady's picked up a staggering 321 yards afoot. Only 11 penalties which cost the Purple 115 yards kept the score within reason. . . . Time also held Our Lady's outside the end zone. Both the first half and the game ended with Our Lady's a mere one yard from paydirt. . . . The Newton line dominat-mostly in the late stages of the game as Coach Bud Hawkes gave his second and third stringers a chance to meet the enemy first-hand.

Taking the opening kickoff, the Tigers steadily ground out 59 yards to hop off to a 7-0 lead. Fogarty completed passes for 10 and then 14 yards to set up the touchdown. . . . From the 3-yard marker, Lucier swept his right end, skipped out of the hands of one tackler and scored standing up. Mike Vassalotti, who now looks like Mr. Automatic on the points after, booted the seventh point.

Fogarty unlimbered his arm late in the second period to spark another Orange and Black drive. A 19-yard pass to Guy Vassalotti to the 20, and driving fullback Bobby Lee smashed for seven yards, followed by Lucier's five-yarder. But here Lee, a standout runner all afternoon, lost control of the ball and Arlington took over. . . . Arlington should never have come out for the second half. The home team got off a pass that clicked for 24 yards, but the play ended with a fumble. Lucier promptly picked up five, Lee gained 17, and Lucier rounded right end for 26 and another six points. . . . On the ensuing kickoff, Arlington fumbled again. The Red and Gray held here for a change, so Mike Vassalotti tried a fourth-down field goal from 24 yards out. The Arlington safetyman watched casually as the dribbled toward the goal line. At the two, he seemed to realize that he could run with it. When he tried to pick it up, Newton's right side smashed down upon him and the ball skipped free into the end zone. Guy Vassalotti—Mike's cousin—gathered it in for Newton's third touchdown, and Mike booted number three for the afternoon. . . . When Newton kicked off this time, Arlington again debated about picking up the ball. The first man who touched it was blasted away from the pigskin by kicker Don Trimble, and the Tigers had possession again. Barry Gilvar came into the backfield for Lucier, and sped like Native Dancer around right end on the same play that Lucier had scored. Gilvar picked up 24 yards and Newton 27-0. . . . The passback from center was fumbled, depriving Mike Vassalotti of his shot at number four.

At this point, Coach Hawkes took pity on Arlington and let the other boys play for a while. Newton penetrated to the five with the subs, but a fourth-down pass intercepted to halt that drive. . . . It was good to see the Newton line charging once again like champions, after the job Watertown did on them the week before. The return of Capt. Don Brigham and Dan Paglia did a lot to bolster the frontier, and Fogarty this week had perfect protection when he faded to pass.

Despite what is probably a record in yards lost through penalties for the year, Our Lady's tallied in the first and fourth quarters to defeat St. Clement's 14-0 Sunday at Allison Park, Newton. Fred Dubois gathered both touchdowns from his fullback slot as the Newton team picked up its third win of the season against two defeats. . . . This was an easy win for the Purple and Gold as St. Clement's never got any deeper than Our Lady's 30-yard line. Staying completely on the ground, Our Lady's picked up a staggering 321 yards afoot. Only 11 penalties which cost the Purple 115 yards kept the score within reason. . . . Time also held Our Lady's outside the end zone. Both the first half and the game ended with Our Lady's a mere one yard from paydirt. . . . The Newton line dominated the fray, holding St. Clement's offense to 54 yards. The visitors unleashed 10 passes and completed only one — net gain one yard. . . . Dubois scored his two TD's on bursts straight up the middle, bowling over would-be tacklers like 10-pins. His first-period dash covered 28 yards, while the fourth-quarter scamper went for 35 yards. . . . Sharing honors with Dubois was halfback George Duffy, who ground out 120 yards, 13 more than Dubois. This one-two punch of Our Lady's is showing better with every game, giving the parochial school a good chance of placing at least one man on the post-season "all" teams. . . . Good news for the future is that Dubois is only a junior.

Holtz Says His Opponent Failed To Support Ike

from Brookline, Newton, Allston, Back Bay, and Boston today charged his opponent, Laurence Curtis, with being neither with the President nor with the people in his votes in Congress.

"The curious fact of my opponent's campaign," said Holtz, former legislator and Asst. U. S. Attorney, "is that while engaged in coat-tail campaigning, the fact is that he reluctantly took Mr. Eisenhower as second choice."

"On the matter of national defense, he voted to cut military aid below the level requested by the President and his Chief of Staff."

"In our fight for the minds of men against Communism, he voted against the President's request for funds for 'the Voice of America.'

"He voted against extending the reciprocal trade treaty as requested by the President—in betrayal of 'trade not aid.'

"He voted against public housing and minimum unemployment insurance standards—and this in spite of the recommendation of all New England Governors. The standards would have leveled the competition between the North and South and kept many of our industries from going South with the loss of thousands of jobs."

"He voted against the President's request for aid to hospitals."

"Thus we see my opponent voted against the President when he was right and when the President received Democratic support in his program."

"And when the Administration was wrong—and the Democrats voted against it, my opponent voted with the Administration."

He voted for the grand give-away of tideland oils that cost the State of Massachusetts $225,000,000 in funds for its educational institutions.

"He voted for the grand give-away of atomic energy patents and for the grand give-away of timber rights in our national forests, Holtz said.

"He voted for the extraordinary tax bill that gave 90 percent of the tax cuts to 7 percent of the people—those who could afford to pay the tax. All this while refusing to give a $100 exemption (decrease) for the benefit of the average citizen."

"Thus Laurence Curtis, my opponent, was neither with the President nor with the people."

AT DIENER MOTORS—Now on display at Diener Motors, 838 Moody street, Waltham, is the sparkling 1955 Studebaker. Typical of the models is this hard-top convertible, which shows how the long, low, distinctive styling that has proved so popular has been accentuated in the new models. A. A. Diener, owner of the firm, or sales personnel Charles Poirier and James Pacheco, who all have had long years of experience with Studebaker, will be glad to demonstrate the lower-priced 1955 line. The Champion now is as low as $1750, while Commander prices begin at $1950. Complete service facilities are available at the new Diener Motors building, which was completed only in February. For those unable to bring their cars in, service manager Austin Richards will arrange for pickup and delivery. The firm also has its own body and paint shop.

The one-story clusters of rooms will be placed across from the present Rice School building on the Newton Centre Playground. This land, formerly Metropolitan District Commission property, was bought by the city expressly for playground use, and accordingly a bill would have to be passed by the state legislature allowing the change of use.

State aid for school construction may reduce the cost from $500,000 to $400,000, but Mayor Whitmore estimated an even larger percentage might be paid by Massachusetts on the grounds that this was a "consolidated" school, combining both Mason and Rice. In that event, perhaps 35 and 65 percent of the cost might be borne by the state.

However, by redistricting towards the Bowen School, probable two classrooms can be diverted from the new Mason to the Bowen, thus the new Mason would need two kindergartens and 17 classrooms.

The School Committee advises that a new one-story Mason School can be built for approximately $500,000 for the structure itself, adopting in general the type of construction used in the new Franklin School addition. This cost, financed by the usual 20-year bonds, with interest at the rate of 1 1/4 percent, would add an average of 10 cents per thousand dollars of assessed value to the tax rate. State assistance will reduce this amount by 20 percent.

However, this contemplated economical construction of the new Mason School will require additional land adjacent to the present site to accommodate a one story school. For this purpose it is necessary that a bill be filed prior to Dec. 1954 in order that the Metropolitan District Commission be authorized to convey such additional land to the City of Newton for this purpose.

The Mason-Rice Parent-Teachers Association made a strong plea for action last winter for action by the city. At that time, Mayor Whitmore told the protest meeting that no immediate replacement was being considered, but suggested the P.T.A. try to find a buyer for the twin properties to advance the possibilities of a new school.

Need for the school, as listed in School Committee records, follow:

I'm old enough to know that 5, 10 or 15 years pass in a jiffy.

If a fellow decided to save $50 a month, he'd have $9,000 in a whiff — only 15 years. Look how savings grow:

$10.00 Month	$1200	$1800
$25.00 Month	$3000	$4500
$50.00 Month	$6000	$9000

It will be even more than that, if you'll put your savings in Watertown Federal Savings and let the dividends help.

Flingold, was named to the chairmanship by Mrs. Charles Rosen, President of the Aid to Muscular Dystrophy Research Group.

He is a past president of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce, a past vice-president of the P.T.A. Council for the Newton Schools, and has for many years assisted in Salvation Army drives and several community charities.

In assuming the chairmanship here in Newton, Moore said, "I hope Newton follows its tradition of generosity and contributes its share and maybe more to the goal set by the Massachusetts Aid to Muscular Dystrophy Research chapter."

All money collected goes to research at Boston's world-renowned Children's Medical Center. It is estimated the program costs $75,000 annually.

Moore pointed out the Massachusetts group is "proud to be an active participant with its parent organization, The National Foundation for Muscular Dystrophy, Inc."

The Foundation supports a comprehensive program of research into, neurology, pathology, orthopedics and basic chemistry at the Children's Medical Center.

The second act of a two-day hearing on the proposed shift of an Auburndale cement plant to a six-acre lot just across the Lower Falls line on Grove street, was staged out before an overflow crowd of objecting residents last week in Newton City Hall.

After some 150 had protested the company's plan to erect a garage at the new site at a hearing before the aldermen Monday, October 18, nearly 300 stormed into the aldermanic chambers Wednesday night, October 20, to fight a zone change from residential to manufacturing.

Wednesday's hearing was conducted before the aldermen's claims and rules committee, which is scheduled to vote on the zone change and then report its decision at Monday's meeting of the full board.

The city's regulations provide that a zoning change must have three-quarters vote in favor to pass the aldermen when more than 20 per cent of the neighbors within 300 feet of the land involved lodge protests. A large turnout at the second hearing probably resulted in enough people appearing, despite the fact that much of the surrounding land is owned by the Boston and Albany Railroad and S. S. Pierce.

A petition bearing 1000 signatures was offered by those opposing the zone change Wednesday, while the company — Riverside Sand and Gravel — entered another petition with 600 names in favor. A hand count showed 127 pieces of property opposed and 34 in favor.

Norman T. Byrne, the firm's attorney, repeated his earlier explanation of the need for the move. The new location for the plant, at 300 Grove street, borders 428 feet along Grove street. The six-acre tract of land is currently Residence C zone, and is bordered across the street by a Residence A district.

The hostess will be Mrs. Charles R. Shiple, 7 Vista avenue, Auburndale, and there will be a coffee hour at 1:30. All garden club members and their guests are cordially invited.

The company's present site is owned by S. S. Pierce, said Byrne, but Riverside Sand and Gravel does not expect it will be allowed to continue there too long after its lease expires in the spring. The cement "batching" plant, in which cement is combined with other materials and then dumped in transit mixing trucks, would be built at 300 Grove street along with a garage for the company's trucks.

Only two-thirds of the new site would have the zone changed, according to the company's petition. The remainder of the property would be kept residential to provide a "buffer zone" protecting the abutting homes. Should the petition not be granted, Byrne stated, the company would probably be forced to locate outside the city, losing more tax benefits than could be gained from turning the land over to home construction.

The company also asked to have its sand and gravel property, located at the corner of Route 128 and Grove street, rezoned to manufacturing. Although the land is a residential zone, the company is allowed to continue its operations there since it was there before the zoning ordinances came into existence.

Residents raised strong objections to the new plant location, claiming the presence of a cement plant would injure their property. School Committee-man Guernsey Camp of 215 Grove street, Auburndale, termed the plant "a damaging act to the value of our property."

"It's disgusting that we have to put so much value on our tax money that we put manufacturers into residential sections," protested Mrs. Marguerite Farnsworth of 55 Pine Grove, avenue, Newton Lower Falls.

Continuing her protest, Mrs. Farnsworth charged that "S. S. Pierce was put over on us." She referred to a large tract of land on Grove street rezoned to allow construction of a large S. S. Pierce warehouse. Part of this land is the present location of Riverside's cement plant. "We are more interested in our homes and the safety of our children," she said.

A number of other Auburndale and Lower Falls residents echoed similar objections.

Speaking in favor of the move, John J. Glynn of 69 Cherry street, West Newton, placed a group of local contractors behind the petition. There is no other nearby cement manufacturer, he emphasized, and many times the company has supplied sand to the city at a moment's notice to make slippery roads safe before the morning rush began.

Seven Courses are Offered In Adult Jewish Studies Progr

Beginning Wednesday evening, November 3, and continuing for a period of six successive Wednesday evenings, Temple Emanuel of Newton will offer seven courses in its School of Adult Jewish Studies program.

Dr. Eric I. Lowenthal, Rabbi of the Congregation Agudas Achim, Leominster, Massachusetts who has been a member of the Faculty of the School for several years, will deliver a series of lectures on the theme, "The Psalms—Mirror of Jewish Life and Thought," at 8 p.m. This course is especially appropriate because the Psalms reflect the many moods, doubts and aspirations of humankind. The Life of the Spirit, as manifested through the Book of Psalms, will be the concern of these lectures.

At the same hour, "Basic Judaism for Modern Jewish Parents," a course intended to provide the parents of Bar and Bas Mitzvah boys and girls, as well as Confirmants, with basic skills, information and assistance in making their homes and lives more significant, will be presented by three lecturers, Dr. Albert I. Gordon, Rabbi; Cantor Gabriel Hochberg; and Dr. Martin Goldstein.

"The Ethics of Judaism" will be the subject of Dr. Albert I. Gordon's course which will be offered from 9 to 10 p.m. This course will seek to identify the ideas, ethical and moral, that have influenced the Jewish people and have been characteristic of Judaism through the Ages.

Four Hebrew courses for beginner, intermediate and advanced students, entitled "Learning to Speak Hebrew" will be offered. Two classes on Intermediate Hebrew will be given at 8:00 p.m., with Mr. Carl Cohen and Mrs. Leonard Safon as instructors. At 9:00 p.m., Beginner's Hebrew, taught by Cantor Gabriel Hochberg, and Advanced Hebrew, taught by Dr. Martin Goldstein, will be offered.

Classes will meet in the Temple Building. A small registration fee will be charged. The School of Jewish Studies is open to all persons—registration will take place on Wednesday evening, November 3rd, at 7:00 p.m., just prior to the first classes, or by calling the Temple office.

The Adult Jewish Education Committee of the Temple is headed by Mr. Oscar Tennenbaum, chairman, and includes the following members: Mr. Harry J. Greenblatt, vice-chairman; Mrs. Meyer Armet, Mrs. Benjamin Blocker, Mr. Aaron J. Bronstein; Mrs. Morris Danovitch, Mr. Morris Davidson, Mrs. Ernest Dietz, Mr. Sol Finkelstein, Mrs. Jay Gilfus, Mr. Barnet Grossman, Mr. Kivie Kaplan, Mrs. Leonard L. Matthews, Judge David A. Rose, Mrs. Jack Ruderman and Mr. Bernard G. Steinberg.

Mrs. Wolf is very active in community affairs. She is past president and member of Anos Chapter of B'nai B'rith, and is at present serving her second term as District Vocational Service Chairman for the B'nai B'rith Women's District Grand Lodge No. 1. These scholarships are administered by the Jewish Vocational Service of Greater Boston, through its executive director and the B'nai B'rith and J.V.S. Group Vocational Guidance Program.

It is anticipated that both in this area and in other parts of the country similar scholarships will be set up in the names of the donors. For further information about the Minna L. Wolf Scholarships and to make application, contact the Jewish Vocational Service of Greater Boston at 72 Franklin street, Boston 10.

Education Week To Be Observed

A special feature of American Education Week will be a "Try-It-Yourself Party" to be held at the Newton High School Gymnasium Tuesday evening, November 9, from 7:00 to 9:45.

Parents and friends are invited to participate in creative art activities including finger painting, ceramics, stenciling, block printing, mobiles and packaging.

Students representing all of the Newton schools will assist the adults in experimentation with varied materials and techniques. This evening of fun will be sponsored by the Art Department of the Newton Public Schools under the direction of Miss F. Eleanor Elliott.

Oil paintings by Marjorie Scranton of 84 Hancock avenue, Newton Centre, will be on view at the Copley Society Gallery, 561 Boylston street, Boston from November 8 to 20.

This is Mrs. Scranton's first "one-man" show and includes portraits, outdoor scenes and still-life subjects.

This Newton artist started working in oils only about ten years ago in California, when her first teacher was the then famous painter of desert scenes, Edwin Dawes.

Mr. Alfred Williams of the Massachusetts Forest and Park Association will tell what is being done in this important work in our State and how residents may benefit from the opportunities offered through recreation and nature interests. The preservation of natural beauty spots to be enjoyed now and as a heritage to future generations is all part of the work of this State department.

This meeting will be open to guests of the members of the club and will start at 10:15 a.m.

Reformation Day Service Sunday

The second union Reformation Day Service will be held in Auburndale this Sunday, at half past seven in the evening.

The host church will be Centenary Methodist, the Rev. Sidney Adams, pastor. Uniting in the service will be the Church of the Messiah, with their pastor, Rev. Frederick Rapp, and the Auburndale Congregational Church with their pastor, the Rev. Chauncey Blossom.

The United Choir will be composed of the adult choirs of the participating churches with Mrs. Franklin E. Leland as the host director.

The youth groups of the three churches will also attend but will assemble in the parish hall earlier, at quarter to seven, for their own business meeting and social program under the leadership of the Rev. Charles Gross.

The speaker will be Dr. Robert F. Oxnam, a Newton resident who is a Vice President of Boston University. Dr. Oxnam will speak on "The Layman Looks at the Church." He has an unusual background, having travelled widely over most of the civilized world and intensively in many countries including Alaska, Latin America, the British Isles, the Soviet Union, and much of the continent. The public is cordially invited.

Sunday through Tuesday, a Cinemascope production in technicolor, "Garden of Evil" with Susan Hayward and Gary Cooper will be shown, along with "Vicki," starring Jeanne Crain and Jean Peters.

Shows are continuous from 7 p.m., except on Sunday, when the show begins at 6:30 p.m.

Marilyn Monroe At V.F.W. Drive-In

Popular film personalities Marilyn Monroe and Barbara Stanwyck appear in "Clash by Night" to be shown at the V.F.W. Parkway Drive-In Theatre, now playing through Saturday. On the same program will be "Macao," with Jane Russell and Robert Mitchum.

Sunday through Tuesday, a Cinemascope production in technicolor, "Garden of Evil" with Susan Hayward and Gary Cooper will be shown, along with "Vicki," starring Jeanne Crain and Jean Peters.

Shows are continuous from 7 p.m., except on Sunday, when the show begins at 6:30 p.m.

Announce Award Of Scholarship By Waban Woman

Minna L. Wolf of Waban, founder of the Minna L. Wolf Scholarships, announces the selection of the first recipient of this special award. She is Miss. Gwendolyn Belle of St. Louis, Mo., who is a sophomore at Boston University College of Music, and aspires to be a concert and opera singer.

The purpose of these scholarships is to provide free room and board facilities for worthy boys and girls attending colleges, technical and professional schools in the Greater Boston area. Mrs. Wolf is opening her home to youngsters who attend some local school, and who could not do so without this type of help.

The unique aspect of this award is that it specifically indicates that the recipients will not be required to perform any household or work duties, other than to keep their own room neat and clean, and the award will be made regardless of race, color or creed of the recipient.

Mrs. Wolf is very active in community affairs. She is past president and member of Anos Chapter of B'nai B'rith, and is at present serving her second term as District Vocational Service Chairman for the B'nai B'rith Women's District Grand Lodge No. 1. These scholarships are administered by the Jewish Vocational Service of Greater Boston, through its executive director and the B'nai B'rith and J.V.S. Group Vocational Guidance Program.

Newton Red Cross Receives Certificate of Recognition

A Voluntary Service Award Ceremony was held at the West Roxbury Veterans Administration Hospital on Wednesday evening, October 20. Certificates were presented to volunteers from all organizations and chapters who have faithfully participated in service to the patients and staff at the Hospital. The Newton Chapter received a Certificate of Recognition from Dr. R. R. Gasser, Manager of the Hospital, in acknowledgment of all the quiet, behind-the-scenes services of those volunteers whose work has been "unsung."

Mrs. John Gray, V.A. Volunteer Service Red Cross Representative, and Mrs. Davidson, Alternate V.A. Volunteer Service Representative, received the certificates on behalf of the American Red Cross.

Dr. Gasser also presented Certificates of Devotion to Volunteer Duty to those who have given a thousand hours or more of service to the hospital. Mrs. Harry Falkson, Mrs. George Buitta, and Mrs. Hugh Munro, of the Newton Chapter, were among those honored.

For five hundred or more hours of service, Certificates of Outstanding Service were awarded to Mrs. Elmer Pilsbury and Miss Mary Baker of the Arts and Skills Service and to Mrs. Jane Brady, Mrs. Dorothy Cleary, Mrs. Anne Cohen, and Mrs. Rosalie Mover, Gray Ladies, Newton Chapter. Mr. John V. Sheehan, Assistant Manager of the Hospital, made the presentations.

Dr. Herbert Talbot, Chief Paraplegic Services, presented Certificates of Merit to Mrs. Mildred Simms and Mrs. William Waterfall, Gray Ladies, Newton Chapter, for three hundred or more hours of service.

Miss Sophie Kimber, Nursing Service, made the presentation of the Certificates of Appreciation for one hundred or more hours to Miss Nancy Boggs, Mrs. Evelyn Cohen, Mrs. Gertrude Feldstein, Mrs. Esther Planck, Miss Marjorie Keith, Miss Cynthia Leach, Mrs. N. B. Paquet, Mrs. Rose Provizer, Mrs. May Weinbaum and Mrs. Jean Whiting, Gray Ladies.

The Newton Chapter has given the highest number of volunteer service hours, and had the second highest number of volunteers serving the Hospital.

Mrs. Robert W. Moore, Jr., is Chairman of Service Groups. Vice-Chairmen are Mrs. D. Morey Lodge, Mrs. Fred G. Stritzinger and Mrs. Philip K. Brown, who is also the Vice-Chairman of the Parkway Council. Mrs. Harry Falkson is Chairman of the Gray Ladies of the Newton Chapter serving at West Roxbury V.A. Hospital.

Lecture to Be Presented at Local Church

How spiritual understanding of God is applicable to health, business, and other problems of daily life will be the topic of a free lecture on Christian Science to be given here Thursday, November 11, at 8:00 p.m., by George Channing of San Francisco, California.

Mr. Channing, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak in the church auditorium, 391 Walnut street, Newtonville, under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton. His subject will be "Christian Science: Its Constructive Mission." The lecture is open to the public.

Mr. Channing, after serving in World War I, was for ten years engaged in newspaper work which included two years as City Editor of the Seattle Star. He then entered the public practice of Christian Science. In 1934 he was made a teacher of Christian Science, and four years later he was appointed to membership on the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

In 1940 he was called to Boston to serve as First Reader of The Mother Church. He also has served as Trustee of The Christian Science Publishing Society, Editor of the Christian Science Periodicals, Manager of Committees on Publication, and in 1953 he was again appointed to membership on the Board of Lectureship.

Murphy Calls for Repeal of 'Discriminatory' Auto Surtax

Robert F. Murphy, Democratic nominee for governor, pledged last night to fight for repeal of the "discriminatory" 60 per cent surtax on young men and women drivers under 25.

"As governor," he told an enthusiastic audience, "I will ask for its repeal because it is arbitrary and unfair. I have recommended that we establish an official state rating bureau to supervise private insurance company rates so they will be fair to all car owners and drivers of all ages."

Murphy said it was "this type of discriminatory treatment" that was criticised last week by Ralph Thomas, president of the American Automobile Association. He quoted Thomas as saying he was "tired of seeing youth made a whipping boy."

Directing his remarks to the young people of the state, Murphy said that "our younger citizens are well up on the list of those whom the administration of Gov. Herter has forgotten."

"We had an automobile insurance law passed last year,

The Seventh Grade Cabinet

The Cabinet of the 7th grade is made up of students who discuss and try to solve 7th grade problems. It consists of two representatives, a regular and an alternate from each division of the 7th grade. Miss McLaughlin and Mrs. Randell are the Cabinet sponsors. They work with the Cabinet and guide its members.

The project that the Cabinet is working on now is the election of 7th grade officers. A president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer will be elected.

At the time this article is being written the students who wish to run are trying to get at least twenty signatures on their nomination papers.

The week which follows will be Campaign Week, when the candidates campaign in many ways, the most common being posters.

On voting day, November 4th, there will be a rally in the assembly hall at which the candidates will give their speeches. Following this, the voting will take place.

Good luck to the Cabinet for a successful year.

By Bobby Chitell.

The Music Program

Weeks Jr. High School is very fortunate in having Mr. Robert (Bob) Bachelder teaching music this year. He has traveled all over the New England states, and has played with Kitty Kallen, Les Paul and Mary Ford, Louis Armstrong, Joni James, Tony Bennett, The Four Aces, The Four Lads and many other famous people in the music profession.

So far he has two glee clubs: a boys' glee club with twenty boys, and a 9th grade girls' glee club with fifty girls. Mr. Bachelder plans to have the glee clubs sing with the band. The clubs will sing at the Christmas program and at other special assemblies. Mr. Bachelder also has a Music Appreciation club.

We hope to have Mr. Bachelder in our school for a long time.

Honored At 25th Anniversary Party Saturday

Over 50 friends and relatives from 10 surrounding communities honored Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Butler of 326 Austin street, West Newton, Saturday evening (October 23) in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler, who were married September 28, 1929 in Waltham by the late Rev. Alan L. Blacklock, have recently returned from an anniversary trip through the New England States, New York and Canada.

Harry Haines, best man at the wedding, delivered the toast after which Louise Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Butler, presented her mother with a white orchid corsage and a table array of red roses and white chrysanthemums.

A three-tier anniversary cake made by Mrs. Harry Haines of Hyde Park, matron of honor 25 years ago, centered the table on which was displayed a silver and white purse of silver dollars and many other gifts of silver presented to the honored couple.

Square dancing and games were enjoyed during the evening followed by buffet refreshments.

Democrats See Collins as Best Attorney-General

The Democrats of Massachusetts feel that they have an outstanding candidate for Attorney-General in Senator John F. Collins of Jamaica Plain.

A successful practicing attorney for 14 years since his graduation "cum laude" from Suffolk University Law School, Senator Collins has had a meteoric rise through the Massachusetts legislature.

Elected to the Massachusetts House of Representatives in 1946, he served two terms before going to the Senate where he became the first Democratic chairman of the important Metropolitan Affairs Committee. He is presently a member of the powerful Judiciary Committee. He has never been defeated for state office.

His experience in detection of Communist infiltration won him immediate praise when he entered the legislature. His first act was to sponsor legislation establishing a seven man legislative committee to study subversion in the Commonwealth.

Senator Collins was also a pioneer in anti-narcotics legislation. Early in 1951, long before Congressional committees spotlighted the evils and widespread use of narcotics, he led the fight in the Senate for the passage of the Collins-Pressman anti-narcotic bill which was signed by the Governor and became Chapter 575 of the Acts of 1951.

Collins' ability as a lawyer has long been recognized by legislators. In 1953 the 70 odd legislators in the MTA district asked him to represent them in opposing the Herter proposed increase in MTA fares.

The proposed fare increase was turned down twice by the public utilities commission with Senator Collins presenting the case against it. The increase was only made after the Republican administration unable to beat Senator Collins, took the desperate step of barring all legislators, press and public from the third hearing.

Senator John F. Collins lives at 72 Dunster road, Jamaica Plain. Married to the former Mary P. Cunniff, they have four children, Patricia 6 years old, John Jr. 4 years old, Thomas 2 years and Margaret Agnes 6 months.

Audio-Visual Education Talk Heard by Auburndale Parents

Dr. Harold B. Gores, Superintendent of Newton Public Schools, acquainted Auburndale parents with the philosophy of Audio-Visual education, at the first meeting of the season of the Auburndale P.T.A. (Burr, Williams and Murray Road Schools), at Leighton Auditorium, Williams School, Thursday evening. Mr. William L. Winston, Newton's Coordinator of Audio-Visual Education, demonstrated Audio-Visual teaching methods and materials.

Dr. Gores pointed out that the use of visual aids is not peculiar to the schoolhouse. Our whole life has become increasingly visual, as is evidenced, for example, by the popularity of picture magazines like "Life."

Dr. Gores warned that the use of radio and films in teaching may be abused, when used as a substitute for teaching rather than as a supplement to it. A program heard, or a film viewed, without thoughtful preparation of the class by the teacher, would deprive the children of the full usefulness of the radio or film.

The philosophy behind Audio-Visual Education is to appeal to all the senses. Its aim is to create an environment through which the child can respond through all his senses. A schoolroom today is not a sterile place where all learning is auditory; it is full of realities, things to handle and pick up. In addition to film strips, slides and pictures, there are records, tape recordings, maps and globes, models and exhibits. The use of TV as a teaching aid is in its infancy, but may prove to have an important future.

Mr. Winston showed a film entitled "Using The Classroom Film" (Encyclopedia Britannica Film) to demonstrate the care and preparation necessary on the Williams Gym.

the part of a teacher to enable the students to reap the most educational benefit from a film. After previewing the film himself, the teacher urges his students to think about what information they wish to gain from the film, what they wish to look for in particular; they set up their purposes. After the film has been presented there is immediate discussion and evaluation, and plans made for future activities in aspects which may have aroused eagerness for further information, or which may have been overlooked in the film. There is also integration with other subjects.

Mr. Winston also showed slides which demonstrated that Audio-Visual aids are more than films — they include live animals in the classroom, plants, pictures, maps and globes, record players, tape recorders, opaque projectors, microscopes, corridor display cases, models, tack boards, various objects used in arithmetic, classroom programs, pupil-made costumes, puppetry, hobby materials, trips outside, and the human resource elements in the community (visits from policemen, firemen etc.).

Parents were welcomed by P.T.A. President A. G. Asaff. After reviewing a few of the things that have been purchased for the three schools from P.T.A. funds in the past, Mr. Asaff announces that the Executive Board of the P.T.A. has set as a special objective for this year the purchase of whatever film and equipment for Audio-Visual Education funds will allow. A Ways and Means Committee has been formed to help carry out this objective. Mr. Asaff spoke highly of the work of the P.T.A. Trade Shop and urged all to visit it. Refreshments were served in the Williams Gym.

Saltonstall in Call to Workers To Tell Facts

Senator Leverett Saltonstall yesterday urged his followers to "get up, get out, tell the facts, fight the persistent and pernicious efforts of the opposition to distort our records and belittle our achievements. We've got a great record to sell," Senator Saltonstall said. "Let's sell it! We've got outstanding achievements to point to. Let's point to them!"

"Do you know that Massachusetts shipyards have received in the past year more new naval construction than they received during the entire period 1945-52? Do you know that employment in Massachusetts military installations is now twice as high as it was in 1949? Do you know that even in our textile centers unemployment is less than two-thirds what it was before the outbreak of war in Korea? It's a fact. Don't keep it to yourself. Help spread the word!

"These are facts, but they wouldn't be if we hadn't worked to make them so. Less than two weeks before the final reckoning on election day. Let's make them count! Let's use them to see to it that the record which the voters have in mind!"

Modern Treatment in Local Hospitals Closes Sanatorium

The famous Trudeau Sanatorium at Saranac Lake, New York, will close its patient care facilities on December 1. A major contributing factor in this has been the modern effective treatment in local tuberculosis hospitals such as the Middlesex County Sanatorium in Waltham, it was stated today, by Mrs. Ruth Raphael Levens, "the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association has expanded its case finding program and has given over 3,000 free chest X-rays in Newton this year. The Association's rehabilitation projects have helped numerous tuberculous and ex-tuberculous men and women in Newton to return to the city as self-supporting citizens. The health education program has brought tuberculosis and general health information to the people of Newton. By no means have these programs been expanded fully, and next year the Association hopes to increase its effectiveness and scope. Of course all of the programs are dependent upon income received from the annual sale of Christmas Seals which is the sole support of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association."

Barton and Cooke Against "Gerrymander" Plans

Lawrence E. Cooke and John P. Barton, Democratic candidates for the two state representative seats in the District embracing Newton proper, Newtonville, West Newton and Nonantum have been carrying on a unique, small campaign. Barton and Cooke have been working in close cooperation with the other local Democratic candidates in their district. It is expected that Barton and Cooke will have attended well over 30 house parties alone, in their district by election day, November 2. The largest attendances at these meetings and the enthusiasm shown for all the Democratic candidates has led many experienced observers to believe that Cooke and Barton can crack their District for the Democrats for the first time. In recent years this District comprising the North side of Newton (Newtonville, West Newton, Newton proper and Nonantum) has become a close district with the Republican candidates winning by only a relatively small margin.

Among the prominent New-tonians who have held or are to hold house parties where Cooke & Barton will speak are: Mr. and Mrs. George DeBenedetto, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace Greeley, Mr. and Mrs. David Lavien, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. George McGoldrick, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Harris, Dr. and Mrs. Meyer Ritvo, Mr. Michael Flynn, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Panzeri, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Merrin, Mr. and Mrs. John Capello, Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Sadler, etc.

Barton and Cooke have stressed the importance of electing Democratic State representatives to insure that the 10th Congressional District will not be "gerrymandered" by the State Legislature. They are pointing out that "if the Republicans control the State Legislature they will undoubtedly again attempt to change the lines of this District by subtracting the Democratic votes in one or more Boston wards, thus making it impossible for any Democratic candidate to ever carry the 10th Congressional District. We are flatly opposed to this sort of juggling of the people's vote which practically disenfranchises a large segment of the voting population insofar as their Congressional choices are concerned. We are in favor of legislation establishing fair redistricting standards of compactness, contiguity and equality of voting numbers, which would bind both political parties and put an end to 'gerrymanders.' Our opponents are Barton and Cooke pointed out that one of their opponents who is often referred to as an "expert" on election laws was on the Committee which prepared the "gerrymander" plan that so shocked the Commonwealth this year that it had to be discreetly shelved.

Heaney said, "The desperate efforts being made by the Democratic Party to mislead the people of Newton by false charges and persuasive, but empty promises, must and will be rejected. The Republican record under our great Governor Herbert is one of which to be proud. Its continuation is much more to be desired than a return to 'Devernorism' and its policy of spend and tax, and I feel the great majority of voters in Newton are of this opinion."

Do You Know Massachusetts?

FEDERAL TAXES

Importance of the Federal Administration's effort to reduce taxes as an aid to the national economy is emphasized by a recent study by the Mass. Federation of Taxpayers Associations which finds that the true Federal tax load on Massachusetts people in the fiscal year 1952 was approximately $2,400,000,000, not the $1,838,000,000 of Federal taxes officially reported as collected in this state. The full amount is close to half as much as the entire retail sales of the Commonwealth. The Federation's figure includes certain Federal taxes which are paid by consumers in this State, but which are collected from manufacturers in other states, such as $43,000,000 on cigarettes and $26,000,000 on new automotive equipment.

MORE PLANT ADDITIONS

Important industrial plants excess in Massachusetts include: a new Sound Laboratory of General Electric Co. in Pittsfield of 16,672 sq. ft., its 16,800 sq. ft. expansions made or now in process; a new tank shop for transformers and its 15,000 sq. ft. new punch press building; a new 12,000 sq. ft. refinery building as well as another building of about 6,000 sq. ft. in prospect for the Metals & Control Corp. of Attleboro; an additional floor of 12,500 sq. ft. to the building of Petrov Shoe Co. of Haverhill; and a 7,500 sq. ft addition to the Rodney Hunt Machine Co. in Orange.

TAX RATES FOR 1954

The average of local property tax rates of the 361 Massachusetts sets municipalities for 1954 is $50.48 per $1,000, an increase of $1.72 over that in 1953. The average valuation rate, derived by dividing the total of local tax assessments by assessed values, is $54.26, due to the higher rates in larger places. It exceeds that of last year by $1.20. The excise tax rate on automobiles today is $53.37 per $1,000 of assessed value, up $1.51 since 1953. Between 1953 and 1954 the rates in 207 cities and towns increased, those in 74 declined and in 70 places the rates did not change.

SUBDIVISION CONTROL

The Division of Planning of the Massachusetts Dept. of Commerce is distributing, without charge, to all planning boards throughout the state a subdivision control procedure chart which has been prepared to assist them in the administration of the subdivision control law, General Laws, Chapter 41, Sec. 81K to 81GG inclusive. The chart indicates the step-by-step procedure which is required under this law. It has been prepared in two sizes. The large size, approximately 30" x 40", is designed for use at consultations and public hearings by the boards. Additional copies for planning boards or the public may be obtained at a cost of fifty cents (50¢). The small size copies, approximately 11" x 17", can be folded conveniently to a standard notebook size to accompany subdivision rules and regulations. These copies may be purchased at a cost of two dollars ($2.00) per hundred.

Appointed Sales Mgr. of Cemetery In Jamaica Plain

John LeRoy French of 4 Antonelli circle, Newton Centre, has been appointed sales manager of the Forest Hills Cemetery by the trustees of the Jamaica Plain burying ground.

For the past six years, Mr. French has been associated in various sales capacities with the Blue Hill Cemetery in Braintree. He is a veteran of World War II service with the Army Air Corps.

"Because Forest Hills Cemetery, established in 1848, is one of the oldest in New England," said Mr. French, "many people assume it is overcrowded. This is far from the case since many acres of beautifully landscaped grounds remain to be developed."

"Two principal objectives in my new work will be to inform the public of the types of plots available in both traditional and garden-type sections of the cemetery; and to stress that more and more thoughtful people are buying cemetery lots in advance of need to spare their survivors."

Alumnae of St. Elizabeth's College to Meet

Plans have been formulated for an active Greater Boston Alumnae Organization of St. Elizabeth's College, Convent Station, N. J. The first meeting of the fall season will be a luncheon to be held at the Wellesley Country Club, Wellesley, Mass., Thursday, October 28 at 1 p.m.

The meeting is sponsored by George Danforth of Waban. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Edmund Fanning DECatur 2-3130. All alumnae are most cordially invited to attend.

TAKES ONE TO KNOW ONE
If Scotchmen are known for their thriftiness, they should also get credit for some nimble thinking, as this story shows. It's about a wire sent by one of the clan to a relative in another city. The telegram read:

"Bruises hurt erased afford erected analysis hurt too infectious dead." It was Greek to the operator, but Angus readily translated: "Bruce is hurt. He raced a Ford. He wrecked it and Alice is hurt, too. In fact, she's dead."

Iron and steel rank next to the electric utilities as coal's largest customers.

What Shall We Eat . . . Lunch, Don't Munch

"I know I feel better, and I suspect I look better, the days I eat a good lunch," said a smart homemaker. "It's easy to have a good lunch every day if you plan your own lunch when cooking other meals. When getting dinner, I make an extra soup, main dish, or dessert for tomorrow's lunch."

Here are ideas for the home-maker who often lunches alone.

Last night's cooked vegetables are just the thing for combination salads, chowders and creamed soups. Add crackers and cheese or a meat sandwich, plus a tall glass of milk and your main course is complete.

An egg is good eating at lunch, especially if you don't enjoy eggs for breakfast. Hard cook a few when you are getting breakfast, or while you work around the kitchen. Keep them in the refrigerator and they'll be ready for salads, sandwich fillings, or to cream with that dab of peas and serve on toast.

Lunch can be kind to your figure. Try big salad of apples, grapes, bananas and cottage cheese. Add buttered toast and milk, perhaps a hot drink too.

Make your own lunch pretty and tasty. Stuff a large stalk of celery or a pickle with cheese. Chill, slice and serve yourself. Varied butters will help your vegetables; to melted butter add chopped chives, parsley, peanuts or almonds, and pour on your serving of vegetables. Take your pretty tray to the TV and watch your favorite program or catch up on some favorite reading while you eat.

Keep a cup of this soup for your own lunch.

CHICKEN AND CORN CHOWDER

3 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup diced, cooked chicken
2 1/2 cups cubed potatoes
1 cup diced celery
2 cups chicken stock
2 1/2 cups whole kernel corn
(approx. 1 lb. can)
2 cups paprika

1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
In a kettle, melt butter, add onion, cook and stir until onion is light yellow. Add chicken, potatoes, celery, and chicken stock and simmer until vegetables are tender. Add corn, milk and seasoning. Beat thoroughly. Add more salt and pepper if desired. Makes six servings.

AAA Safety Tip: It's just too much for motorists to expect children to behave always in a rational manner, says Robert S. Kretschmer, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Division of the American Automobile Association, especially before the rules of safe walking have been drilled into them by their teachers. With the opening of schools the responsibility for school traffic safety is squarely on the shoulders of every driver. Remember when you approach a school zone. School's open!

Coal-burning steam generating plants of TVA now produce more power than its hydroelectric plants, consuming roughly 7,000,000 tons of bituminous for the fiscal year ended June 30 to account for 51% of all TVA power as compared with 36% the previous year.

Local Students To Attend 5th Annual UN Day

Delegations of students from the Newton High School and the Weeks Junior High, as well as from St. Sebastian's High School, will attend the 5th Annual United Nations Day at the Beaver Country Day School today (Thursday). Miss Jane Rabb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Rabb of 129 Valentine street, West Newton and Miss Marilyn Luthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Luthy of the Highlands section, are members of the student committee who have planned the conference with the assistance of Mr. John Gibson, the new executive director of the World Affairs Council.

The Hon. Christopher H. Phillips, Assistant Secretary of State for U. N. Affairs, is on from Washington to open the day's events at 9:30. After his talk on "The Image of America in the United Nations" the 400 young people will divide into discussion groups led by foreign students in nearby colleges. They will give their impressions of our country before and after their arrival.

The St. Sebastian's boys will be led by the Rev. Joseph A. Beatty, Mr. Carl Petersen and Mr. William Pewers will accompany the Weeks students.
